What are the differences between Connected and Unconnected Lookup?

Key differences are explained in the below table:

Connected Lookup	Unconnected Lookup
Unconnected Lookup (relationship or database) can receive input of type: from the question	Unconnected Lookup receives input values from the table. It is a table relationship to provide transformation
Unconnected Lookup can use table structure and table name	Unconnected Lookup can be selected as relation
Unconnected Lookup can filter data from table using various ways (e.g. by type)	Unconnected Lookup can filter data from table using various ways (e.g. by type)
Unconnected Lookup can use and change columns	Unconnected Lookup cannot change the table name or the table structure
Supports multi-valued output values (i.e. using the output value function conditions are not allowed)	Does not support multi-valued output values

What is meant by active and passive transformation?

Active transformation is the one that defines the way of the transformation:

- change the content of table between transformation input and output (example: from transformation)
- change the transformation knowledge by changing content of table's points, example: transformation
- change the type type, example: update strategy to active because it keeps the table but doesn't delete, update or input
