Diagnosing The Indonesian Economy Toward Inclusive And Green Growth:

Diagnosing the Indonesian Economy Hal Hill, Muhammad Ehsan Khan, Juzhong Zhuang, 2013-10-01 Diagnosing the Indonesian Economy Toward Inclusive and Green Growth discusses the critical constraints to inclusive economic growth in Indonesia. The volume includes a broad overview of Indonesia's development since the 1960s and features an analytic framework for the study that aims to identify the most binding constraints. The chapters analyze macroeconomic management since the Asian financial crisis, the status of Indonesia's industrial transformation, the challenges pertaining to Indonesia's infrastructure, the situation of human capital and employment, the record on poverty reduction, the impact and status of the decentralization effort, and the challenges attendant to the country's environment and natural resources. Diagnosing the Indonesian Economy Hal Hill, Muhammad Ehsan Khan, Diagnosing the Indonesian Economy Toward Inclusive and Green Growth analyzes the critical development constraints facing the country and proposes policy options to help overcome these constraints and set the country on a path of high and sustained inclusive economic growth in the medium term. Asian Development Review Andrew Foster, Avraham Ebenstein, Mulubrhan Amare, Lena Hohfeld, Somchai Jitsuchon, Hermann Waibel, Jonathan D. Ostry, Michael M. Hutchison, Chalongphob Sussangkarn, Eli Remolona, Masahiro Kawai, 2012-05-01 The Asian Development Review is a professional journal for disseminating the results of economic and development research carried out by staff and resource persons of the Asian Development Bank (ADB). The Review seeks high quality papers with relevance to policy issues and operational matters done in an empirically rigorous way. Articles are intended for readership among economists and social scientists in government, private sector, academia, and international organizations. In this issue: Creating Good Employment Opportunities for the Rural Sector, Winners and Losers of Multinational Firm Entry into Developing Countries, Evidence from the Special Economic Zones of the People's Republic of China, Rural Urban Migration and Employment Quality: A Case Study From Thailand, ADB Forum on the Use of Capital Controls. Realizing Indonesia's Economic Potential Mr. Luis E. Breuer, Mr. Jaime Guajardo, Mr. Tidiane Kinda, 2018-08-01 Analytical work on Indonesian macroeconomic and financial issues with an overarching theme on building institutions and policies for prosperity and inclusive growth. The book begins with a 20-year economic overview by former Finance Minister Chatib Basri, with subsequent chapters covering diverse sectors of the economy as well as Indonesia's place in the global economy. The Sri Lankan Economy Prema-chandra Athukorala, Edimon Ginting, Hal Hill, Utsav Kumar, 2017-10-01 This is a pivotal period in Sri Lanka's economic development. The end of conflict opens a door for accelerated economic growth and poverty reduction. Reform is needed to regain momentum because fiscal imbalances and rising public debt could jeopardize macroeconomic stability. The economy would benefit from significant trade and commercial policy reform. The labor market suffers from sluggish growth of formal sector employment and from skills mismatches which can be addressed by changes in education policy and systems. The book analyzes these and related critical constraints on the Sri Lankan economy and proposes a set of policy reforms that would lay the foundations for more rapid and inclusive development

Human Capital Formation and Economic Growth in Asia and the Pacific Wendy Dobson, 2013-07-18 The entire planet looks to Asian and other emerging markets to sustain growth momentum as traditional markets in the USA and Europe struggle with the slow and arduous processes of deleveraging after the global financial crisis At the same time there is growing recognition in Asia that the sources of growth must shift to sustain their own growth momentum in the years ahead Heavy reliance on the region's high savings rates and plentiful supplies of low cost labour will have to shift towards increasing the human capital embodied in more educated and skilled labour forces capable of contributing to productivity growth and innovation as future drivers of growth Human Capital Formation and Economic Growth in Asia and the Pacific focuses on why and how countries are making this shift The demographic transition is shown to be a significant factor as ageing populations in Japan South Korea and China manage declining growth in the labour force by stepping up investments in education and by changing policies and institutions Lessons to be learned from these experiences by more youthful populations in Southeast Asia are explored In addition attention is paid to the consequences of cross border differentials in technical knowledge and the quantity and quality of human capital Several implications for public policy and for international cooperation on human capital issues in the Asian region are identified The chapters in this volume are edited versions of papers presented at the 35th Pacific Trade and Development conference held in Vancouver Canada in June 2012 The conference goal was to better understand how governments and business in Asia and the Pacific can apply the key insight that one of the reasons economies grow is because of human capital formation the quality and diversity of the labour force are augmented not just because the labour force grows in size Students of Asia's growth prospects will find several aspects of this volume of particular value It includes chapters on the big picture conceptual and measurement issues on country experiences in meeting the imperatives of the demographic transition and investing in education and skills training and on country experiences with attracting foreign knowledge and the supply and recruitment of skills across borders in Asia and the Pacific Policymakers will also find useful the discussions of policy implications and the menu of issues requiring intergovernmental cooperation within the Asian region

Economic Change in Modern Indonesia Anne Booth, 2016-02-11 Indonesia is often viewed as a country with substantial natural resources which has achieved solid economic growth since the 1960s but which still faces serious economic challenges In 2010 its per capita GDP was only nineteen per cent of that of the Netherlands and twenty two per cent of that of Japan In recent decades per capita GDP has fallen behind that of neighbouring countries such as Malaysia and Thailand and behind China In this accessible but thorough new study Anne Booth explains the long term factors which have influenced Indonesian economic performance taking into account the Dutch colonial legacy and the reaction to it after the transfer of power in 1949 The first part of the book offers a chronological study of economic development from the late nineteenth to the early twenty first century while the second part explores topics including the persistence of economic nationalism and the ongoing tensions between Indonesia's diverse regions

Employment and Re-Industrialisation in Post Soeharto Indonesia Mohammad Zulfan Tadjoeeddin, Anis Chowdhury, 2018-05-15 This book studies the challenges for Indonesia once a miracle economy as it faces premature deindustrialisation rising inequality and domestic and external factors impacting its export oriented industrialization Since the fall of Soeharto Indonesia has undergone a far reaching systemic transition from centralised and autocratic governance to a highly decentralised and democratic system Complicated by regional variations the country is now being called upon to respect labour rights and amidst slow global economic recovery is facing increased competition from other low labour cost countries especially within the ASEAN Economic Community Tadjoeeddin and Chowdhury posit that Indonesia cannot recreate its past miracle based on cheap labour and suppression of labour rights It will need to move quickly to high value added activities driven by productivity growth and to develop its domestic market

Indonesia International Monetary Fund. Asia and Pacific Dept, 2018-02-06 This Selected Issues paper focuses on various challenges and opportunities related to reaping Indonesia's demographic dividend Demographic trends can impact growth through various channels These include the size of the labor force productivity and capital formation Indonesia's growth is set to have a sizeable tailwind from demographic trends The paper suggests that Indonesia should seize the window of opportunity to reap the demographic dividend as aging is projected to start kicking in less than 15 years In the long term Indonesia can grow old before becoming rich The rapid speed of aging implies that Indonesia similar to many Asian economies may face the prospect of becoming old before becoming rich Given Indonesia's favorable demographic trends policies should focus first on maximizing the demographic dividend Reaping the demographic dividend requires appropriate policies to raise productivity and create enough quality jobs for the growing working age population Investing in human capital early on including education and health care is essential to improve the productivity of the workforce and increase the size of the demographic dividend

Much like their liberal Christian counterparts reformers propose to embrace technical knowledge and reinterpret traditional beliefs undermined by modern science Conservatives are more open to challenging the content of science especially when science appears to support materialist views Islamists promote an alternative non western style of modernity nurturing a more pious professional class that contrasts with westernized elites By scientific standards westernizers appear to have the upper hand especially as conservative apologetics is drawn toward distortions of science such as creationism or fruitless attempts to Islamize science But conservatives can also point to some success in defusing tensions between scientific and religious institutions without adopting the full secularization of science seen in post Christian countries Proceedings of
