exploring the relationship between faith based charity and the state this volume contributes to discussions of the boundaries between public and private realms and to studies on the resurgence of religion in politics and public policy The contributors demonstrate how the borders between faith based and secular domains of governance cannot be clearly defined Ultimately the book aims to expand the parameters of what has typically been a US centric discussion of faith based interventions as it explores the concepts of faith charity security and governance within a global perspective Rediscovering Voluntary Action C. Rochester, 2013-11-20 Volunteering and voluntary organizations have become increasingly important in British social and political life but at a cost Greater prominence has led to a narrow and distorted view of what voluntary action involves and how it is undertaken This book reasserts the case for a broader view of voluntarism as a unique set of autonomous activities FDR's Long New Deal Robert E. Wright, 2024-10-28 During his presidency FDR led the American public to believe that the US government could set policy that would transform the economy This book argues that this assumption which ultimately became embedded into the general American psyche has impacted our economy today in more ways than one Robert E Wright breaks down the negative societal impact of the New Deal throughout this book The chapters highlight the lasting influence of these policies providing new perspectives and never before seen archival research related to FDR's policies The book provides insight into how assumptions of governmental intervention in the economy have shifted the direction of the economy over time It also dives into socioeconomic topics related to social justice critiquing the New Deal in its original and historical contexts Wright brings a long term public choice perspective to the New Deal providing interdisciplinary insights into socioeconomic topics such as gender race and climate The resulting book is ideal for those interested in economics American history law and policy
