Nazrul Islam,2017-04-04 This book discusses Asian medicine which puts enormous emphasis on prevention and preservation of health and examines how in recent decades medical schools in Asia have been increasingly shifting toward a curative approach It offers an ethnographic investigation of the scenarios in China and India and finds that modern students and graduates in these countries perceive Asian medicine to be as important as Western medicine There is a growing tendency to integrate Asian medicine with Western medical thought in the academic curriculum that has led to a gradual decline of Asian medical thought and practices At the same time there has been a massive rise in patent drugs health products and cosmetics being sold under the brand names of Asian medicine or herbal medicine Most of these drugs and health products do not follow the classical formulas found in the Asian medical texts The book analyses these texts and concludes that contemporary Asian medicine rarely follows the classical texts and in fact uses Asian medicine brands to sell Western health products and practices With a particular focus on the formal and professional sector of Chinese herbal medicine and Indian ayurvedic medicine in urban areas this book appeals to a broad readership including undergraduate students and academics as well as non experts Md Nazrul Islam is an Associate Professor in the General Education Office United International College Beijing Normal University Hong Kong Baptist University He was a Visiting Associate Professor in the School of Population and Public Health University of British Columbia 2015 16 during which time he completed this book manuscript     Sexually Transmitted Infections - E-book Bhushan Kumar,Somesh Gupta,2013-09-30 Covers all aspects historical epidemiological diagnostic clinical preventative public health and medico legal of STIs in complete detail with a special emphasis on STIs in special groups migrants homosexuals and

Architectural inscriptions are a fascinating aspect of Islamic cultural heritage because of their rich and diverse historical contents and artistic merits These inscriptions help us understand the advent of Islam and its gradual diffusion in Bengal which eventually resulted in a Muslim majority region making the Bengali Muslims the second largest linguistic group in the Islamic world This book is an interpretive study of the Arabic and Persian epigraphic texts of Bengal in the wider context of a rich epigraphic tradition in the Islamic world While focusing on previously untapped sources it takes a fresh look into the Islamic inscriptions of Bengal and examines the inner dynamics of the social intellectual and religious transformations of this eastern region of South Asia It explores many new inscriptions including Persian epigraphs that appeared immediately after the Muslim conquest of Bengal indicating an early introduction of Persian language in the region through a cultural interaction with Khurasan and Central Asia In addition to deciphering and editing the epigraphic texts the information derived from them has been analyzed to construct the political administrative social religious and cultural scenario of the period The first survey of the Muslim inscriptions in India ever to be attempted on this scale the book reveals the significance of epigraphy as a source for Islamic history and culture As such it will be of interest to students and scholars of Asian Studies Asian History and Islamic Studies A Text Book Of Practical Botany 2 Ashok Kumar, The Dai and the Indigenous Asha Achuthan,2024-11-15 This is a book about the dai or traditional birth practitioner and her place in the emerging therapeutic domain in colonial and contemporary India The book employs a caste informed feminist reading of the colonial archive against the grain and explores papers by Englishwomen physicians texts of indigenous medicine and practitioner accounts administrative documents public commentaries and legislative assembly debates from the 19th and early 20th centuries It also examines contemporary healthcare policy discourse Using these methodologies the author traces the production of the dai as an unsanitary unskilled indigenous figure in colonial and nationalist accounts The book goes on to examine the workings of gender and caste in the setting up of this figure at first for containment and then for removal from institutionalized healthcare an exercise that is more or less completed in the present The author argues that this exercise is part of the refashioning of the indigenous and of indigenous medicine throughout this period into a highly codified domain that centres caste privilege and is supported by global capital networks In such a refashioning the dai figure is rendered remote not only from the centre of the healthcare apparatus but also from the centre of the contemporary nation This genealogical tracing of indigenous medicine in Indian contexts rather than separate histories is also useful to understand better what is termed the healthcare assemblage today and this book provides a ground on which this can be done
