Brushing History Against the Grain Qingxin Lin, 2005-01-01 This book explores some essential features of the Chinese new historical fiction NHF and its socio cultural implications It argues that the NHF constitutes an oppositional discourse that rejects both the grand narrative of linear revolutionary history which dominates Chinese official historiography and naive confidence in Chinese modernity

The Many Worlds of Anglophone Literature Silvia Anastasijevic, Magdalena Pfalzgraf, Hanna Teichler, 2024-01-11 On what terms and concepts can we ground the comparative study of Anglophone literatures and cultures around the world today What if anything unites the novels of Witi Ihimaera the speculative fiction of Nnedi Okorafor the life writings by Stuart Hall and the emerging Anglophone Arab literature by writers like Omar Robert Hamilton This volume explores the globality of Anglophone fiction both as a conceptual framing and as a literary imaginary It highlights the diversity of lives and worlds represented in Anglophone writing as well as the diverse imaginations of transnational connections articulated in it Featuring a variety of internationally renowned scholars this book thinks through Anglophone literature not as a problematic legacy of colonial rule or as exoticizing commodity in a global literary marketplace but examines it as an inherently transcultural literary medium Contributors provide new insights into how it facilitates the articulation of divergent experiences of modernity and the critique of hierarchies and inequalities within among and beyond post colonial societies

Remapping the Past Howard Yuen Fung Choy, 2008 This study investigates how writers of Deng Xiaoping's China undermined the grand narrative of official history by rewriting the past It showcases fictions of history by eleven Chinese Muslim and Tibetan authors in terms of spatial schemes of fictional historiography

New Directions in Rhizomatic Learning Myint Swe Khine, 2023-06-05 Drawing on the theories and philosophies of Deleuze and Guattari this edited collection explores the concept of rhizomatic learning and consolidates recent explorations in theory building and multidisciplinary research to identify new directions in the field Knowledge transfer is no longer a fixed process Rhizomatic learning posits that learning is a continuous dynamic process making connections using multiple paths without beginnings and ending in a nomadic style The chapters in this book examine these notions and how they intersect with a contemporary and future global society Tracking the development of the field from poststructuralist thinking to nomadic pedagogy this book goes beyond philosophy to examine rhizomatic learning within the real world of education It highlights innovative methods frameworks and controversies as well as creative and unique approaches to both the theory and practice of rhizomatic learning Bringing together international contributors to provide new insights into pedagogy for 21st century learning this book will be of interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in education and adjacent fields

Critical Theory And The Literary Canon E. Dean

Kolbas,2018-03-09 Kolbas stakes out new territory in assessing the war over literary canon formation a subject that contemporary polemicists have devoted much ink to Throughout this succinct manuscript Kolbas ranges through the sociology and politics of culture aesthetic theory and literary theory to develop his point that texts not only must should be situated in the historical and material conditions of their production but also evaluated for their very real aesthetic content One reason the is an important issue Kolbas contends is that the canon is not simply enclosed in the ivory tower of academia its effects are apparent in a much wider field of cultural production and use He begins by critiquing the conservative humanist and liberal pluralist positions on the canon which either assiduously avoid any sociological explanation of the canon or treat texts as stand ins for particular ideologies Kolbas is sympathetic to the arguments of Bourdieu et al regarding positioning the canon in a wider field of cultural production than the university but argues that theirs are purely sociological explanations of aesthetics i e there is no objective aesthetic content that ignore art s autonomous realm which he argues a la Adorno exists if only problematically Ultimately he argues that critical theory particularly the arguments of Adorno on aesthetics offers the most fruitful path for evaluating the canon despite the approach s clear flaws His vision is a sociological one but one that treats the components of the canon as possessing objective aesthetic content albeit content that shifts in meaning over history

Playing the Text, Performing the Future Felicitas Meifert-Menhard,2013-10-14

This volume examines the structure of text based Future Narratives in the widest sense including choose your own adventure books forking path novels combinatorial literature hypertexts interactive fiction and alternate reality games How radical can printed Future Narratives really be given the constraints of their media When exactly do they not only play with the mere idea of multiple continuations but actually stage genuine openness and potentiality Process rather than product oriented text based Future Narratives are seen as performative and contingent systems simulating their own emergence

History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe Marcel Cornis-Pope,John Neubauer,2004-05-28 National literary histories based on internally homogeneous native traditions have significantly contributed to the construction of national identities especially in multicultural East Central Europe the region between the German and Russian hegemonic cultural powers stretching from the Baltic states to the Balkans History of the Literary Cultures of East Central Europe which covers the last two hundred years reconceptualizes these literary traditions by de emphasizing the national myths and by highlighting analogies and points of contact as well as hybrid and marginal phenomena that traditional national histories have ignored or deliberately suppressed The four volumes of the History configure the literatures from five angles 1 key political events 2 literary periods interested many thinkers from Plato to Freud but film comedy has not received much theoretical attention in recent years. The essays in Comedy Cinema Theory use a range of critical and theoretical approaches to explore this curious and fascinating subject. The result is a stimulating informative book for anyone interested in film humor and the art of bringing the two together. Comedy remains a central human preoccupation despite the vagaries in form that it has assumed over the centuries in different media. In his introduction Horton surveys the history of the study of comedy from Aristophanes to the present and he also offers a perspective on other related comic forms: printed fiction, comic books, TV sitcoms, jokes and gags. Some essays in the collection focus on general issues concerning comedy and cinema. In lively and often humorous prose such scholars as Lucy Fischer, Noel Carroll, Peter Lehman and Brian Henderson employ feminist, post-Freudian, neo-Marxist and Bakhtinian methodologies. The remaining essays bring theoretical considerations to bear on specific works and comic filmmakers. Peter Brunette, William Paul Scott, Bukatman, Dana Polan, Charles Eidsvik, Ruth Perlmutter, Stephen Mamber and Andrew Horton provide different perspectives for analyzing The Three Stooges, Chaplin, Jerry Lewis, Woody Allen, Dusan Makavejev and Alfred Hitchcock's sole comedy Mr and Mrs Smith as well as the peculiar genre of cynical humor from Eastern Europe. As editor Horton notes, an overarching theory of film comedy does not emanate from these essays. Yet the diversity and originality of the contributions reflect vital and growing interest in the subject and both students of film and general moviegoers will relish the results. The nature of comedy has interested many thinkers from Plato to Freud but film comedy has not received much theoretical attention in recent years. The essays in Comedy Cinema Theory use a range of critical and theoretical approaches to explore th

Narrative as Virtual Reality 2 Marie-Laure Ryan, 2015-12-01. Rethinking textuality, mimesis and the cognitive processing of texts in light of new modes of artistic world construction. Winner of the Aldo and Jeanne Scaglione Prize for Comparative Literary Studies from the Modern Language Association of America. Is there a significant difference between engagement with a game and engagement with a movie or novel? Can interactivity contribute to immersion or is there a trade off between the immersive world aspect of texts and their interactive game dimension? As Marie-Laure Ryan demonstrates in Narrative as Virtual Reality 2, the questions raised by the new interactive technologies have their precursors and echoes in pre-electronic literary and artistic traditions. Approaching the idea of virtual reality as a metaphor for total art, Ryan applies the concepts of immersion and interactivity to develop a phenomenology of narrative experience that encompasses reading, watching and playing. The book weighs traditional literary narratives against the new textual genres made possible by the electronic revolution of the past thirty years, including hypertext, electronic poetry, interactive drama, digital installation art, computer games and multi-user online worlds like Second Life and World of Warcraft. In this completely revised edition, Ryan reflects on the developments that have taken place over the past fifteen years in terms of both theory and practice and focuses on the increase of narrativity in video games and its corresponding loss in experimental digital literature. Following the cognitive approaches that have rehabilitated immersion as the product of fundamental processes of world construction and mental simulation she details the many forms that interactivity has taken or hopes to take in digital texts from determining the presentation of signs to affecting the level of story

Democracy and the Foreigner Bonnie Honig, 2009-01-10 What should we do about foreigners Should we try to make them more like us or keep them at bay to protect our democracy our culture our well being This dilemma underlies age old debates about immigration citizenship and national identity that are strikingly relevant today In Democracy and the Foreigner Bonnie Honig reverses the question What problems might foreigners solve for us Hers is not a conventional approach Instead of lauding the achievements of individual foreigners she probes a much larger issue the symbolic politics of foreignness In doing so she shows not only how our debates over foreignness help shore up our national or democratic identities but how anxieties endemic to liberal democracy themselves animate ambivalence toward foreignness Central to Honig's arguments are stories featuring foreign founders in which the origins or revitalization of a people depend upon a foreigner's energy virtue insight or law From such popular movies as The Wizard of Oz Shane and Strictly Ballroom to the biblical stories of Moses and Ruth to the myth of an immigrant America from Rousseau to Freud foreignness is represented not just as a threat but as a supplement for communities periodically requiring renewal Why do people tell stories in which their societies are dependent on strangers One of Honig's most surprising conclusions is that an appreciation of the role of foreigners in re-founding peoples works neither solely as a cosmopolitan nor a nationalist resource For example in America nationalists see one archetypal foreign founder the naturalized immigrant as reconfirming the allure of deeply held American values whereas to cosmopolitans this immigrant represents the deeply transnational character of American democracy Scholars and students of political theory and all those concerned with the dilemmas democracy faces in accommodating difference will find this book rich with valuable and stimulating insights
