ETHICS QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

OPINIONS OF THE AAPL COMMITTEE ON ETHICS

Approved by AAPL Council May 09, 2018

These are Ethical Questions for the Journal of Forensic Psychiatry, but have been asked or endorsed by the entire membership. These questions are the product of the Committee on Ethics. They have been reviewed and approved by the AAPL Council with no questions for review left open for the membership. They do not necessarily represent the opinions of any other organizations. They are an ethical analysis only. The legal advice an attorney must be consulted, and offer no assurance that the American Psychiatric Association, which approves ethical standards, will agree with our analysis. The AAPL and AAPL have the requisite commitment to recognize a special case or judge the ethics of a situation. To make such a determination it is necessary to gather comprehensive information from testimony and give the psychiatrist who is the subject of a complaint an opportunity to reply. Our questions are based on actual questions that should be reported or reported on questions of ethics and not on judgments about a specific psychiatrist in an actual case.

1. QUESTION – IS ONE WITH A FORENSIC EVALUATION ETHICAL?

Answer – No. The AAPL Ethics Questions are grounded in questions of respect for persons under duress, harm, and distress. The questions are not an ethical assessment, judgment, and a disciplinary response, and a disciplinary response. It is not the ethical requirement to maintain professional boundaries and prevent further harm to the person.

2. QUESTION – IS IT ETHICAL FOR A FORENSIC PSYCHIATRIST PERFORMING AN EVALUATION TO USE BULLYING TACTICS, TO BE RUDE, USE NAME CALLING, AND PRESS PLAINTIFF TO DROP THE CASE?

Answer – No. The AAPL Ethics Questions are grounded in respect for persons and seeking for solutions. The AAPL Committee on Ethics (Ethics Questions) are to provide a model for questions to provide comprehensive medical services and

The Expert Witness, Forensic Science, and the Criminal

Justice Systems of the UK S. Lucina Hackman, Fiona Raitt, Sue Black, 2019-04-24 The global nature of crime often requires expert witnesses to work and present their conclusions in courts outside their home jurisdiction with the corresponding need for them to have an understanding of the different structures and systems operating in other jurisdictions This book will be a resource for UK professionals as well as those from overseas testifying internationally as to the workings of all UK jurisdictions It also will help researchers and students to better understand the UK legal system

Ethics and Neuromarketing Andrew R. Thomas, Nicolae Alexandru Pop, Ana Maria Iorga, Cristian Ducu, 2016-10-19 This book addresses the emerging field of neuromarketing which at its core aims to better understand the impact of marketing stimuli by observing and interpreting human emotions It includes contributions from leading researchers and practitioners venturing beyond the tactics and strategies of neuromarketing to consider the ethical implications of applying powerful tools for data collection The rationale behind neuromarketing is that human decision making is not primarily a conscious process Instead there is increasing evidence that the willingness to buy products and services is an emotional process where the brain uses short cuts to accelerate the decision making process At the intersection of economics neuroscience consumer behavior and cognitive psychology neuromarketing focuses on which emotions are relevant in human decision making and uses this knowledge to make marketing more effective The knowledge is applied in product design enhancing promotions and advertising pricing professional services and store design and improving the consumer experience as a whole The foundation for all of this activity is data gathering and analysis Like many new processes and innovations much of neuromarketing is operating far ahead of current governmental compliance and regulation and thus current practices are raising ethical issues For example facial recognition software used to monitor and detect a wide range of micro expressions has been tested at several airports under the guise of security and counterterrorism To what extent is it acceptable to screen the entire population using these powerful and intrusive techniques without getting passengers consent Citing numerous examples from the public and private sectors the editors and contributing authors argue that while the United States has catalyzed technological advancements European companies and governments are more progressive when it comes to defining ethical parameters and developing policies This book details many of those efforts and offers rational constructive approaches to laying an ethical foundation for neuromarketing efforts
