Heim,2025-08-26 To read the Bible well we need to employ our imagination This volume is the first book length study that takes the Bible s imaginative nature seriously It integrates insights from disciplines like neuroscience metaphor theory and cognition translation theory the affective sciences humor studies and the interdisciplinary study of imagination itself into the academic and theological study of the Bible Knut Heim and Jeffrey Oetter show that reading with imagination is a critical hermeneutic of engagement that fosters close deep lusciously savored and pleasurable readings of the biblical texts Bringing current scholarship from a variety of disciplines to bear on biblical interpretation this book explains that Scripture employs often subtle literary techniques including figurative language emotions and humor that require imagination to recognize and interpret Imagination helps us develop genuinely biblical ideas that get us closer to the meaning intended by the Holy Spirit and the original authors resulting in more accurate interpretations when paired with traditional approaches Even textual aspects that have until now remained odd foreign and confusing can become occasions for imaginative engagement that reveal new meaning and significance A Hermeneutic of Imagination makes the case that reading with imagination is crucial for unlocking the Bible s full potential because it transforms academic study of the Bible into aesthetically inspiring intellectually stimulating emotionally rewarding theologically rich and spiritually transformative adventures of the mind that contribute to problem solving and human flourishing today

The Ends of Rhetoric John B. Bender,David E. Wellbery,1990 The discipline of rhetoric adapted through a wide range of reformulations to the specific requirements of Greek Roman Medieval and Renaissance societies dominated European education and discourse whether public or private for more than two thousand years The end of classical rhetoric s domination was brought about by a combination of social and cultural transformations that occurred between the seventeenth and nineteenth centuries Concurrent with the theory boom of recent decades rhetoric has appeared as a center of discussion in the humanities and social sciences Rhetorical inquiry as it is thought and practiced today occurs in an interdisciplinary matrix that touches on philosophy linguistics communication studies psychoanalysis cognitive science sociology anthropology and political theory Rhetoric is now an area of study without accepted certainties a territory not yet parceled into topical subdivisions a mode of discourse that adheres to no fixed protocols It is a noisy field in the cybernetic sense of the term a fertile ground for creative innovation This volume embodies the interdisciplinary character of rhetoric The essays draw on wide ranging conceptual resources and combine historical theoretical and practical points of view The contributors develop a variety of perspectives on the central concepts of rhetorical theory on the work of some of its major proponents and on the breaks and continuities of its history The spectrum of thematic concern is broad extending from the Greek polis to the multi ethnic city of modern America from Aristotle to poststructuralism from questions of figural language to problems of persuasion and interaction But a common interdisciplinary interest runs through all the essays the effort to rethink rhetoric within the contemporary epistemological situation In this sense the book opens new possibilities for research within the human sciences

Trauma in 20th Century Multicultural American Poetry Jamie D. Barker,2020-02-06 In Trauma in 20th Century Multicultural American Poetry Jamie D Barker argues that by using literary trauma theory in conjunction with a reader response approach readers can gain a better understanding of how poetry can work towards building community and encouraging empowerment over oppression by establishing collectives of people who may share similar stories and experiences connected to trauma Rather than demonstrating how the poetry may fail or trying to establish what traumatic events the speaker or poet in some studies may have encountered and the significance thereof this study focuses on how the reader may find community with the ideas represented within the poem The poetry of various ethnicities are examined including African American poets Amiri Baraka and Lucille Clifton Native American poets Robin Coffee Linda Hogan and Peter Blue Cloud as well as Japanese American poets Mitsuye Yamada Keiho Soga and Lawson Fusao Inada Although many of these poets have had their poems examined in the past none have been explored through this type of approach Furthermore very few studies have expanded upon the ideas of literary trauma theory by using reader response and no writings have examined the idea of ambivalence in poetry as this study does
