Rural Development Policy And Strategic Framework Uganda:

Rural Development Policies and Sustainable Land Use in the Hillside Areas of Honduras: A Quantitative Livelihoods Approach Jansen, Hans G. P., Pender, John L., Damon, Amy, Schipper, Robert A., 2006 Poverty is deep and widespread in Honduras. This is especially the case in the hillside areas home to one third of the country's population, the majority of whom earn their living through agriculture. While both policymakers and donors are under strong pressure to provide adequate interventions, they require guidance on what drives sustainable rural productivity growth, how to prioritize expenditures, and how to formulate effective development strategies. In this report, the authors develop an integrated econometric framework based on the livelihoods concept and demonstrate how it can be used as a policy targeting tool. Using this framework, the authors provide policymakers and stakeholders with empirical information on the livelihood strategies currently employed in the hillside areas of Honduras, existing opportunities for alleviating poverty, and potential priorities for policy and investments.

Nucleated Villages A Strategy for Rural Development in Northern Uganda Silver Jubilee Ocitti, 2011-08-01 Detailed exploration of this methodology and potential for rural development from its ashes after protracted military conflict into a model agricultural economy is the mandate of this book. Drawing from examples from developed economies as well as the emerging and developing regions, this compelling and comprehensive essay on the reorganization of Uganda sets out to demonstrate the importance of nucleation of large agrarian communities as a means of achieving sustainable rural development in present-day Africa. The practical ideas presented by the author make this book an important read for all those committed to rural African development. Working with local government structures, Ocitti plans what will no doubt become the backbone of the much-needed Northern Uganda and indeed Uganda and African's agricultural, economical, social, and cultural reform.

AIDS and Rural Livelihoods Anke Niehof, Gabriel Rugalema, 2019-01-15

AIDS epidemics continue to threaten the livelihoods of millions of people in sub-Saharan Africa. Three decades after the disease was first recognized, the annual death toll from AIDS exceeds that from wars, famine, and floods combined. Yet despite millions of dollars of aid and research, there has previously been little detailed on-the-ground analysis of the multifaceted impacts on rural people. Filling that gap, this book brings together recent evidence of AIDS impacts on rural households, livelihoods, and agricultural practice in sub-Saharan Africa. There is particular emphasis on the role of women in affected households and on the situation of children. The book is unique in presenting micro-level information collected by original empirical research in a range of African countries and showing how well-grounded conclusions on trends, impacts, and local responses can be applied to the design of HIV-responsive policies and programmes. AIDS impacts are more diverse than we previously thought, and local responses more varied, sometimes innovative, sometimes desperate. The book represents a major contribution to our understanding of the impacts of AIDS in the epidemic's heartland and how these can be managed at different levels Development Strategies and Food and Nutrition Security in Africa Heidhues, Franz, Atsain, Achi, Nyangito, Hezron, Padilla, Martine, Gherzi, Gérard, Le Vallée, Jean-Charles, 2004 Bibliography p 41 48 Rural Development Adam Pain, Kjell Hansen, 2019-06-17 Rural Development is a textbook that critically examines economic social and cultural aspects of rural development efforts both in the global north and in the global south By consistently using examples from the north and the south the book highlights similarities of processes as well as differences in contexts The authors knowledge of Afghanistan and Sweden respectively creates a core for the discussions which are complemented with a wide range of other empirical examples Rural Development is divided into nine chapters each with a thematic focus ranging from concepts and theories through rural livelihoods and natural resources to discussions on policy and processes of change The book sees rural development as a multi level multi actor and multi faceted subject area that needs multidisciplinary perspectives both to support it and to analyse it Throughout the book examples of rural development interventions are discussed using analytical concepts such as power discourse consequences and context to grasp rural development as practices that are more than what is presented in policy documents The book is written in a way that makes it accessible for undergraduates while at the same time caters for the kind of deeper reading used by master students and Ph D s Every chapter is linked to discussion questions as well as suggested further readings and useful websites Agricultural finance and the youth - Prospects for financial inclusion in Uganda The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations ,2020-03-01 The aim of this paper is to provide a comprehensive assessment of the current state of financial inclusion of the rural youth in Uganda with a specific focus on their engagement in the agricultural sector and the financial services that are available to them to pursue their business ventures in this area The study seeks to illustrate and bring to light the core constraints and opportunities associated with the provision of tailored financial services to young agricultural entrepreneurs in the country while showcasing the essential role that key support actors such as the Government Central Bank international development institutions NGOs foundations and many others can play in fostering the provision and uptake of such services

Frameworks for ICT Policy: Government, Social and Legal Issues Adomi, Esharenana E., 2010-07-31 Frameworks for ICT Policy Government Social and Legal Issues is a reference on ICT policy framework and a guide to those who are involved in ICT policy formulation implementation adoption monitoring evaluation and application This comprehensive publication provides background information for scholars and researchers who are interested in carrying out research on ICT policies and promotes the understanding of policies guiding technology Rwanda Food and Agriculture Policy Monitoring

Review 2020 Tuyishime, C., Pernechele, V., Bizimana, C., Semwaga, O., 2020-12-15 Rwanda s agricultural sector accounts for about 29 percent of GDP and employs about 72 percent of the population that is economically active It is still the dominant source of income for the majority of the poor who live in rural areas and is of significant importance in achieving the national priority objectives of sustainable economic growth food security and poverty alleviation The report provides quantitative evidence on how the Government of Rwanda's policies and expenditure decisions have supported its food and agriculture sector over the past decade. More in particular, it provides information on the extent to which producers of key food crops like rice and wheat and export crops like tea and coffee are being supported or penalized by the policy. Also, it sheds light on the level and composition of public expenditures on food and agriculture and how these have been changing over time. And finally, it assesses the coherence between the Government's agricultural policies and its overall strategic priorities and provides insight into whether these are coherent. Conclusions and recommendations are believed to provide guidance for policy decision making and reforming of policies that constrain productivity growth, the main engine for agriculture transformation and development.

Food loss analysis: causes and solutions - The Republic of Uganda. Beans, maize, and sunflower studies Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, World Food Program, International Fund for Agricultural Development, 2019-06-28. This report illustrates the food loss assessment studies undertaken along the maize, sunflower, and beans supply chains in Uganda in 2015/16 and 2016/17. They aimed to identify the critical loss points in the selected supply chains, the key stages at which food losses occur, why they occur, the extent and impact of food losses, and the economic, social, and environmental implications of the food losses. Furthermore, these studies also evaluated the feasibility of potential interventions to reduce food losses and waste.

Poverty and Shame Elaine Chase, Grace Bantebya-Kyomuhendo, 2015. This book challenges thinking about the nature and causes of poverty in both the Global North and Global South. Together with a companion volume providing more detailed interdisciplinary and theoretical insights into the phenomenon of shame in relation to poverty, the book shows how the pain of poverty is emotional as well as material.

Status of digital agriculture in 47 sub-Saharan African countries Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, International Telecommunication Union, 2022-01-07. Sub-Saharan Africa is uniquely positioned to significantly increase its current agricultural productivity to lift the region's more than 400 million people out of extreme poverty and improve the livelihood of approximately 250 million smallholder farmers and pastoralists in the region. To achieve that substantive digital transformation of the agriculture sector is required through improved infrastructure and increased access to and use of digital technologies for agriculture. To improve the current understanding of sub-Saharan Africa's digital agriculture landscape, the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) and the International Telecommunication Union (ITU) undertook this study in 47 countries. The report is composed of 47 desk-based country case studies against six thematic focal areas, the aim of which is to present a snapshot of the status of digital agriculture in each country. This is followed by highlights of the main findings of the analysis of the country profiles with suggested steps for future action. The findings of the study are presented to FAO and ITU Member States as well as all relevant stakeholders with the purpose of advancing and supporting investment in digital transformation of the agricultural sector in sub-Saharan Africa.
