

European Absolutism — Document Packet #1

1. What problems did Richelieu see in France when he took over? Muggins drew some of them. What would a "good" king do to fix Richelieu's problems?

1. Countering the power and influence of the Huguenots.
2. Centralizing the royal power and reducing the influence of the nobility.
3. Reforming and creating the French economy and system of taxation to pay for Richelieu's.
Cardinal Richelieu described Louis XIII as a good king. While driven by glory, he also had a desire for order. Naturally, moderate and reserved, he used more in his words and actions. That his subjects had more liberty and power and he was easily manipulated by them.

2. What principles did Cardinal Richelieu describe in his theory of government?

The divine rights of kings and what the king says goes are questions about it.

3. Why was being near the king a coveted position? What is the attitude of the Courtier when Cardinal Richelieu said, "DON'T let your subjects think the king has no government of his realm, because more concerned with civil life and nation than about their own political power?"

Being near the king was coveted because you were higher than most other people and got to live in Versailles, in luxury while your work was gradually done for you. I think he had a good attitude towards the fact the subject nations and the rulers he did to because he wanted the monarchs of the King. If the subject nations were concerned about what the king said then about their own political power, the king would have an easier time governing happier people since the subject wouldn't be preoccupied with their own political power.
