Saadat Hasan Manto Ki Kahaniyan Edt- Dr. Narendra Mohan, Manto Naama Jagdish Candar Vadhavan, 1998 Translated into English for the first time the book is the only extant biography of Saadat Hasan Manto Saadat Hasan Manto (Urdu Writer) Varis Alvi, 2000-01-01 On the life and works of Saadat Hasan Manto 1912 1955 Urdu writer The Collected Stories of Saadat Hasan Manto Nasreen Rehman, 2022 Saadat Hasan Manto 1912 1955 needs no introduction One of the greatest stars of Urdu literature Manto published over twenty collections of short stories in a literary career spanning almost two decades Several of these have been adapted into films and plays that have won a multitude of awards and his stories about the 1947 Partition remain some of the best accounts ever written on the catastrophic event This book is the first of a three volume series which will contain all of Saadat Hasan Manto's 255 known stories translated into English for the very first time Volume I collects fifty four stories and two essays written by Manto about his time in Bombay and Poona in colonial India The anthology includes well known stories like Mummy and Janki which provide rare insights into the Poona film industry the fascinating story of Babu Gopinath and My Marriage and My Sahib two essays that read almost like stories These meticulous translations by award winning writer and translator Nasreen Rehman distil the aura that Manto creates of a time a place and a moment Manto's World Sa'ādat Hasan Maṇṭo, 2000-01-01 Manto Aatish Taseer, 2011-11-20 The gentle dhobi who transforms into a killer a prostitute who is more child than woman the cocky young coachman who falls in love at first sight a father convinced that his son will die before his first birthday Saadat Hasan Manto's stories are vivid dangerous and troubling and they slice into the everyday world to reveal its sombre dark heart These stories were written from the mid 30s on many under the shadow of Partition No Indian writer since has quite managed to capture the underbelly of Indian life with as much sympathy and colour In a new translation that for the first time captures the richness of Manto's prose and its combination of high emotion and taut narrative this is a classic collection from the master of the Indian short story Manto Radio Plays -3 Saadat Hassan Manto, 2019-06-26 Manto was born as Saadat Hasan Manto in 1912 and died in 1955 He was never a bright student failed thrice for his matriculation and ironically failed in Urdu his idiom of expression in all those attempts He began his writing career as a cadet journalist in a monthly magazine and Baari Alig encouraged him to start translating classics from European languages Victor Hugo's Last days of a condemned was his first attempt His first story Tamasha was published in the same monthly magazine in 1934 In his chequered career he always struggled financially The political atmosphere in the country in the 30s and 40s was poisonous for both Muslims and Hindus The communal riots started both in mainland India and would be Pakistan It significantly affected Manto's thinking Many of his friends and benefactors dissuaded Manto from migrating to Pakistan a decision that he always regretted In the maelstrom of communal frenzy there were many writers of both Hindi and Urdu who succumbed and wrote stories siding with their respective communities He remained above the prejudices of religion caste and creed He wrote what he saw faithfully Some critics had suggested that Manto died as a writer when he moved to Pakistan though many of his classic stories emanated after reaching Pakistan particularly those which were written against the backdrop of partition Manto rightly thought that he was being neglected and was not given the respect that was his due Secondly he always felt out of place in Lahore which he found too stuffing in the new nation being formulated along religious lines as had ever been used to secular environs of pre partitioned India no matter how dangerous political atmosphere was From his Bombay now Mumbai's days in India until Lahore in Pakistan Manto had become addicted to alcohol As his resources were limited that on occasions he would write a story in a newspaper's office in half an hour and collect money just enough to buy half a bottle of Rum What makes Manto significant When I read Manto I always feel that all his contemporaries including me am traveling in a bullock cart while he is flying in an airplane above us He is so much ahead of his times Krishan Chander the legendary writer from the sub continent Krishan Chander was reflecting on the themes of Manto's stories which had never been attempted before by an Indian author He was charged with obscenity for his stories at least three times because the subject matter he was writing was taboo Unsurprisingly all the cases originated in Lahore now in Pakistan where he went and settled after migrating from India In his lifetime Manto was accused of provoking sexual perversion Here a quote from Waris Alvi a prominent critic would be not out of place Sex has been an active theme in many of Manto's stories but there is also much more than sex in them His characters reveal many other traits of their personalities For example his stories on prostitutes must not be called erotic stories However sex is a necessary part of a prostitute's life and her profession but Manto's prostitutes are also motherly selfless innocent caring They are victims of degradation isolation and contempt of the society To persistent criticism that he was indulging in sex Manto replied that he did not have a Salle Allah Ki Laundry where he could wash and rinse human emotions and their actions His themes for his time were avant garde Manto has written good memorable enduring and weak stories His mediocre stories are mainly a product of his desperate desire to buy a half bottle of Rum When alive he wrote an epitaph to be engraved on his grave after his death Here lies Manto under mounds of earth He thinks if he was a greater storyteller or God above I am told that this epitaph has now been removed under the pressure of the clergy as it was considered blasphemous

The Collected Stories of Saadat Hasan Manto Sa'adat Hasan Manto,2022 Why I Write Aakar Patel,2023-03-06 One of the greatest raconteurs of 20th century Saadat Hasan Manto declared that he was forced to write when his wife routinely demanded that he put bread on the table for the family He didn't attribute any genius to his skills as a writer and convinced his readers that the stories flowed even as he minded his daughters or tossed a salad Equally Manto treated his tryst with Bollywood with disdain and unmasked the cardboard lives of tinsel town when a horse was painted to double up for a zebra or multiple fans rotate to create a deluge In these essays two of Manto's favourite and recurring themes women and Partition find special mention as he brings to focus the bizarre morality in the context of feminine beauty and the futile presence of religiosity in the creation of a nation he was to adopt later in life For the first time ever this unique collection of nonfiction writing from the subcontinent's greatest writer translated by well known author and journalist Aakar Patel showcases Saadat Hasan Manto's brilliance while dealing with life's most mundane things graveyards bumming cigarettes a film crew with motley characters from mythology and a sharp dissection of what ails the subcontinent even after six decades Hindi or Urdu vile politicians and the hopelessness of living under the shadow of fear

Naked Voices: Stories & Sketches Saadat Hasan Manto,2008-08-01 Naked Voices ruthless as also humane pimps in The Hundred Candle Watt Bulb and Sahay the utter helplessness of men in the face of a sexual encounter in Naked Voices and Coward and the madness perpetrated by the Partition as witnessed in By God and Yazid In one of the three sketches which form part of this collection the author brilliantly reveals himself to the world in a schizophrenic piece titled Saadat Hasan calling Manto the Writer a liar a thief and a failure And in another titled In a Letter to Uncle Sam Manto superbly couches his anti imperialistic views in an innocent letter from a poor nephew to a capitalist and prosperous uncle in America
