Discourse Analytic Research Erica Burman, Ian Parker, 2016-11-18 First published in 1993, this book provides clear illustrations of discourse analytic work and empirical critiques of the traditional psychological approaches. Drawing on a range of examples, the contributors argue that identity, deeply felt emotions, prejudice and attitudes to social issues are created by the language that describes them, rather than being intrinsic to the individual. In illustrating the variety of methods available through their studies of punk identity, sexual jealousy, images of nature, political talk, sexism in radio education, case conferences and occupational choice, the contributors provide a challenging presentation of discourse analysis in a psychological context.

Product Lifecycle Management (Volume 5) John Stark, 2023-11-13 This book explains what goes on in a manufacturing company as a product goes through its lifecycle. It describes more than 70 product-related activities that take place during the product lifecycle phases of ideation, development, production, service, and recycling. The various documents, data, working methods, and computer programs used in each activity are outlined. The book tells the story of a project carried out by a Master's degree student in a manufacturing company to find out for the CEO exactly what happens with products across their lifecycle. Due to the storytelling approach of the book, the reader will learn as if they are present in the company about the activities that take place along the product lifecycle. They will see how the company is organized, what data and documents are created and used in each activity, and which applications are being used. They will see from the interviews carried out by the student what people are doing, the difficulties they face, and the improvement opportunities they see. This will give them a good understanding of the various activities that take place and provide a basis for improving performance and implementing new processes and applications.
