Arizona's Tucson Unified School District set out to create an equitable and excellent educational experience for Latino students. Raza Studies: The Public Option for Educational Revolution offers the first comprehensive account of this progressive, indeed revolutionary program by those who created it, implemented it, and have struggled to protect it. Inspired by Paulo Freire's vision for critical pedagogy and Chicano activists of the 1960s, the designers of the program believed their program would encourage academic achievement and engagement by Mexican American students. With chapters by leading scholars, this volume explains how the program used critically compassionate intellectualism to help students become transformative intellectuals who successfully worked to improve their level of academic achievement as well as create social change in their schools and communities. Despite its popularity and success inverting the achievement gap in 2010, Arizona state legislators introduced and passed legislation with the intent of banning MAS or any similar curriculum in public schools. Raza Studies is a passionate defense of the program in the face of heated local and national attention. It recounts how one program dared to venture to a world of possibility, hope, and struggle, and offers compelling evidence of success for social justice education programs.

The Yazzie Case Wendy S. Greyeyes, Lloyd L. Lee, Glenabah Martinez, 2023-10-15 The story of Wilhelmina Yazzie and her son's effort to seek an adequate education in New Mexico schools revealed an educational system with poor policy implementation, inadequate funding, and piecemeal educational reform. The 2018 decision in the Yazzie-Martinez lawsuit proved what has always been known: the educational needs of Native American students were not being met. In this superb collection of essays, the contributors cover the background and significance of the lawsuit and its impact on racial and social politics. The Yazzie Case provides essential reading for educators, policy analysts, attorneys, professors, and students to understand the historically entrenched racism and colonial barriers impacting all Native American students in New Mexico's public schools. It constructs a new vision and calls for transformational change to resolve the systemic challenges plaguing Native American students in New Mexico's public education system. Racial Subjection Theory in Higher Education Jon S.

Iftikar, 2023-04-30 Inspired by his own personal experiences in the borderlands of racial intelligibility Jon Iftikar introduces racial subjection theory in this conceptual book. The theory contributes to the third wave of college student development theory by drawing upon insights from cultural studies, critical and postmodern theory, and Critical Race Theory. Through racial subjection theory, Iftikar demonstrates how racial identity is not a stage, status, nor an internal essence, but instead an ongoing process that informs and is informed by experiences with White supremacy where college students are positioned as racial subjects through racial ideologies and within hegemonic Whiteness. Iftikar also utilizes the theory to analyze how students' racial identifications and interests are formed and how students embody and enact their racial identities. Reenvisioned as racial subjection, racial identity formation is thus a site of struggle of both domination and empowerment and a space for reproducing and/or challenging racial inequities in higher education contexts. In addition to its theoretical contributions, the book aims to facilitate critical consciousness about race and racism in higher education among policymakers and practitioners that can reveal alternative sites for struggling against White supremacy and to provide conceptual tools for better understanding, supporting, and reenvisioning important racial identity-based forms of activism.

Achieving Equal Educational Opportunity for Students of Color Richard R. Valencia, 2024-09-27

Valencia presents the most comprehensive theory-based analysis to date on how society and schools are structurally organized and maintained to impede the optimal academic achievement of low SES marginalized K-12 Black and Latino/Latina students compared to their privileged White counterparts. The book interrogates how society contributes to educational inequality as seen in racialized patterns in income, wealth, housing, and health, and how public schools create significant obstacles for students of color as observed in reduced access to opportunities, e.g., little access to high status curricula, knowledge. Valencia offers suggestions for achieving equal education, e.g., implementing fairness of school funding, improving teacher quality, and providing students of color access to multicultural education by disrupting structural racism. Considering the rapid aging of the White population and the sharp decline of White youth coupled with the explosive population growth of people of color, this book argues that the American Imperative must be to assiduously mount an effort to provide an excellent education for students of color upon whom the nation will depend for a sizable proportion of its work force. Book Features: Examines how society and schools are failing Black and Latino/Latina students, principally Mexican Americans who are by far the largest Latino/Latina group. Uses theoretical frameworks that draw from analysis of structural inequality, critical race theory, anti-deficit thinking, narratives, class by race covariation, and an asset-based perspective of students of color. Discusses the American Imperative and the personal and economic consequences of not investing in students of color. Transformative Ethnic Studies in Schools Christine E. Sleeter, Miguel Zavala, 2020 This timely and compelling book conceptualizes Ethnic Studies not only as a vehicle to transform and revitalize the school curriculum but also as a way to reinvent teaching. Drawing on Sleeter's research review on the impact of Ethnic Studies commissioned by the National Education Association NEA the authors show how the traditional curriculum's Eurocentric view of the world affects diverse student populations The text highlights several contemporary exemplars of curricula from classroom level to district or state wide illustrating core concepts in Ethnic Studies across a variety of disciplines and grade levels A final chapter considers how research on P 12 ethnic studies can be conceptualized and conducted in ways that further both advocacy and program sustainability Transformative Ethnic Studies in Schools is essential reading for educators working to transform schools by rehumanizing learning spaces for all students Book Features Explores how the traditional curriculum is not ideologically neutral and the effect that has on both students of color and White students Situates Ethnic Studies within anti racist movements to decolonize schooling Illustrates the transformative potential of contemporary Ethnic Studies projects Draws on the insights of Ethnic Studies teachers researchers and activists from across the United States Updates and expands on NEA's synthesis of the research on the academic and social value of Ethnic Studies Christine Sleeter and Miguel Zavala pull no punches in their approach to ethnic studies in education Despite the negative critiques of ethnic studies rooted in White supremacy and the politics of fear their contribution to critical thought and praxis is necessary and commendable Like many of our comrades in this struggle I rejoice in the fact that they remain undeterred and unafraid David Stovall University of Illinois at Chicago
