As ICT continues to grow as a key resource in the classroom this book helps students and teachers to get the best out of e literature with practical ideas for work schemes for children at all levels. Len Unsworth draws together functional analyses of language and images and applies them to real life classroom learning environments developing pupils understanding of text. The main themes include: What kinds of literary narratives can be accessed electronically? How can language, pictures, sound and hypertext be analysed to highlight the story? How can digital technology enhance literary experiences through web based book talk and interaction with publishers websites? How do computer games influence the reader/player role in relation to how we understand stories.

Language, Autonomy and the New Learning Environments Douglas Allford, Norbert Pachler, 2007. The emergence of new learning environments technological and institutional implies a need for language understanding and autonomous learning. What do they mean? Why are they necessary? How do they interrelate? This book looks at these questions. The authors consider mother tongue and second foreign language education in relation to language understanding which includes formal knowledge and an ability to use language communicatively and should cover the new literacies. Autonomous language learning has been interpreted in various ways and setting language understanding as a goal allows some of these such as training models to be challenged and others endorsed. Some implications of the information society for education are considered. Learning increasingly takes place outside educational establishments and the authors examine changes from face to face teacher student interaction to mixed mode and distance learning. The new environments create new possibilities such as knowledge construction through computer mediated interaction and learner autonomy in online networks and these are explored. Throughout the book the centrality of the teacher's role is affirmed as educator and guide on autonomous second foreign language programmes and as a moderator of online discussions and a designer of online materials.
