As the gap between scholarly research and practical application persists, human resource development (HRD) professionals need help effectively integrate theory into practice. Despite efforts to bridge this chasm, barriers such as limited dissemination channels and disconnected research methodologies continue to impede progress. Bridging Gaps in Human Resource Development Through Scholar-Practitioners offers a comprehensive solution to this pressing issue. Focusing on HRD scholars, practitioners, and professionals, this book provides invaluable insights and strategies to overcome the barriers hindering the integration of theory and practice. It meticulously explores collaborative knowledge creation, practical research projects, and innovative dissemination methods to offer actionable steps for aligning research with real-world applications. By addressing the fundamental questions of why the chasm exists, who can bridge it, and how to effectively close it, this book serves as a roadmap for organizations seeking to enhance their HRD practices. Ethical and Legal Issues in Human Resource Development Claretha Hughes, 2018-10-30

This book explores the role of HRD professionals in ethical and legal decision making in the workplace. While previous books have described the need for ethics in HRD, this book presents ways that HRD scholars and professionals can influence through collaborative relationships the effective implementation of ethical policies and legal standards in the workplace. The ethical policies of an organization provide a key insight into its values, and this book shows the relationship between those values and HRD practices such as training and development, career development, and organization development. Exploring such topics as protected classes, diversity, intelligence, employee rights, and employee privacy, this book will inform HRD scholars and professionals on researching and enhancing ethical and legal decision making in the workplace. Bridging the Scholar-Practitioner Gap in Human Resources Development Hughes, Claretha, 2016-03-17
