Living With Herds Human Animal Co Existence In Mongolia:

Living with Herds Natasha Fijn, 2011-04-11 Domestic animals have lived with humans for thousands of years and remain essential to the everyday lives of people throughout the world. In this book, Natasha Fijn examines the process of animal domestication in a study that blends biological and social anthropology, ethology, and ethnography. She examines the social behavior of humans and animals in a contemporary Mongolian herding society. After living with Mongolian herding families, Dr. Fijn has observed through firsthand experience both sides of the human-animal relationship. Examining their reciprocal social behavior and communication with one another, she demonstrates how herd animals influence Mongolian herders' lives and how the animals themselves are active partners in the domestication process. Living with Herds Cass Postdoctoral Fellow, School of Archaeology and Anthropology, Natasha Fijn, 2014-05-14 Examines the process of animal domestication in an ethnographic account of herders and their animals in the mountains of Mongolia. Living with Herds Natasha Fijn, 2011 Natasha Fijn examines the process of animal domestication in an ethnographic account of herders and their herd animals in the mountains of Mongolia. The Power of the Herd Linda Kohanov, 2015-07-20 Linda Kohanov is beloved for her groundbreaking articulation of the way of the horse, an experiential wisdom known to riders for centuries but little studied or adapted to off-horse use. Now Kohanov takes those horse-inspired insights on the nonverbal elements of exceptional communication and leadership into the realms of our workplaces and relationships. Here we explore the benefits of nonpredatory power in developing assertiveness, fostering creativity, dealing with conflict, and heightening mind-body awareness. In A Brief History of Power, the first part of this far-reaching book, Kohanov profiles cultural innovators who employed extraordinary nonverbal leadership skills to change history, usually on horseback: Winston Churchill, George Washington, Alexander the Great, and Siddhartha Gautama (the Buddha) among others. She also draws on the behavior of mature horse herds as well as the herding cultures of Africa and Mongolia to debunk theories of dominance hierarchies, challenge ingrained notions of survival of the fittest, and demonstrate the power of a consensual leadership in which governing roles are fluid. Kohanov then adapts these lessons into twelve powerful guiding principles we can all incorporate into our work and personal lives. Eloquent and provocative, this is horse sense for everyone who seeks to thrive in the herds we all run in: our communities, careers, families, and friendships. Animal-human Relationships in Medieval Iceland Harriet J. Evans Tang, 2022 A multi-disciplinary investigation of the links between people and animals in reality and representation. Domestic animals played a range of roles in the imaginative world of medieval Icelanders: from partners in settlement and household allies to violent offenders, foster kin, and surrogate wives, they were vital and effective members of the multispecies communities established from the ninth century onwards. This book examines the domestic animals of early Iceland in their physical and textual contexts through detailed analysis of the spaces and places of the Icelandic farm and farming landscape and textual sources such as The Book of Settlements, the earliest Icelandic laws, and various episodes from the Sagas and Tales of Icelanders Taking a multidisciplinary approach to animal human relationships it sees animals not solely as symbols metaphors or objects but as subjects in affective relationships with their human co settlers who become the focus of intense exploration delight anxiety and condemnation in later textual narratives By inviting readers to question how these sources form embrace or reject animal human relationships it provides a resource for understanding these archaeological sites and textual narratives differently as products of multispecies communities in which animals and humans lived worked and died together ation in later textual narratives By inviting readers to question how these sources form embrace or reject animal human relationships it provides a resource for understanding these archaeological sites and textual narratives differently as products of multispecies communities in which animals and humans lived worked and died together ation in later textual narratives By inviting readers to question how these sources form embrace or reject animal human relationships it provides a resource for understanding these archaeological sites and textual narratives differently as products of multispecies communities in which animals and humans lived worked and died together ation in later textual narratives By inviting readers to question how these sources form embrace or reject animal human relationships it provides a resource for understanding these archaeological sites and textual narratives differently as products of multispecies communities in which animals and humans lived worked and died together
