I Survived S:

Survival Analysis Using S Mara Tableman, Jong Sung Kim, 2003-07-28 Survival Analysis Using S Analysis of Time to Event Data is designed as a text for a one semester or one quarter course in survival analysis for upper level or graduate students in statistics biostatistics and epidemiology Prerequisites are a standard pre calculus first course in probability and statistics and a course in applied linear regression models No prior knowledge of S or R is assumed A wide choice of exercises is included some intended for more advanced students with a first course in mathematical statistics The authors emphasize parametric log linear models while also detailing nonparametric procedures along with model building and data diagnostics Medical and public health researchers will find the discussion of cut point analysis with bootstrap validation competing risks and the cumulative incidence estimator and the analysis of left truncated and right censored data invaluable The bootstrap procedure checks robustness of cut point analysis and determines cut point s In a chapter written by Stephen Portnoy censored regression quantiles a new nonparametric regression methodology 2003 is developed to identify important forms of population heterogeneity and to detect departures from traditional Cox models By generalizing the Kaplan Meier estimator to regression models for conditional quantiles this methods provides a valuable complement to traditional Cox proportional hazards approaches

Klein,Hans C. van Houwelingen,Joseph G. Ibrahim,Thomas H. Scheike,2016-04-19 Handbook of Survival Analysis presents modern techniques and research problems in lifetime data analysis This area of statistics deals with time to event data that is complicated by censoring and the dynamic nature of events occurring in time With chapters written by leading researchers in the field the handbook focuses on advances in survival analysis techniques covering classical and Bayesian approaches It gives a complete overview of the current status of survival analysis and should inspire further research in the field Accessible to a wide range of readers the book provides An introduction to various areas in survival analysis for graduate students and novices A reference to modern investigations into survival analysis for more established researchers A text or supplement for a second or advanced course in survival analysis A useful guide to statistical methods for analyzing survival data experiments for practicing statisticians A Philosophical Critique of Empirical Arguments for Postmortem Survival Michael

Sudduth,2016-01-26 Sudduth provides a critical exploration of classical empirical arguments for survival arguments that purport to show that data collected from ostensibly paranormal phenomena constitute good evidence for the survival of the self after death Utilizing the conceptual tools of formal epistemology he argues that classical arguments are unsuccessful

Webb,Harold Malcolm Hudson,2024-10-01 Many conventional survival analysis methods such as the Kaplan Meier method for survival function estimation and the partial likelihood method for Cox model regression coefficients estimation were developed under the assumption that survival times are subject to right censoring only However in practice survival time observations may include interval censored data especially when the exact time of the event of interest cannot be observed When interval censored observations are present in a survival dataset one generally needs to consider likelihood based methods for inference If the survival model under consideration is fully parametric then likelihood based methods impose neither theoretical nor computational challenges However if the model is semi parametric there will be difficulties in both theoretical and computational aspects Likelihood Methods in Survival Analysis With R Examples explores these challenges and provides practical solutions It not only covers conventional Cox models where survival times are subject to interval censoring but also extends to more complicated models such as stratified Cox models extended Cox models where time varying covariates are present mixture cure Cox models and Cox models with dependent right censoring The book also discusses non Cox models particularly the additive hazards model and parametric log linear models for bivariate survival times where there is dependence among competing outcomes Features Provides a broad and accessible overview of likelihood methods in survival analysis Covers a wide range of data types and models from the semi parametric Cox model with interval censoring through to parametric survival models for competing risks Includes many examples using real data to illustrate the methods Includes integrated R code for implementation of the methods Supplemented by a GitHub repository with datasets and R code The book will make an ideal reference for researchers and graduate students of biostatistics statistics and data science whose interest in survival analysis extend beyond applications It offers useful and solid training to those who wish to enhance their knowledge in the methodology and computational aspects of biostatistics
