Architecture and Spectacle: A Critique Gevork Hartoonian, 2016-12-05 Focusing on six leading contemporary architects Peter Eisenman Frank Gehry Bernard Tschumi Zaha Hadid Rem Koolhaas and Steven Holl this book puts forward a unique and insightful analysis of neo avant garde architecture It discusses the spectacle and excess which permeates contemporary architecture in reference to the present aesthetic tendency for image making but does so by applying the tectonic of theatricality discussed by the 19th century German architect Gottfried Semper In doing so it breaks new ground by opening up a dialogue between the study of the past and the design of the present The work of each discussed architect is seen as addressing a historiographical problem To this end and this is the second important aspect of this book the chosen buildings are discussed in terms of the thematic of the culture of building the tectonic of column and wall for example rather the formal and this through a discussion that is informed by the latest available theories Having set the aesthetic implication of the processes of the digitalization of architecture the book's conclusion highlights strategies by which architecture might postpone the full consequences of digitalization and thus the becoming of architecture as ornament on its own right

Constructing Gardens, Cultivating the City Amanda Shoaf Vincent, 2023-05-16 Constructing Gardens Cultivating the City is the first cultural history of major new parks developed in Paris in the late twentieth century as part of the city's program of adaptive reuse of industrial spaces Thanks to laws that gave the city more political autonomy Paris's local government launched a campaign of park creation in the late 1970s that continued to the turn of the millennium The parks in this book represent this campaign and illustrate different facets of their cultural and historical context Archival research interviews and analyses of the parks reveal how postmodern debates about urban planning the historic city public space and nature's presence in an urban setting influenced their designs In sum the city adopted the garden as a model for public parks investing in complex richly symbolic and representational spaces These parks were intended to represent contemporary twists on traditional designs and serve local residents as much as they would contribute to Paris's role as a world city The parks development process often included points of conflict pointing to differing views on what Parisian space should represent and fundamental contradictions between the characteristics of public space and the garden as it is traditionally defined These parks demonstrate the ongoing cultivation of the city over time in which transformed sites not only fulfil new functions but also engage with history and their surroundings to create new meaning They stand for landscape as a form of signifying cultural production that directly engages with other art forms and ways of knowing Just as the Luxembourg Gardens the Tuileries and the Buttes Chaumont parks exemplify their eras cultural dynamics such parks as the Jardin Atlantique Parc André Citroën and the Jardin des Halles express contemporary French culture within the archetypal space of their era the city Finally they point the way to current trends in landscape architecture such as citizen gardening and ecological initiatives
