Busbea,2020-01-21 How new conceptions of human environment interaction became central to design theories and practices in the 1970s At the end of the 1960s new models of responsiveness between humans and their environments had a profound impact on theories and practices in architecture design art technology media and the sciences The resulting initiatives design philosophies art installations architectural projects exhibitions publications and symposia sought to bring together insights from biology systems theory psychology and anthropology with modernist legacies of total design In The Responsive Environment Larry D Busbea takes up this concept of environment as an object and method of design at the height of its aesthetic technical and discursive elaboration Exploring emerging paradigms of environmental perception patterning and control as developed by Gregory Bateson Edward T Hall Wolf Hilbertz Gy rgy Kepes Marshall McLuhan Nicholas Negroponte Paolo Soleri and others he shows how living space itself was reimagined as a domain capable of modification through input from its newly sensitized inhabitants The Responsive Environment intercuts the development of new ideas about environmental awareness with case studies of specific architecture and design projects for responsive environments Throughout Busbea connects these theories and practices to the contemporary obsession with smart things

 Anders Andrén,2006-01-01 The study of Old Norse Religion is a truly multidisciplinary and international field of research The rituals myths and narratives of pre Christian Scandinavia are investigated and interpreted by archaeologists historians art historians historians of religion as well as scholars of literature onomastics and Scandinavian studies For obvious reasons these studies belong to the main curricula in Scandinavia but are also carried out at many other universities in Europe the United States and Australia a fact that is evident to any reader of this book In order to bring this broad and varied field of research together an international conference on Old Norse religion was held in Lund in June 2004 About two hundred delegates from more than fifteen countries took part The intention was to gather researchers to encourage and improve scholarly exchange and dialogue and Old Norse religion in long term perspectives presents a selection of the proceedings from that conference The 75 contributions elucidate topics such as worldview and cosmology ritual and religious practice myth and memory as well as the reception and present day use of Old Norse religion The main editors of this volume have
