Fire In His Bones The Story Of Benson Idahosa A Leader Of The Christian Awakening In Africa:

Political Spiritualities Ruth Marshall, 2009-08-01 After an explosion of conversions to Pentecostalism over the past three decades tens of millions of Nigerians now claim that Jesus is the answer But if Jesus is the answer what is the question What led to the movement's dramatic rise and how can we make sense of its social and political significance In this ambitiously interdisciplinary study Ruth Marshall draws on years of fieldwork and grapples with a host of important thinkers including Foucault Agamben Arendt and Benjamin to answer these questions To account for the movement's success Marshall explores how Pentecostalism presents the experience of being born again as a chance for Nigerians to realize the promises of political and religious salvation made during the colonial and postcolonial eras Her astute analysis of this religious trend sheds light on Nigeria's contemporary politics postcolonial statecraft and the everyday struggles of ordinary citizens coping with poverty corruption and inequality Pentecostalism's rise is truly global and Political Spiritualities persuasively argues that Nigeria is a key case in this phenomenon while calling for new ways of thinking about the place of religion in contemporary politics

Sanneh's fascinating journey from his impoverished village in West Africa to education in the United States and Europe to a distinguished career teaching at the Universities of Yale, Harvard, Aberdeen, and Ghana. Burning theological questions about God's nature and human suffering eventually led Sanneh to convert from Islam to Christianity. He recounts the unusually varied life experiences that have made him who he is today.

His Call, My All Hennie Keyter, 2014-01-15. In His Call, My All, an African Drumbeat: A Missionary's Heartbeat, Hennie Keyter looks back at his life in the service of the Lord and forward to continuing His work for as long as God requires it of him. In the 1970s Hennie Keyter was an angry young man fresh out of military service for the apartheid government of South Africa, unsure of his path in life and deeply uneasy about his faith. When God revealed to him that He had a purpose for him and a calling on his life, at first Hennie was not ready to hear it. When he finally accepted and understood his mission, a flame was lit in his heart that nothing could have extinguished. But nothing could have prepared him either for the extraordinary spiritual journey he was about to embark on, which would take him wherever God wanted him to go: from Malawi, the warm heart of Africa, to Mozambique at the height of its civil war where he was sentenced to death and faced a firing squad; from a less than welcoming beginning in Zanzibar to the United Nations base at Lokichokio on the border between Kenya and Sudan where on one trip he discovered that he had a price of US 10,000 on his head. Desiring only to do the will of God and to spread the Gospel, Hennie took up the challenge of taking the Gospel to many of the countries on the African continent and in the Middle East, building up leaders and planting churches in poverty-stricken areas, lands devastated by years of conflict and deprivation and war zones where soldiers seemed to have lost everything, even hope.

Running to the Fire Tim Bascom, 2015-04. In the streets of Addis Ababa in 1977, shopfront posters illustrate Uncle Sam being strangled by an Ethiopian revolutionary; parliamentary leaders are executed; student protesters are gunned down; and Christian mission converts are targeted as imperialistic sympathizers. Into this world arrives sixteen-year-old Tim Bascom, whose missionary parents have brought their family from a small town in Kansas straight into Colonel Mengistu's Marxist Red Terror. Running to the Fire focuses on the turbulent year the Bascom family experienced upon traveling into revolutionary Ethiopia. The teenage Bascom finds a paradoxical exhilaration in living so close to constant danger. At boarding school in Addis Ababa, where dorm parents demand morning devotions and forbid dancing, Bascom bonds with other youth due to a shared sense of threat. He falls in love for the first time, but the young couple is soon separated by the politics that affect all their lives. Across the country, missionaries are being held under house arrest while communist cadres seize their
