

Introduction, about the CMMI Self-Assessment

Self-Assessment

Defining, designing, creating, and implementing a process to solve a business challenge or meet a business objective is the most valuable role... in EVERY company, organization and department.

Unless you are taking a one-time, single-use project within a business, there should be a process. Whether that process is managed and implemented by humans, AI, or a combination of the two, it needs to be designed by someone with a complex enough perspective to ask the right questions. Someone capable of asking the right questions and step back and say, "What are we really trying to accomplish here? And is there a different way to look at it?"

For more than twenty years, The Art of Service's Self-Assessments empower people who can do just that - whether their title is marketer, entrepreneur, manager, salesperson, consultant, business process manager, executive assistant, IT Manager, CxO etc... - they are the people who rule the future. They are people who watch the process as it happens, and ask the right questions to make the process work better.

This Self-Assessment is for managers, advisors, consultants, specialists, professionals and anyone interested in knowing the right questions to ask.

Featuring new and updated case-based questions, organized into seven core areas of process design, this Self-Assessment will help you identify areas in which improvements can be made.

Design of Enterprise Systems Ronald Giachetti, 2016-04-19 In practice many different people with backgrounds in many different disciplines contribute to the design of an enterprise Anyone who makes decisions to change the current enterprise to achieve some preferred structure is considered a designer What is problematic is how to use the knowledge of separate aspects of the enterprise to achieve a globally optimized enterprise The synthesis of knowledge from many disciplines to design an enterprise defines the field of enterprise engineering Because enterprise systems are exceedingly complex encompassing many independent domains of study students must first be taught how to think about enterprise systems Specifically written for advanced and intermediate courses and modules Design of Enterprise Systems Theory Architecture and Methods takes a system theoretical perspective of the enterprise It describes a systematic approach called the enterprise design method to design the enterprise The design method demonstrates the principles models methods and tools needed to design enterprise systems The author uses the enterprise system design methodology to organize the chapters to mimic the completion of an actual project Thus the book details the enterprise engineering process from initial conceptualization of an enterprise to its final design Pedagogical tools available include For instructors PowerPoint slides for each chapter Project case studies that can be assigned as long term projects to accompany the text Quiz questions for each chapter Business Process Analyzer software available for download For students Templates checklists forms and models to support enterprise engineering activities The book fills a need for greater design content in engineering curricula by describing how to design enterprise systems Inclusion of design is also critical for business students since they must realize the import their decisions may have on the long term design of the enterprises they work with The book s practical focus and project based approach coupled with the pedagogical tools gives students the knowledge and skills they need to lead enterprise engineering projects

Computer Supported Cooperative Work in Design IV Weiming Shen, Jianming Yong, Yun Yang, Jean-Paul A.

Barthès, Junzhou Luo, 2008-12-18 Design of complex artifacts and systems requires the cooperation of multidisciplinary design teams using multiple sophisticated commercial and non commercial engineering tools such as CAD tools modeling simulation and optimization software engineering databases and knowledge based systems Individuals or individual groups of multidisciplinary design teams usually work in parallel and independently with various engineering tools which are located on different sites often for quite a long period of time At any moment individual members may be working on different versions of a design or viewing the design from various perspectives at different levels of details In order to meet these requirements it is necessary to have efficient computer supported collaborative design systems These systems should not only automate individual tasks in the manner of traditional computer aided engineering tools but also enable individual members to share information collaborate and coordinate their activities within the context of a design project Based on close international collaboration between the University of Technology of Compiègne in France and the Institute of Computing Technology of the Chinese Academy of Sciences in the early 1990s a series of international workshops on CSCW in Design started in 1996 In order to facilitate the organization of these workshops an International Working Group on CSCW in Design CSCWD was established and an International Steering Committee was formed in 1998 The series was converted to international conferences in 2000 building on the success of the four previous workshops Software Process Improvement
