for mathematics education developed in the Netherlands since the late 1960s Authors from outside the Netherlands discuss what aspects of RME appeal to them their criticisms of RME and their past and current RME based projects It is clear that a particular approach to mathematics education cannot simply be transplanted to another country As such in eighteen chapters the authors describe how they have adapted RME to their individual circumstances and view on mathematics education and tell their personal stories about how RME has influenced their thinking on mathematics education School Leadership between Community and the State David Lundie,2022-09-08 This book presents changes in UK and global educational governance in the context of a radical shift in the operating logics of politics and its interaction with education Beginning from the colonial origins of political interest in education the author traces a fundamental shift in the patterns of governance of schools in England in the opening decades of the 21st century Operating through the logics of public choice economics involving both real markets and quasi markets policy reforms have increasingly framed school values and the value of schooling in line with a politically determined and nostalgic discourse of British values This stands in contrast to a previous focus on community cohesion which foregrounded school partnership with the parent community and wider society Tracing the processes and mid level actors mediating between government and school leaders the author identifies processes of recontextualisation through which policy can be reinscribed and resisted OCR GCSE Maths Practice Papers and Solutions
