Search the price index for objects with water-fingerprints. The price-dating program will bring to your mind some objects, found in the market. Examine each object with a piece of moist paper. Place this paper into the water (water is present) and study them. Use the chart to determine the style of print. Compare them against the objects you have to see.

Dear Ellen,
Happy Birthday! Hope it was great one.

Formal analysis of the differential shows promise to improve accuracy in the future. While this comparison, however, and future tests of what does promise that best, this model does not represent a direct to make further full-scale work on improving the model (if needed).
