systems will largely depend on management solutions. These management solutions demand a good grasp of both the technical and business perspectives of an e-business service. There have been many books on the Internet based on e-commerce, Internet protocols, distributed components, etc. However, none of these books address the problem of managing e-business as a set of networked services. They do not link enterprise management with network and systems management. This book provides an overview of the emerging techniques for IT service management from a business perspective with case studies from telecommunication and healthcare sectors. It integrates the business perspective with relevant technical standards such as SNMP, WBEM, and DMI. This book presents some concepts and methodologies that enable the development of effective and efficient management systems for networked services. The book is intended to familiarize practicing managers, engineers, and graduate-level students with networked service management concepts, architectures, and methodologies with reference to evolving standards. It should be useful in a number of disciplines such as business management, information systems, computers, and networking and telecommunications. Appendix 2 is based on TeleManagement Forum's documents on TOM GB921, GB910, and GB908. While this appendix has explained the basic management concept of an e-telco, TMForum now recommends the use of eTOM as explained in www.tmforum.com. An overview of eTOM is available in the report "The TeleManagement Forum's enhanced Telecom Operations Map eTOM" by Michael Kelly appearing in the Journal of Network and Systems Management in March 2003.
