The Gender Vendors A. L. Jones, 2014-08-26 Among numerous ancient Western tropes about gender and procreation the seed and the soil is arguably the oldest most potent and most invisible in its apparent naturalness The Gender Vendors denaturalizes this proto theory of procreation and deconstructs its contemporary legacy As metaphor for gender and procreation seed and soil constructs the father as the sole generating parent and the mother as nurturing medium like soil for the man's seed child In other words men give life women merely give birth The Gender Vendors examines seed and soil in the context of the psychology of gender honor and chastity codes female genital mutilation the taboo on male femininity femiphobia the fear of being feminine or feminized sexual violence institutionalized abuse the early modern witch hunts the medicalization and criminalization of gender nonconformity and campaigns against women's rights The examination is structured around particular watersheds in the history of seed and soil for example Genesis ancient Greece early Christianity the medieval Church the early modern European witch hunts and the campaigns of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries against women's suffrage and education The neglected story of seed and soil matters to everyone who cares about gender equality and why it is taking so long to achieve

Sacred Terror Douglas E. Cowan, 2008 Sacred Terror examines the religious elements lurking in horror films It answers a simple but profound question When there are so many other scary things around why is religion so often used to tell a scary story In this lucid provocative book Douglas Cowan argues that horror films are opportune vehicles for externalizing the fears that lie inside our religious selves of evil of the flesh of sacred places of a change in the sacred order of the supernatural gone out of control of death dying badly or not remaining dead of fanaticism and of the power and the powerlessness of religion
