Jahrhundert eine weltanschauliche Entzauberung Vorwiegend männliche Akteure suchten dem Tod durch Technik Medizin und Wissenschaft beizukommen und so eine innerweltliche Ewigkeit zumindest aber Ordnung von und Kontrolle über Tod und Verfall zu schaffen Carolin Kosuch erzählt eine neue Geschichte des Todes Ihre Studie spannt den Bogen von der sich transnational entwickelnden Feuerbestattung des langen 19. The Cambridge History of Literary Criticism: Volume 9, Twentieth-Century Historical, Philosophical and Psychological Perspectives George Alexander Kennedy, Christa Knellwolf, 1989 This ninth volume in The Cambridge History of Literary Criticism presents a wide ranging survey of developments in literary criticism and theory during the last century Drawing on the combined expertise of a large team of specialist scholars it offers an authoritative account of the various movements of thought that have made the late twentieth century such a richly productive period in the history of criticism The aim has been to cover developments which have had greatest impact on the academic study of literature along with background chapters that place those movements in a broader intellectual national and socio cultural perspective In comparison with Volumes Seven and Eight also devoted to twentieth century developments there is marked emphasis on the rethinking of historical and philosophical approaches which have emerged especially during the past two decades as among the most challenging areas of debate

Being White, Being Good Barbara Applebaum, 2010-03-18 Contemporary scholars who study race and racism have emphasized that white complicity plays a role in perpetuating systemic racial injustice Being White Being Good seeks to explain what scholars mean by white complicity to explore the ethical and epistemological assumptions that white complicity entails and to offer recommendations for how white complicity can be taught The book highlights how well intentioned white people who might even consider themselves as paragons of antiracism might be unwittingly sustaining an unjust system that they say they want to dismantle What could it mean for white people to be good when they can reproduce and maintain racist system even when and especially when they believe themselves to be good In order to answer this question Barbara Applebaum advocates a shift in our understanding of the subject of language and of moral responsibility Based on these shifts a new notion of moral responsibility is articulated that is not focused on guilt and that can help white students understand and acknowledge their white complicity Being White Being Good introduces an approach to social justice pedagogy called white complicity pedagogy The practical and pedagogical implications of this approach are fleshed out by emphasizing the role of uncertainty vulnerability and vigilance White students who acknowledge their complicity have an increased potential to develop alliance identities and to engage in genuine cross racial dialogue White complicity pedagogy promises to facilitate the type of listening on the part of white students so that they come open and willing to learn and not just to say no Applebaum also conjectures that systemically marginalized students would be more likely and willing to invest energy and time and be more willing to engage with the systemically privileged when the latter acknowledge rather than deny their complicity It is a central claim of the book that acknowledging complicity encourages a willingness to listen to rat Developing Ecofeminist Theory E.

Miller,2005 This book contains a broad range of Miller's writings and intertwines interpretations of educational theories events and practices throughout private and public dimensions of Miller's life Maternal Pasts, Feminist Futures Lynne Huffer,1998 This book examines the relations among nostalgia gender and foundational philosophies through a critique of the lost mother as a ground for thinking about sexual difference More specifically the author critiques the nostalgic tendencies of feminist theory arguing that an emancipatory system of thought must move beyond a maternally oriented structure Through close readings of works by Maurice Blanchot Luce Irigaray Julia Kristeva and Nicole Brossard the book elucidates the many dimensions of nostalgic paradigms literary psychoanalytic epistemological ontological and sociopolitical This critique ultimately confronts postmodernism and especially the burgeoning field of performative theory as an intellectual paradigm that claims to subvert systems of meaning Analyzing the writings of J L Austin Judith Butler and Irigaray the author argues that despite its antinostalgic structure performative theory provides an inadequate model for understanding the connections among language identity and the social bonds that constitute the ethical and political sphere Asserting through the example of performative theory that a critique is not enough the book examines the possibility of a constructive model that is both non nostalgic and informed by ethical constraints One such model is offered through a reading of the Quebecois writer Nicole Brossard which explores her work in relation to the question of lesbian writing Demystifying nostalgia Brossard not only uncovers and subverts the structures through which a concept of origins is produced but also provides a different visionary way of thinking about the relationship between subjectivity and language Finally the book argues for further feminist work on the relationship between narrative and ethics a field whose future lies in the elaboration of a bridge between the moral commitments of ethical theory and the fractured realities that find their expression in literary forms
