Ho,Wai-Man Kwong,2013-01-29 This book is based on the empirical work of a large scale project to investigate the possible impacts of diversified forms of parental involvement on children and school by first exploring through a series of ethnographic case studies how principals teachers and parents perceive and act on parental involvement in the primary schools of Hong Kong and then examining how the different forms and levels of parental involvement are related to individual and institutional factors through a series of survey studies on all these stakeholders in children s education Finally the book assesses the extent to which different forms of parental involvement affect student performance based on student survey results and available school records      Family Involvement in Children's Education Janie Funkhouser,1999-02 Describes how some schools and their communities have overcome key barriers finding the time increasing their information about each other bridging school family differences improving schools and tapping external supports to strengthen school family partnerships Successful partnerships require the sustained mutual collaboration and support of school staffs and families at home and at school Business or community groups can also help schools and families to work together This Book is based on case studies of 20 successful education programs around the country They include elementary and secondary schools and districtwide programs      Critical Perspectives on Education Policy and Schools, Families, and Communities Sue Winton,Gillian Parekh,2020-03-01 Critical Perspectives on Education Policy and Schools Families and Communities offers scholars students and practitioners important new knowledge about how current policies impact families schools and community partnerships The book s authors share a critical orientation towards policy and policy research and invite readers to think differently about what policy is who policymakers are and what policy can achieve Their chapters discuss findings from research grounded in diverse theories including institutional ethnography critical disability theory and critical race theory The authors encourage scholars of family school and community partnerships to ask who benefits from policies and who loses and how proposed reforms maintain or disrupt existing relations of power The chapters present original research on a broad range of policies at the local state provincial and national levels in Canada and the USA Some authors look closely at the enactment of specific district policies including a school district s language translation policy and a policy to create local advisory bodies as part of decentralization efforts Other chapters reveal the often unacknowledged yet necessary work parents do to meet their children s needs and enable schools to operate A few chapters focus on challenges and paradoxes of including families and community members in policymaking processes including a case where parents demonstrated a preference for a policy that research demonstrates can be detrimental to their children s future education opportunities Another set of chapters emphasizes the centrality of policy texts and how language influences the educational experiences and engagement of students and their families Each chapter concludes with a discussion of implications of the research for educators families and other community partners      Families and Social Change in the Gulf Region Jennifer E. Lansford,Anis Ben Brik,Abdallah M. Badahdah,2020-09-14 This timely volume explores the impact of dramatic social change that has disrupted established patterns of family life and human development in the countries of the Gulf Cooperation Council. It addresses several major deficits in knowledge regarding family issues in the Gulf countries, bringing a critical perspective to the emerging challenges facing families in this region. Lansford Ben Brik and Badahdah examine the role of urbanization, educational progress, emigration, globalization, and changes in the status of women on social change, as well as tackling issues related to marriage, fertility, and parenthood, and family well-being. This book explores how family relationships and social policies can promote physical health, psychological well-being, social relationships, safety, cognitive development, and economic security in the Gulf countries, placing a unique emphasis on contemporary families in this region. Families and Social Change in the Gulf Region is essential reading for scholars from psychology, sociology, education, law, and public policy. It will also be of interest to graduate students in these disciplines.

Multifaceted Analysis of Sustainable Strategies and Tactics in Education Neumann, Theresa Dell, Hindman, Lynne L., Shliakhovchuk, Elena, Moore, Marian, Felix, Jonathan J., 2023-06-23. A multifaceted approach will be needed to fix the often unsustainable challenges faced in the 21st-century academic arena. The trends in public and private institutions of education are more cutbacks, downsizing, mergers, sequestrations, lean process implementations, and the increase in hiring part-time workers over full-time workers. At the same time, the COVID-19 pandemic has brought with it an array of schooling challenges around organizational change. Some challenges are structural, some are political, some are human resources related, and yet others are symbolic. To fix these problems, there is a need to address a core issue: increasing student engagement. This requires a wholesale rethinking of what schooling can be. Multifaceted Analysis of Sustainable Strategies and Tactics in Education brings increased awareness to students seeking education and faculty navigating the politics regarding the challenges they face; awareness of the disempowered voices found in the halls of these institutions; and light to the challenges facing administration in education. Covering topics such as parental involvement, work-based learning, and academic success, this premier reference source is an essential resource for educators and administrators of both K-12 and higher education: pre-service teachers, teacher educators, government officials, librarians, researchers, and academicians.

The Business Roundtable Participation Guide, 1992. Designed to acquaint CEOs and their senior corporate staffs with the challenges in education and the kinds of actions they need to take in cooperation with education, political, and community leaders. Extensive list of resources. Graphs.

Critical Analysis of Parental Involvement in School Meca Williams-Johnson, Nicolette P. Rickert, 2024-12-30. Critical Analysis of Parental Involvement in School presents in-depth explorations of parental involvement within culturally distinct contexts. As teachers and leaders sense the impact of today's social and political tensions in their schools, new guidance is needed to help them make decisions, solve problems, clarify interventions, and resolve conflict with their students' families as they mutually pursue the well-being of diverse students. This edited volume examines parents' culturally situated goals and values, communication, and rearing styles, academic involvement, and other social psychological factors across identities at the

Barriers to Parental Involvement in the K-12 Educational System Ethan D. Young, 2015 Current literature shows that parental involvement has a dramatic effect on a student's academic social and career success in the K 12 educational system The literature also shows that parents are an under used resource by both teachers and administration when trying to increase a student's academic achievement When parents are absent in their child's educational experience students tend to have lower grades lower school attendance lower language and literacy rates and higher dropout rates and within the school itself lack of parental involvement impacts teacher parent relationships and overall school climate decreases School counselors play a critical role in bridging the communication between the school and parents to further encourage an inviting atmosphere and opportunities to work with the school in partnership supporting the success of all children

New Ways to Think and Learn with Metacognition Pamela R. Cook, Judith McConnell Mikkelsen, 2025-02-26

There is a global interest in the development and effectiveness of metacognition which is the concept of thinking about thinking. This book marries a powerful reckoning of 33 contributing scholars from the countries of Belize, Canada, England, Malaysia, Russia, Scotland, and 8 states within the United States of America. Techniques and strategies to develop heightened metacognitive behaviours are included in this book. Eighteen chapters comprise topics related to metacognition such as its interconnectedness with children's thinking and learning as evident for example in the Montessori Method, how it impacts the lives of culturally and linguistically diverse students, its role in drama, dance, and television programs, including its presence in epistemic trust in educational pedagogy, obsessive compulsive disorders, and as a bridge to those who are deaf and hard of hearing. Metacognition is everywhere; one can see it, feel it, hear it, move with it, and if given the opportunity, taste the success of metacognition.
