Benang From The Heart By Kim Scott:

Form and Functions of Aboriginality in Kim Scott's Benang 'From the Heart' Katharina Dellbrügge, 2010 Seminar paper from the year 2009 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 2 3 University of Cologne Englisches Seminar course Classics of Australian Literature in English language English abstract This term paper wants to examine the forms and functions of Aboriginality in Kim Scott's novel Benang From the Heart Published in 1999 as the author's second novel it gained great attention and also won the Miles Franklin Award Kim Scott is a descendant of the Nyoongar people who have at all times inhabited the south east coast of Western Australia They used to be a large homogenous group that shared a common language and culture until the first white settlers landed on their continent Apart from general mistreatment of these people Kim Scott's novel illustrates how an institutionalized genocide of them and other Aboriginal people was attempted The story not only includes individual stories of several Aboriginal characters but also official documents newspaper articles letters and reports Like that Scott creates a counter narrative to colonial history and gives voices to those who were oppressed by legislations and racism The paper focuses on one type of Aboriginality namely Harley's discovered Aboriginality This closer investigation includes the other aspects to some extent as all of them are closely intertwined In the course of my survey I will try to work out Scott's way of representing certain aspects and which implications his choice might have for the interpretation of his novel especially concerning the implications for a construction of Aboriginal identity and for the establishment of a new historical discourse The Pain of Unbelonging Sheila Collingwood-Whittick, 2007 Beyond the obvious and enduring socio economic ravages it unleashed on indigenous cultures white settler colonization in Australasia also inflicted profound damage on the collective psyche of both of the communities that inhabited the contested space of the colonial world The acute sense of alienation that colonization initially provoked in the colonized and colonizing populations of Australia and New Zealand has recent studies indicate developed into an endemic existential pathology Evidence of the psychological fallout from the trauma of geographical deracination cultural disorientation and ontological destabilization can be found not only in the state of anomie and self destructive patterns of behaviour that now characterize the lives of indigenous Australian and Maori peoples but also in the perpetually faltering identity discourse and cultural rootlessness of the present descendants of the countries Anglo Celtic settlers It is with the literary expression of this persistent condition of alienation that the essays gathered in the present volume are concerned Covering a heterogeneous selection of contemporary Australasian literature what these critical studies convincingly demonstrate is that more than two hundred years after the process of colonisation was set in motion the experience that Germaine Greer has dubbed the pain of unbelonging continues unabated constituting a dominant thematic concern in the writing produced today by Australian and New Zealand authors A Companion to the Works of Kim Scott Belinda Wheeler, 2016 Notes on the Contributors Index On Kim Scott Tony Birch, 2024-04-30 An illuminating essay on the bestselling Noongar writer and author of the Miles Franklin Award winning novels Benang and That Deadman Dance I value Kim Scott's fiction so highly because I feel that his approach is to put the flags aside That Deadman Dance asks us not to consider who we were so much as who we could be collectively in the future Noongar writer Kim Scott has won the Miles Franklin Award twice for his novels In this moving essay Tony Birch shows how Scott uses fiction as a pathway to truth We meet a writer who inhabits a range of guises faces he wears to interrogate the complex and messy frontier history of colonial encounters The result is new stories for the nation This says Birch is the work that Kim Scott has been doing for many years

The Postcolonial Eye Alison Ravenscroft, 2016-03-03 Informed by theories of the visual knowledge and desire The Postcolonial Eye is about the eye and the I in contemporary Australian scenes of race Specifically it is about seeing where vision is taken to be subjective and shaped by desire and about knowing one another across the cultural divide between white and Indigenous Australia Writing against current moves to erase this divide and to obscure difference Alison Ravenscroft stresses that modern Indigenous cultures can be profoundly even bewilderingly strange and at times unknowable within the terms of white cultural forms She argues for a different ethics of looking in particular for aesthetic practices that allow Indigenous cultural products especially in the literary arts to retain their strangeness in the eyes of a white subject The specificity of her subject matter allows Ravenscroft to deal with the broad issues of postcolonial theory and race and ethnicity without generalising This specificity is made visible in for example Ravenscroft's treatment of the figuring of white desire in Aboriginal fiction film and life stories and in her treatment of contemporary Indigenous cultural practices While it is located in Australian Studies Ravenscroft's book in its rigorous interrogation of the dynamics of race and whiteness and engagement with European and American literature and criticism has far reaching implications for understanding the important question of race and vision

Benang Kim Scott, 1999 I tell you that this story of my own is part of a much older story one of a perpetual billowing from the sea with its rhythm of return return remain I offer these words especially to those of you I embarrass and who turn away from the shame of seeing me We are still here Benang

Representing Poverty in the Anglophone

Postcolonial World Verena Jain-Warden, Barbara Schmidt-Haberkamp, 2021-06-07 Originally a concern primarily of social studies and economics poverty has emerged as a significant thematic focus and analytical tool in literary and cultural studies in the last two decades The new poverty studies are dedicated to analyzing representations of poverty and the poor in literature and the visual arts in the news media and in social practices They aim at exploring the frameworks of representation that impact the affective and ethical responses of audiences to disenfranchised groups such as the poor The contributions to this volume focus on representations of poverty in the Anglophone postcolonial world exploring for example contemporary discourses on poverty in the UK filmic representations of Nairobi slums or the agency of the poor in literature from India

Re-Inventing the Postcolonial (in the) Metropolis Cecile Sandten, Annika Bauer, 2016-09-27 The notion of the postcolonial metropolis has gained prominence in the last two decades both within and beyond postcolonial studies Disciplines such as sociology and urban studies however have tended to focus on the economic inequalities class disparities and other structural and formative aspects of the postcolonial metropolises that are specific to Western conceptions of the city at large It is only recently that the depiction of postcolonial metropolises has been addressed in the writings of Suketu Mehta Chris Abani Amit Chaudhuri Salman Rushdie Aravind Adiga Helon Habila Sefi Atta and Zakes Mda among others Most of these works probe the urban specifics and physical and cultural topographies of postcolonial cities while highlighting their agential capacity to defy appropriate and abrogate the superimposition of theories of Western modernity and urbanism These ASNEL Papers are all concerned with the idea of the postcolonial in the metropolis from various disciplinary viewpoints as drawn from a great range of cityscapes spread out over five continents The essays explore on the one hand ideas of spatial subdivision and inequality political repression social discrimination economic exploitation and cultural alienation and on the other the possibility of transforming reinventing and reconfiguring the postcolonial condition in and through literary texts and visual narratives In this context the volume covers a broad spectrum of theoretical and thematic approaches to postcolonial and metropolitan topographies and their depictions in writings from Australia and New Zealand South Africa South Asia and greater Asia as well as the UK addressing issues such as modernity and market economies but also caste class and social and linguistic aspects At the same time they reflect on the postcolonial metropolis and postcolonialism in the metropolis by concentrating on an urban imaginary which turns on notions of spatial subdivision and inequality political repression social discrimination economic exploitation and cultural alienation as the continuing postcolonial condition

Reading the Country Philip Morrissey, Chris Healy, 2019-05-29 Steeped in story telling and endlessly curious Reading the Country An Introduction to Nomadology 1984 was the product of Paddy Roe Stephen Muecke and Krim Bentrak experimenting with what it might be like to think together about country In the process a senior traditional owner a cultural theorist and a painter produced a text unlike any other Reading the Country 30 Years On is a celebration of one of the great twentieth century books of intercultural dialogue Recalling a spirit of intellectual risk and respect in this collection Indigenous and non Indigenous scholars poets writers and publishers both acknowledge the past and look with hope to future transformations of culture and country Anthology of Australian Aboriginal Literature Anita Heiss, Peter Minter, 2014-11-30 In a political system that renders them largely voiceless Australia's Aboriginal people have used the written word as a powerful tool for over two hundred years Anthology of Australian Aboriginal Literature presents a rich panorama of Aboriginal culture history and life through the writings of some of the great Australian Aboriginal authors From Bennelong's 1796 letter to contemporary writing Anita Heiss and Peter Minter have selected works that represent the range and depth of Aboriginal writing in English Journalism petitions and political letters from both the nineteenth and twentieth centuries are brought together with major works of poetry prose and drama from the mid twentieth century onward These works voice not only the ongoing suffering of dispossession but the resilience of Australia's Aboriginal people their hope and joy Presenting some of the best most distinctive writing produced in Australia this groundbreaking anthology will captivate anyone interested in Aboriginal writing and culture The 'Imagined Sound' of Australian Literature and Music Joseph Cummins, 2019-09-20 Imagined Sound is a unique cartography of the artistic historical and political forces that have informed the post World War II representation of Australian landscapes It is the first book to formulate the unique methodology of imagined sound a new way to read and listen to literature and music that moves beyond the dominance of the visual the colonial mode of knowing controlling and imagining Australian space Emphasising sound and listening this approach draws out and re-examines the key narratives that shape and are shaped by Australian landscapes and histories stories of first contact frontier violence the explorer journey the convict experience non Indigenous belonging Pacific identity and contemporary Indigenous Dreaming Imagined Sound offers a compelling analysis of how these narratives are reharmonised in key works of literature and music Climate Change, Ecological Catastrophe, and the Contemporary Postcolonial Novel Justyna Poray-Wybranowska, 2020-12-21 Climate Change Ecological Catastrophe and the Contemporary Novel responds to the critical need for transdisciplinary research on the relationship between colonialism and catastrophe It represents the first sustained analysis of the connection between colonial legacy and present day ecological catastrophe in postcolonial fiction Analyzing contemporary South Asian and South Pacific novels that grapple with climate change and catastrophe environmental exploitation and instability and human nonhuman relationships in degraded environments it offers a much needed corrective to dominant narratives about climate crisis and the everyday Highlighting the contributions of literary fiction from the postcolonial South to the growing field of the environmental humanities this book reconsiders the novel's relationship with climate change and the contemporary environmental imaginary Counter to dominant current theoretical discourses it demonstrates that the novel form is ideally suited to literary and imaginative engagements with climate change and ecological catastrophe The six case studies it examines connect contemporary ecological vulnerability to colonial legacies reveal the critical role animals and the environment play in literary imaginations of post catastrophe recovery and together constellate a decolonial perspective on ecological catastrophe in the era of climate change Drawing on the work of Indigenous authors and scholars who write about and against the Anthropocene this book displaces conventional ways of thinking about the relationship between the mundane and the catastrophic and promotes greater dialogue between the largely siloed fields of postcolonial Indigenous and disaster studies Practices of Proximity Katherine E.

Russo,2010-04-16 Practices of Proximity investigates the appropriation of the English language taking place in the Australian literary contact zone between an official white Australia the apparent owners of both the land and the English language and Australian Indigenous peoples Rescuing the debate from seemingly peripheral locations the empty Great Sandy Desert or the abject urban margin it insists on the complex ultimately open ended and multilateral ownership of the English language by all who inhabit the intersubjective space of literature rendering the inherited authority of who owns meaning problematical and ethically suspect Documenting the complex practices of bricolage and re lexification of a multi accentuated Australia the book invites readers to consider Australian Indigenous literature as a space from which a re routing of issues of co habitation sovereignty and being and becoming Australian might begin This interdisciplinary study of Australian Indigenous practices of appropriation ranges from texts produced during the first encounters of Indigenous and non Indigenous peoples to the work of established and rising authors such as Oodgeroo Noonuccal Jack Davis Lionel Fogarty Romaine Moreton and Kim Scott
