these conditions can be potentially overcome through developments in nanoscience and nanotechnology. Abiotic stresses such as drought, salinity, temperature stress, excessive water, heavy metal stress, UV stress etc. are major factors which may adversely affect the growth, development and yield of crops. While recent research for ways of overcoming the physiological and biochemical changes brought on by these stresses has focused on genetic engineering of plants, additional research continues into alternative strategies to develop stress tolerant crops including the use of nanoscience and nanotechnology. Providing an in depth summary of research on nanomaterials and nano based devices for field monitoring of crops, this book will serve as an ideal reference for academics, professionals, researchers and students working in the field of agriculture, nanotechnology, plant science, material science and crop production. Presents advancements in our understanding of molecular and physiological interactions between nanoparticles and crop plants. Includes figures and illustrations to help readers visualize and easily understand the role of nanomaterials. Serves as an ideal reference for those studying smart nanomaterials, biosensors and nanodevices for real time plant stress measurement.

Integrated Improvement of Food Legumes Aditya Pratap, Chandra Mohan Singh, Deepak Kumar Verma, Awdhesh Kumar Mishra, 2025-06-05. Grain legumes provide an excellent source of dietary protein, carbohydrates, iron and zinc. Their role in promoting human and soil health and environmental sustainability is appreciated by the global scientific communities. Impressive research progress has been made on the development of improved varieties, matching production and protection technologies, biofortification and post harvest management of food legumes. The genetic improvement has been due in large part to the advent of modern molecular and genomic technologies which have supplemented the traditional methods and classical breeding. This book brings together a comprehensive knowledge resource on all such developments and provides information on next generations breeding approaches, improvement of quality traits, multiple stress resistance, seed quality enhancement and post harvest processing and value addition in grain legumes. It is intended to be a comprehensive guide to legume crops improvement and cultivation.
