Kirch,Michele Amoroso,2016-02-10 Can I contribute to science Do I like to work on the problems of science How do scientists know what they know Would I like to be become a scientist These are questions that interest new science students The authors provide teachers with an approach to foster and answer these questions by concentrating on learners and learning They argue that students are typically taught from a disciplinary perspective of science Using this lens students are viewed as people who need to learn a particular canon of information methods and ways of knowing about the world a perspective that may be useful for practicing scientists but not ideal for young learners In this disciplinary approach to science education there is little room for development as a scientist In contrast the approach championed by Kirch and Amoroso places learner questions about the world at the forefront of teaching and learning and treats science as a system of human activity The historical explorations theoretical insights and practical advice presented here are appropriate for all ages and educational settings In Being and Becoming Scientists Today the authors provide new tools for thinking about science ideas for how to reveal the multiple stories of knowledge production to learners and approaches to teaching science as a collective process rather than a series of contributions made by famous individuals In these ways the authors promote the idea that all science learners contribute to the science in our lives Hands-On Science and Technology, Grade 5 Jennifer Lawson,2008-11-13 This teacher resource offers a detailed introduction to the Hands On Science and Technology program guiding principles implementation guidelines an overview of the science skills that grade 5 students use and develop and a classroom assessment plan complete with record keeping templates It also includes connections to the Achievement Levels as outlined in The Ontario Curriculum Grades 1 8 Science and Technology 2007 This resource has four instructional units Unit 1 Human Organ Systems Unit 2 Forces Acting on Structures and Mechanisms Unit 3 Properties of and Changes in Matter Unit 4 Conservation of Energy and Resources Each unit is divided into lessons that focus on specific curricular expectations Each lesson has curriculum expectation s lists materials lists activity descriptions assessment suggestions activity sheet s and graphic organizer s A Guide to Children's Reference Books and Multimedia Material Susan Hancock,2018-10-26 First published in 1998 A Guide to Children s Reference Books and Multi Material provides essential information on over 250 children s reference products for parents teachers and librarians wishing to purchase the best books and multimedia material in the late 90 s The Muscles in Your Body Bobi Martin,2015-01-01 There are over 600 muscles in the human body that we can
