Chakrabarti,2000 The authors are both mathematical economists one teaches in an economics department and the other in a business school The latter is also editor of a prestigious economics journal and the author of 12 books in pure and applied mathematics Because of their prestige as scholars and teachers the National Science Foundation awarded them a grant to develop an interdisciplinary course combining decision theory and game theory for primary use in business and economics departments The heart of business and much of economics is decision making This book is a fully self contained treatment of almost everything that can be called decision theory from classical optimization often covered in courses in mathematical economics and management science to modern game theory the cornerstone of modern managerial micro economics which provides the foundation for management strategy and competitive analysis Only a knowledge of simple calculus and probability is required Although some coverage in later chapters requires extra mathematical knowledge that knowledge is developed as an integral part of the text This book will be a key text for all professors who want to take a serious look at a decision theory whether they are teaching undergraduate game theory or undergraduate or MBA courses in optimization and game theory With careful selection of topics not to intimidate students the authors show the integration of decision and game theory as part of the same body of knowledge and demonstrates that unity They move from the problem of the decision maker to progressively more complex decision problems such as sequential rationality culminating in topics of great immediate interest auctions and bargaining By building chapters squarely on what goes before the authors avoid any unnecessary confusion in presenting a technical subject such as game theory where ideas are often carelessly and callously presented out of proper sequence The first chapter introduces optimization theory with a single decision maker by using problems from finance and business to demonstrate how to find solutions to optimization problems Building on concepts of the single decision maker in the first chapter Chapter 2 introduces fundamentals of modern game theory by developing the theory of strategic form games and their solutions e g markets voting auctions Chapters 4 and 5 on sequential games builds on the foundation of Chapter 3 devoted to sequential decision making The concluding chapters 6 7 cover auctions and bargaining using what has preceded in Chapters 1 5 While the book is sound enough mathematically to be used in introductory mathematics courses on game theory its broadest appeal will be in courses that show applications of decision theory in economics and business perhaps even some political science courses at the graduate level It has been successfully class tested in a management science course at the Krannert School of Management The book shows the increasing importance of sound mathematical knowledge in decision making for sustained competitive advantage Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff,Staff Bowker, Ed,2004 The New York Times Index ,1999 Games, Strategies, and Decision Making Joseph E. Harrington, Jr.,2014-11-17 Written for majors courses in economics business political science and international relations but accessible to students across the undergraduate spectrum Joseph Harringtons innovative textbook makes the tools and applications of game theory and strategic reasoning both fascinating and easy to understand Each chapter focuses a specific strategic situation as a way of introducing core concepts informally at first then more fully with a minimum of mathematics At the heart of the book is a diverse collection of strategic scenarios not only from business and politics but from history fiction sports and everyday life as well With this approach students dont just learn clever answers to puzzles but instead acquire genuine insights into human behavior Games, Strategies and Decision Making + Dismal Scientific Activation Card Joseph Harrington,N.
