

Statements of Teaching Philosophy

Gail E. Goodyear

Douglas Allechin
University of Texas at El Paso

Well-defined teaching philosophy is essential to creating and maintaining a campus culture supportive of teaching. Presented in this paper are reasons for statements of teaching philosophy as well as descriptions of how the statements are beneficial to students, faculty, and university administrations. Described are ways of creating a statement of teaching philosophy and dimensions that may be included in such statements. This article begins a discussion of roles, composition, and evaluation of statements of teaching philosophy.

Teaching is a scholarly activity when it is purposeful, reflective, documented, and shared in an evaluative forum (Menges & Weimer, 1996). Articulating an individual teaching philosophy provides the foundation by which to clarify goals, to guide behavior, to seed scholarly dialogue on teaching, and to organize evaluation. Statements of teaching philosophy function both personally and publicly. A professor who writes a teaching philosophy wants to document beliefs, values, and approaches. It may be written to clarify or reflect on practice, to receive feedback from colleagues, or to articulate a view of teaching for administrative decision-making (Murray, 1995). Regardless of the purpose, the activity demonstrates a deep commitment to teaching and also to growing personally and professionally.

An administration that asks its professors to record formally their teaching philosophies expresses a value for scholarly approaches to teaching and for working toward clearly articulated educational goals. Often professors present their teaching scholarship in a teaching portfolio (Hutchings, 1996; Murray, 1995; Lyons, 1998; O'Neil & Wright, 1995; Seldin, 1997; Shore, Foster, Knapper, Nadeau, Neill, & Sim, 1991). A clear statement of teaching philosophy can organize such a portfolio and help determine its content (Lang, 1996; Rodriguez-Farrar, 1997). Thus, statements of teaching philosophy are central to teaching scholarship from several perspectives.

While there now abound many documents on teaching portfolios, or dossiers, there is comparatively little commentary on statements of teaching philosophy, their role, how to compose them, or how to evaluate them as personal statements (see Chism, 1998, for a valuable, brief contribution). In this article, we hope to begin to remedy the dearth. In particular, we will profile how a statement of teaching philosophy functions beyond a mere catalog of teaching responsibilities or strategies. The "why's" of teaching contrast with, but provide an essential foundation for, the "how's" and "what's" of teaching. In addition, we underscore how discussing teaching philosophy is a professional, scholarly activity that contributes to developing a productive culture of teaching — a culture shaped by faculty and supported by faculty development programs.

The Setting

Our presentation here draws on and summarizes discussions by a group of faculty who developed teaching portfolios through a workshop series. Here, at the University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP), as elsewhere, concerns about evaluating the effectiveness of teaching have grown in recent years. This has primed discussion on teaching itself. In part, through support from a "Model Institutions for Excellence" grant from the National

Goldstein,2007 One of the greatest challenges for students of critical education theory is making the connection between the theory and its practical application

Critical education theory is personal and political it can be uncomfortable and freeing while at the same time being challenging and transforming Ultimately critical educational theory is useful Written in accessible language this edited collection presents readers with different views of and insights into the topic and illustrates how to connect theory and practice to create a different vision of public education This is the perfect text for undergraduate and graduate students of education Asian Studies Newsletter ,2004 Agriculture, Rural Development, and Related Agencies Appropriations for Fiscal Year 1989: Nondepartmental witnesses United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development, and Related Agencies,1988 Hopeful Pedagogies in Higher Education Mike Seal,2021-05-20 Many accounts of critical pedagogy particularly accounts of trying to enact it within higher education HE express a deep cynicism about whether it is possible to counter the ever creeping hegemony of neo liberalism neo conservatism and new managerialism within Universities Hopeful Pedagogies in Higher Education acknowledges some of these criticisms but attempts to rescue critical pedagogy locating some of its associated pessimism as misreading of Freire and offering hopeful avenues for new theory and practice These misreadings are also located in the present in the assumption that unless change comes within the lifetime of the project it has somehow failed Instead this book argues that a positive utopianism is possible Present actions need to be celebrated and cultivated as symbols of hope possibility and generativity for the future which the concept of hope implies The contributors make the case for celebrating the pedagogies of HE that operate in liminal spaces situated in the spaces between the present and the future between the world as it is and the world as it could be and also in the cracks that are beginning to show in the dominant discourses National Guide to Funding in Higher Education ,1996 Futures for English Studies Ann Hewings,Lynda Prescott,Philip Seargeant,2016-01-12 Futures for English Studies brings together chapters by leading writers across the curriculum area of English to investigate how the component parts of English literature language and creative writing are located institutionally in higher education and to explore the interdisciplinary prospects of a subject which spans the humanities and social sciences Through explorations of changing foci in a variety of contexts the book examines the value and purpose of teaching and researching English language literature and creative writing in the twenty first century both within Anglophone countries and the wider world The contributors all practicing educators and researchers in the field bring a wide range of perspectives to the theme of the development of the discipline and illustrate that the strengths of English Studies as an academic subject lie not only in its traditional breadth and depth but also in a readiness to adapt experiment and engage with other subjects
