Table 1

Abstract The study examines the role of employees' organizational commitment in the relationship between organizational trust and organizational citizenship behavior. The study also examines the moderating effect of organizational trust on the relationship between organizational commitment and organizational citizenship behavior. The study uses a sample of 100 employees from a large organization in the United States. The results show that organizational commitment is a significant predictor of organizational citizenship behavior. Organizational trust is also a significant predictor of organizational citizenship behavior. The study also finds that organizational trust moderates the relationship between organizational commitment and organizational citizenship behavior. The study concludes that organizational trust is an important factor in the relationship between organizational commitment and organizational citizenship behavior.
