Water Resource Conflicts and International Security Dharendra K. Vajpeyi, 2012-01-01 Water Resource Conflicts and International Security A Global Perspective is an edited collection by Dharendra K Vajpeyi which analyzes the increasing global demand for water in economic and social development and the dire need to efficiently manage this vital natural resource particularly in water scarce countries in the Middle East Asia and Africa Several environmental and human induced factors such as urbanization industrialization climate change and agricultural needs have created a near crisis situation in many countries Subsequently there is an increasingly intense competition to utilize available water resources in these most heavily affected regions transboundary rivers lakes and streams which are shared by more than one country pose potential for political conflict armed conflict and in the best of cases cooperation The contributors of Water Resource Conflicts and International Security present ten case studies in seven chapters highlighting the competition between countries in Asia Africa and the Middle East In his conclusion Dharendra K Vajpeyi suggests several policy measures that governments may implement in order to minimize the potential for conflict

Nile River Basin Assefa M. Melesse, 2011-03-28 This book presents results of scientific studies ranging from hydrological modelling to water management and policy issues in the Nile River basin It examines the physical hydrometeorological and hydrogeological description of the basin along with analysis in understanding the hydrological processes of the basin under the changing land use stemming from population pressure and increased natural resources tapping The book discusses the increased impact of climate change on the river flows and such issues as water availability and demand management and policy to offset the imbalance between demand and available resources This book will be of interest to researchers practitioners water resources managers policy makers as well as graduate and undergraduate students It is a useful reference text for ecohydrology arid zone hydrology hydrology of transboundary rivers and similar courses

Dams, Power, and the Politics of Ethiopia's Renaissance Tom Lavers, 2024-10-01 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence It is free to read on the Oxford Academic platform and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations After more than a decade of construction Ethiopia is filling the Grand Ethiopian Renaissance Dam GERD a controversial dam with the potential to transform the hydrology and politics of the Nile Basin The GERD is the culmination of a dam building boom carried out over three decades and a key pillar of the Ethiopian Peoples Revolutionary Democratic Front's EPRDF efforts to bring about an Ethiopian Renaissance Dams Power and the Politics of Ethiopia's Renaissance provides a detailed examination of the domestic and international political dynamics that shaped Ethiopia's dam building drawing on extensive primary research including more than a hundred interviews with politicians technocrats consultants and donors The authors reflect on the implications of Ethiopia's dam building for broader debates about the role of the state in late development the dynamics of twenty first century dam building and the political economy of renewable energy transitions A central argument of the book is that Ethiopia's dam building is symbolic of the successes and failures of the EPRDF's developmental state. On the one hand, this dam boom enhanced electricity generation capacity while constituting a key element of the state infrastructure investment that turned Ethiopia into one of the world's fastest growing economies. In contrast, a politically driven decision making process undermined electricity planning, contributed to an unsustainable debt burden and ultimately failed to provide reliable electricity access to key users. Following the EPRDF's collapse, the subsequent Prosperity Party government has taken steps away from the state led development model of its predecessor while labouring towards the final completion of the GERD.

Oxford Studies in African Politics and International Relations is a series for scholars and students working on African politics and International Relations and related disciplines. Volumes concentrate on contemporary developments in African political science, political economy and International Relations, such as electoral politics, democratization, decentralization, gender and political representation, the political impact of natural resources, the dynamics and consequences of conflict, comparative political thought and the nature of the continent's engagement with the East and West. Comparative and mixed methods work is particularly encouraged. Case studies are welcomed but should demonstrate the broader theoretical and empirical implications of the study and its wider relevance to contemporary debates. The focus of the series is on sub-Saharan Africa, although proposals that explain how the region engages with North Africa and other parts of the world are of interest.

Series Editors: Nic Cheeseman, University of Birmingham; Peace Medie, University of Bristol; and Ricardo Soares de Oliveira, University of Oxford.

Security and Environment in the Mediterranean Hans Günter Brauch, Peter H. Liotta, Antonio Marquina, Paul F. Rogers, Mohammad El-Sayed Selim, 2012-12-06. In this volume, security specialists, peace researchers, environmental scholars, demographers, as well as climate, desertification, water, food and urbanisation specialists from the Middle East and North Africa, Europe and North America, review security and conflict prevention in the Mediterranean. They also analyse NATO's Mediterranean security dialogue and offer conceptualisations on security and perceptions of security challenges as seen in North and South. The latter half of the book analyses environmental security and conflicts in the Mediterranean and environmental consequences of World War II, the Gulf War, the Balkan wars and the Middle East conflict. It also examines factors of global environmental change, population growth, climate change, desertification, water scarcity, food and urbanisation issues, as well as natural disasters. Furthermore, it draws conceptual conclusions for a fourth phase of research on human and environmental security and peace, as well as policy conclusions for cooperation and partnership in the Mediterranean in the 21st century.

Facing Global Environmental Change Hans Günter Brauch, Navnita Chadha Behera, Patricia Kameri-Mbote, John Grin, Úrsula Oswald Spring, Béchir Chourou, Czesław Mesjasz, Heinz Krummenacher, 2009-06-04. The year 2007 could perhaps accurately be described as the year when climate change finally received the attention that this challenge deserves globally. Much of the information and knowledge that was created in this field during the year was the result of the findings of the

Fourth sessment Report AR4 of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC which were disseminated on a large scale and reported extensively by the media This was the result not only of a heightened interest on the part of the public on various aspects of climate change but also because the IPCC itself proactively attempted to spread the findings of its AR4 to the public at large The interest generated on the scientific realities of climate change was further enhanced by the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the IPCC and former Vice President of the US Al Gore By taking this decision in favour of a leader who has done a great deal to create awareness on c mate change and a body that assesses all scientific aspects of climate change and disseminates the result of its findings the Norwegian Nobel Committee has clearly drawn the link between climate change and peace in the world

Rethinking Climate Change, Conflict and Security Jan Selby, Clemens Hoffmann, 2017-10-02 Is global climate change likely to become a significant source of violent conflict and should it therefore be seen as a national security challenge Most Northern governments militaries think tanks and NGOs believe so as do many academic researchers on the grounds that increased temperatures changing precipitation patterns and rising sea levels will worsen existing social stresses especially within poor societies and marginal communities across Africa and Asia This book argues otherwise The first collection of its kind it brings together leading scholars of Anthropology Geography Development Studies and International Relations to provide a series of critical analyses of mainstream thinking on the climate security nexus It shows how policy discourse on climate conflict consistently misrepresents the causes of violence especially by obscuring its core political dimensions It demonstrates that quantitative research provides a flawed basis for understanding climate conflict linkages It argues that climate security discourse is in hoc with a range of questionable military authoritarian and developmental agendas And it reveals that the greening of global capitalism is already having violent consequences across the global South Climate change the book argues does indeed have serious conflict and security implications but these are quite different from how they are usually imagined This book was published as a special issue of Geopolitics Afrotropical Streams and Rivers Tatenda Dalu, Frank Masese, 2024-11-09 The Afrotropical Streams and Rivers Structure Ecological Processes and Management is a comprehensive guide that provides assessment of major rivers and tributaries in Africa Unlike other books available the editors present a thorough study of geomorphological hydrological biological and ecological processes incorporating a range of plant and animal communities while considering implications of human communities that depend upon them This book edited by a diverse cohort of researchers and or scholars is intended as an educational and practical guide for graduate students researchers and scientists who focus on the biodiversity conservation and management policy issues of the African river systems Provides a comprehensive introduction to African freshwater rivers their biota and abiotic processes Contains unique case studies on African streams and rivers Organised around an interdisciplinary approach that covers the complex aspects of conservation and management of African river systems on the continent Agrindex, 1995
