Jefferson-James,2022-03-03 New Criticism and Pedagogical Directions for Contemporary Black Women Writers is a collection of critical and pedagogical essays that shed new light on the creative depths of Black women writers On the one hand some Black women writers have been heavily anthologized they have more often than not been restricted by critical metanarratives Some of their works have been lionized while others remain neglected On the other hand some Black women writers have been ignored and understudied This collection corrects the gaps in our critical thinking about Black women writers by introducing them to a new generation of undergraduate and graduate students and by presenting pedagogical essays to our colleagues currently working in the field Octavia E. Butler Mary Ellen Snodgrass,2023-01-04 Slow to rise in the literary world Octavia Estelle Butler cultivated musings on earth s future reaching massive critical acclaim in the process This companion will complement book club discussions and classroom lessons for the closest possible readings of Butler s science fiction and her texts on racism and pollution A maven of speculative fiction so prescient that it hovers between tocsin and prophecy Butler survives through her print stories essays novels and musings on individualism and compromise This book guides the reader on a variety of Butler pieces from her most obscure titles to her historical entries and pieces that speculate upon science metaphysics linguistics psychology writing and religion The text serves as a guide through the depths of Octavia Butler s works and reinforces the reasons for which her name so often appears on reading lists for higher learning

Our Mothers, Our Powers, Our Texts Teresa N. Washington,2005-06-27 Washington writes supple and thoughtful prose and creatively integrates African and African derived terminology which never distract the reader I consider Our Mothers Our Powers Our Texts not only a brilliant study but also a model to be emulated Ouseynou B Traore William Patterson University j is a Yoruba word that signifies a spiritual power of vast potential as well as the human beings who exercise that power Although both men and women can have j its owners and controllers are women the literal and cosmic Mothers who are revered as the gods of society Because of its association with female power its invisibility and profundity j is often misconstrued as witchcraft However as Teresa N Washington points out in Our Mothers Our Powers Our Texts j is central to the Yoruba ethos and cosmology Not only does it underpin the concepts of creation and creativity but as a force of justice and retribution j is essential to social harmony and balance As Africans were forced into exile and enslavement they took j with them and continued its work of creating destroying harming and healing in the New World Washington seeks out j s subversive power of creation and re creation in a diverse range of Africana texts from both men and women from both oral and contemporary literature and across space and time She guides readers to an understanding of the symbolic methodological and spiritual issues that are central to important works by Africana writers but are rarely elucidated by Western criticism She begins with an examination of the ancient forms of j in Yoruba culture which creates a framework for innovative readings of important works by Africana writers including Zora Neale Hurston Toni Morrison Ben Okri Wole Soyinka Jamaica Kincaid and Ntozake Shange This rich analysis will appeal to readers of Africana literature African religion and philosophy feminist studies and comparative literature      Seed to Harvest Octavia E.
