Abstract

The tourism sector and tourism research community focus mainly on international in- and outbound tourism volumes and expenditures. But international tourism is only one part and certainly in number of arrivals, domestic tourism is several times larger than international. However, consistent data on world-wide domestic tourism are not so readily available. This paper therefore first focuses the development of domestic visitor numbers over time per country. These numbers will be compared to the international inbound and outbound visitor numbers per country. An international comparison will be included as well. The next step will be the recognition of the economic importance of domestic compared to international tourism. The respective environmental impacts with a specific focus on GHG emissions of domestic compared to international tourism will be subject of our research as well. To conclude, we recommend an alternative, more accurate metric than border crossings to distinguish between domestic and international tourism

Domestic And International Tourism In A Globalized World:

International Tourism Yvette Reisinger, PhD, Frederic Dimanche, 2010-08-27 In recent years there has been a considerable interest in the cultural aspects of tourism such as the impacts of culture on tourism planning development management and marketing However the focus has been on material forms of culture such as arts music or crafts The impacts of national culture on tourist behavior and travel decision making have not been paid much attention Only in the last two years have cross cultural issues begun to generate significant interest among academics An examination of cultural characteristics and differences is extremely important to the tourism industry because today s tourism environment is becoming increasingly international Information on the nature of the cultural differences between international tourists and locals is not readily available in tourism literature The concept of culture is very complex and includes such abstract concepts as satisfaction attitude and loyalty International Tourism brings these concepts to the undergraduate student in tourism as well as students in the related fields of marketing management international business and cross cultural communication Designed as a textbook it is organized and presented in an integrated and relevant way for the benefit of a worldwide audience

The Global Tourism System Scarlett Cornelissen, 2017-05-15 Focusing on the political economy of the international tourism sector in the era of globalization and its impact in developing contexts this book employs a case study analysis of South Africa to assess how international tourism as a global system of trade production exchange and governance plays out in developing countries It also examines its benefits and disadvantages for these countries Scarlett Cornelissen explores the nature and extent of global tourism production consumption and regulation and how these bear upon developmental prospects specifically in the South She also highlights lessons for other developing countries about the limitations and possibilities for greater linkage to the global tourism system The book is suitable for both scholars and practitioners interested in global tourism international political economy development Africa and cultural studies

Global Tourism William F. Theobald, 2013-01-11 The success of Global Tourism has led to this fully revised and updated second edition which retains all the strengths of the original book and is enhanced by the inclusion of five new chapters This edition draws together the insights of thirty three observers commonly concerned with the effects of tourism on contemporary society

Visions for Global Tourism Industry Murat Kasimoglu, 2012-04-18 We have been witnessing huge competition among the organisations in the business world Companies NGO s and governments are looking for innovative ways to compete in the global tourism market In the classical literature of business the main purpose is to make a profit However if purpose only focus on the profit it will not to be easy for them to achieve Nowadays it is more important for organisations to discover how to create a strong strategy in order to be more competitive in the marketplace Increasingly organisations have been using innovative approaches to strengthen their position Innovative working enables organisations to make their position much more competitive and being much more value orientated in the global tourism industry In this book we are pleased to present many papers from all over the world that discuss the impact of tourism business strategies from innovative perspectives This book also will help practitioners and academician to extend their vision in the light of scientific approaches

Global Tourism and COVID-19 Alan A. Lew, Joseph M. Cheer, Patrick Brouder, Mary Mostafanezhad, 2021-11-30 This comprehensive book focuses on how the COVID 19 pandemic is transforming travel and tourism globally Despite the devastation caused by COVID 19 authors argue that within the ongoing crisis there is also an opportunity to positively transform the tourism sector in ways that contribute to a more hopeful future for tourism practitioners tourists and host communities As the world emerges from the shadow of COVID 19 there will not be a return to the normal Rather the volume shares a vision of global transformation that is driven at least in part by the changing ways people in the post COVID 19 era may travel and encounter each other and their environments Individual chapters explore topics such as regenerative economies transformational travel critical perspectives on pandemics and tourism sustainable development and resilience post COVID 19 re discovering and re localising tourism global im mobilities transforming tourism management as well as new value systems for travel and tourism including the chance to strengthen social equity and social justice as tourism returns after COVID 19 In this edited volume a series of senior and emerging scholars engage with debates on how to best contribute to more substantial meaningful and positive planetary shifts within the tourism industry The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Tourism Geographies Urban Tourism in the Global South

Christian M. Rogerson, Jayne M. Rogerson, 2021-07-13 This book examines and addresses the particular character of urban tourism occurring in the global South It presents research essays on tourism in urban areas of South Africa a country which is associated with big 5 nature tourism but where urban areas are also major tourism destinations The book contextualizes urban tourism in South Africa as part of the other half of urban tourism an overlooked but energetic scholarship which is emerging on urban places in the global South The volume moves to present a collection of original material variously on national perspectives on urban tourism following by a cluster of city level perspectives The last three contributions turn to the role of tourism in small towns the bottom rung in the urban settlement system Issues of concern include gastronomic tourism VFR travel airportsclapes climate change AirBnb and creative tourism Finally as COVID 19 is potentially a defining historical moment for urban tourism the volume incorporates historical research perspectives in order to address the overwhelming present mindedness of mainstream urban tourism writings The book highlights the challenges and opportunities for tourism development in the environment of the urban global South and is relevant to scholars of both tourism and urban studies as well as researchers in development studies

The Host Gaze in Global Tourism Omar Moufakkir, Yvette Reisinger, 2013 Most tourism theories have been developed from the tourists perspective including the seminal work by John Urry The Tourist Gaze which is now a classic text The Host Gaze in Global Tourism is a unique book for researchers and students as it is the first to look at the host gaze from within the host community It discusses how the gaze is constructed how it has developed how it varies between countries and how the tourism industry can affect it By looking at the gazes of both Western and non Western hosts this book analyses the dynamics of a host destination and consequences th

Global Tourism Sarah M. Lyon, E. Christian Wells, 2012-03-15 Global tourism is perhaps the largest scale movement of goods services and people in history Consequently it is a significant catalyst for economic development and sociopolitical change While tourism increasingly accounts for ever greater segments of national economies the consequences of this growth for intercultural interaction are diverse and uncertain The proliferation of tourists also challenges classic theoretical descriptions of just what an economy is What are the commodities being consumed What is the division of labor between producers and clients in creating the value of tourist exchanges How do culture power and history shape these interactions What are the prospects for sustainable tourism How is cultural heritage being shaped by tourists around the world These critical questions inspired this volume in which the contributors explore the connections among economy sustainability heritage and identity that tourism and related processes makes explicit The volume moves beyond the limits of place specific discussions case studies and best practice examples Accordingly it is organized according to three overarching themes exploring dimensions of cultural heritage the multi faceted impacts of tourism on both hosts and guests and the nature of touristic encounters Based on ethnographic and archaeological research conducted in distinct locations the contributors conclusions and theoretical arguments reach far beyond the limits of isolated case studies Together they contribute to a new synthesis for the anthropology of tourism while simultaneously demonstrating how emerging theories of the economics of tourism can lead to the rethinking of traditionally non touristic enterprises from farming to medical occupations

The Need for Sustainable Tourism in an Era of Global Climate Change Pardeep Singh, Shikha Daga, Kiran Yadav, Abhay Jain, 2024-12-02 This insightful work analyses how the tourism and hospitality industry may lower its carbon footprint and maintain its long term viability by implementing energy efficient and waste reduction technology The book will discuss how sustainable tourism may achieve its sustainable development objectives and contribute to a green global economy

Global Experience Industries Jens Christensen, 2009-08-30 The experience economy is a fourth economic field different from commodities goods and services Experiences are an economic value added to a product or identical with the product When you buy an experience you pay to spend time enjoying a series of memorable events that a company stages to engage the customer in a personal way The experience dimension has moved into a predominant place since the 1990s fueled by an expanding global and digital economy In developed countries people get richer and more individualized and having met all basic material needs they focus increasingly on personal development and self realization Demand for experience based products increases such as tourism and sports as well as film music and other contents of media and interactive technologies Furthermore the demand for experience values is extended to include any product and dimension of modern societies such as the design of houses furniture clothes cars computers etc This is not a completely new story Commercial entertainment and design has been around for a century or so And in addition universal values of love sex belief family and the meaning of life have always been vital to human beings What is new is the fact that capitalism is invading more and more fields of experiences connected with emotions and the extension of life proportions In all developed countries and increasingly on a
