Climate Change and Vulnerability of Ecosystem Services Sudhanshu Gupta, 2010-09-14 The unprecedented changes in the world on account of climate change and growing demands of human population pose serious challenge in managing the ecosystem related services of the country The three countries which are likely to be worst affected on account of increased vulnerability due to reduced ecosystem resilience are Brazil China and India This publication springs from an effort to analyze the driving forces pressures and state of forests in the three countries with special reference to policies addressing the natural resource management The described frame work of DPSIR model has been used to compare and analyze the state of forests among the three countries to address the priorities for assessment planning management and action The book would bring insight to managers resource users and policy makers to review existing procedures and improve responses in the respective countries

Assessing impacts on ecosystem services under various plausible oil palm expansion scenarios in Central Kalimantan, Indonesia Sharma, S.K., Baral, H., Pacheco, P., Laumonier, Y., 2017-06-05 Key messages The land use change caused by oil palm expansion results in adverse impacts on ecosystem functions and services provided by natural forests This study assesses the impacts of oil palm expansion on key ecosystem services and analyzes the trade offs among ecosystem services under four plausible future land use scenarios in Central Kalimantan Indonesia business as usual moratorium zero gross deforestation and sustainable intensification A trade off between carbon benefit and habitat quality was observed in the area with low carbon stock Providing some habitat quality in areas of oil palm expansion enhanced the carbon benefit A synergy between carbon sequestration and water yield was evident due to oil palm expansion on Dry Rice Land with Mixed Scrub under the zero gross deforestation scenario Among the four plausible LULC scenarios zero gross deforestation is the most desirable option for the study area in Central Kalimantan A successful implementation of zero gross deforestation requires a review of the forest moratorium to encompass all forest types a clear land use policy strategy and a detailed land use plan involving all jurisdictions and engagement of stakeholders Sustainable intensification is the second best land use and land cover option for oil palm expansion with an assumed average yield enhancement to 5 tCPO ha 1 yr 1 However enhancing yield in smallholder farms by 78% is highly challenging It may be achievable by providing appropriate and adequate technical and management supports to smallholder farms and by ensuring off take markets for oil palm produced by smallholders

Die Bündelung von Payments for Environmental Services als Möglichkeit eines effizienten Schutzes von Biodiversität Alexander Czempas, 2013 In dieser Dissertation erfolgt eine Analyse des Schutzes von Biodiversität durch Payments for Environmental Services PES und insbesondere im empirischen Teil innerhalb des Ansatzes Reducing Emissions from Deforestation and Forest Degradation plus REDDplus Die Anwendung von PES Programmen zum Schutz von Biodiversität gewinnt im umweltpolitischen Bereich immer mehr an Bedeutung Gleichzeitig ist die Umsetzung solcher Schutzprogramme jedoch mit erheblichen Transaktionskosten und damit der Gefahr von Ineffizienzen verbunden Die Möglichkeit der Bündelung von Biodiversität mit einer weiteren Ökosystemleistung hier der Speicherung von Kohlenstoffdioxid wird hinsichtlich der Wirkungen auf die Schutzniveaus beider Ökosystemleistungen und der Veränderung der Produktionsweise des landwirtschaftlichen Sektors in einem monopsonistischen Modellansatz analysiert. Durch die formale Analyse zeigt sich, dass für einen effizienteren Schutz der beiden Ökosystemleistungen Economies of Scope bei den Transaktionskosten mit der Bündelung von PES-Programmen realisiert werden müssen. Ein Beispiel für die praktische Umsetzung von Payments for Environmental Services ist der REDDplus-Ansatz. Das Ziel ist die Reduzierung von Treibhausgasemissionen durch den Erhalt und die nachhaltige Bewirtschaftung von tropischen Wäldern, aber auch der Schutz von Biodiversität. Innerhalb des empirischen Teiles der Dissertation wird untersucht, inwiefern es durch die Verfolgung beider Ziele zur Realisierung von Economies of Scope bei den Transaktionskosten kommt. In die Analyse werden sechs Länder Costa Rica, Indonesien, Mexiko, Kambodscha, Peru und Vietnam einbezogen. Die Analyse erfolgt auf der Grundlage von Szenarien, welche mit Hilfe der Readiness Proposals der Länder für den Zeitraum von 2008 bis 2030 erstellt wurden. Anhand der Ergebnisse kann gezeigt werden, dass es nicht automatisch durch die Zusammenlegung von PES-Programmen zu einer Realisierung von Economies of Scope kommt. Eine Bündelung solcher Programme ist daher nicht in allen Phasen ihrer Umsetzung ratsam.

Gastronomic Sustainability Solutions for Community and Tourism Resilience Bhartiya, Shivam, Bhatt, Vaibhav, Jimenez Ruiz, Andrea, 2024-04-15. In the rapidly changing landscape of global tourism and community dynamics, a pressing challenge emerges: the delicate balance between gastronomy, tourism, community development, and social impact. As communities grapple with the consequences of unchecked tourism, the need for a sustainable approach becomes vital. Gastronomic Sustainability Solutions for Community and Tourism Resilience is a groundbreaking exploration illuminating the intricate interplay between food culture and socio-economic aspects. This comprehensive work identifies the challenges and presents innovative solutions that transcend traditional paradigms, ensuring the long-term well-being of both host communities and the ever-evolving world of travel. Gastronomic Sustainability Solutions for Community and Tourism Resilience is a transformative narrative revealing sustainable gastronomy practices' power. As communities seek avenues for economic growth and cultural preservation, this book charts a course toward genuine, mutually beneficial travel experiences. Through compelling case studies and theoretical insights, readers are guided through a journey showcasing how gastronomy, tourism's convergence can revitalize local economies, celebrate cultural heritage, and foster cross-cultural understanding. The book proposes a paradigm shift in how we approach travel and provides tangible strategies for community leaders, businesses, and individuals to embrace a more sustainable and responsible future.

Nature-Based Solutions to 21st Century Challenges Robert C. Brears, 2020-03-24. This book provides a systematic review of nature-based solutions and their potential to address current environmental challenges. In the 21st-century society is faced by rapid urbanisation and population growth, degradation and loss of natural capital, and associated ecosystem services, an increase in natural disaster risks, and climate change. With growing recognition of the need to work with ecosystems to resolve these issues, there is now a move towards nature based solutions which involve utilising nature's ecosystem to solve societal challenges while providing multiple co benefits This book systematically reviews nature based solutions from a public policy angle assessing policy developments which encourage the implementation of nature based solutions to address societal challenges while simultaneously providing human well being and biodiversity benefits This includes enhancing sustainable urbanisation restoring degraded ecosystems mitigating and adapting to climate change and reducing risks from natural disasters While nature based solutions can be applied strategically and equitably to help societies address a variety of climatic and non climatic challenges there is still a lack of understanding on how best to implement them The book concludes by providing a best practice guide for those aiming to turn societal challenges into opportunities This book will be of great interest to policymakers practitioners and researchers involved in nature based solutions sustainable urban planning environmental management and sustainable development generally

NEET Foundation Class 8th:

Comprehensive Study Notes , Ecosystem Services from Agriculture and Agroforestry Bruno Rapidel, Fabrice DeClerck, Jean Francois Le Coq, John Beer, 2012-06-25 Agricultural systems are no longer evaluated solely on the basis of the food they provide but also on their capacity to limit impacts on the environment such as soil conservation water quality and biodiversity conservation as well as their contribution to mitigating and adapting to climate change In order to cope with these multiple service functions they must internalize the costs and benefits of their environmental impact Payments for ecosystem services are hoped to encourage and promote sustainable practices via financial incentives The authors show that while the principle is straightforward the practice is much more complicated Whereas scenic beauty and protection of water sources provide benefits to the local population carbon sequestration and biodiversity conservation can be considered international public goods rendering potential payment schemes more complex Few examples exist where national or international bodies have been able to set up viable mechanisms that compensate agricultural systems for the environmental services they provide However this book provides several examples of successful programs and aims to transfer them to other regions of the world The authors show that a product can be sold if it is clearly quantified there exists a means to determine the service's values and there is a willing buyer The first two sections of the book present methodological issues related to the quantification and marketing of ecosystem services from agriculture including agroforestry The third and final section presents case studies of practical payments for ecosystem services and experiences in Central and South America and draws some lessons learnt for effective and sustainable development of ecosystem services compensation mechanisms
