ABSTRACT

The purpose of this study was to determine whether the capital structure, independent board of commissioners, liquidity, dividend policy, and profitability can affect firm value. This is expected to be useful and used for interested parties, such as investors, to assist in providing information and making decisions to invest in a company. In this study, the firm value was measured using the Price to Book Value ratio (PBV). The subjects used in this study were manufacturing companies listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange (IDX) in the 2017-2019 period. The research design used in this study is a descriptive research design. The descriptive research was conducted to understand the existence of one or more variables, by not comparing the variables themselves and looking for a relationship with other variables.

Keywords: Firm Value, Capital Structure, Independent Commissioner Board, Liquidity, Dividend Policy, Profitability

1. INTRODUCTION

The general objective of a business is to maximize profits to increase the firm's value. Firm value is the result of management's efforts in several areas, including net cash flow from investment decisions, growth, and the cost of capital of the business. Firm value is critical for investors to understand because it is a barometer of how the market views the firm. Firms with strong values perform well. Creditors take a close look at the company's value. For creditors, the value of a business is determined by its liquidity, its ability, or inability to repay creditors' loans. If the implied value of the business is poor, investors will perceive the business as having a low value. Additionally, the share price provides insight into the firm's value. If the stock price increases, the firm's value increases as well. This will have a beneficial effect on the shareholders' welfare and prosperity. Investors will become more interested in investing in the company as a result of this increase.

Several factors will affect the firm's value. These variables have a non-linear relationship and influence firm value. Capital structure is one of these factors.

According to capital structure theory, a firm's financial policy in determining its capital structure is a mix of debt and equity aimed at optimizing the company's value. Managers should select a capital structure that they believe will maximize firm value and will be the most profitable for the company's shareholders[1]. One disadvantage is that when a business is going through a difficult period and its operating profit is insufficient to cover its interests, the shareholders are forced to make up the difference. If the firm is unable to cover the shortfall, it will go bankrupt [2]. The capital structure of a business is a comparison of its equity and debt financing. Debt is a component of a business's capital structure. This capital structure is critical for increasing the productivity and performance of the business.

The Debt to Equity Ratio provides insight into a company's capital structure (DER). If the Debt to Equity Ratio (DER) is higher, the company's value will increase, as long as the Debt to Equity Ratio (DER) has not reached its optimum level as defined by the Trade-off theory.

The independent board of commissioners, which will be discussed in this study, can also serve as a benchmark for increasing the value of the company. The independent board of commissioners is responsible for supervising the board's policies, ensuring the board's smooth operation, and providing advice to the board of directors[3]. Independent commissioners are believed to be capable of effectively monitoring activities by resolving the conflict of interest between internal managers regarding the misuse of firm assets or transaction manipulation. Additionally, the independent board of commissioners is considered capable of indefinitely preserving the majority shareholder's independence while still representing all shareholders[4]. The findings of this study contradict those of Amaliyah and Herwiyanti[5], who concluded that a large number of independent commissioners cannot guarantee an increase in firm value. This is because the existence of an independent board of commissioners is merely a formality necessary to comply with Financial Services Authority (OJK) regulations. Without an
