Technology and Social Inclusion Mark Warschauer,2004-09-17 Much of the discussion about new technologies and social equality has focused on the oversimplified notion of a digital divide Technology and Social Inclusion moves beyond the limited view of haves and have nots to analyze the different forms of access to information and communication technologies Drawing on theory from political science economics sociology psychology communications education and linguistics the book examines the ways in which differing access to technology contributes to social and economic stratification or inclusion The book takes a global perspective presenting case studies from developed and developing countries including Brazil China Egypt India and the United States A central premise is that in today's society the ability to access adapt and create knowledge using information and communication technologies is critical to social inclusion This focus on social inclusion shifts the discussion of the digital divide from gaps to be overcome by providing equipment to social development challenges to be addressed through the effective integration of technology into communities institutions and societies What is most important is not so much the physical availability of computers and the Internet but rather people's ability to make use of those technologies to engage in meaningful social practices

Intervención psicoeducativa para niños con Trastornos del Espectro Autista Mauricio Martínez,2019-03-05 Actualmente existe un amplio consenso respecto a que la intervención psicoeducativa es la opción más apropiada para favorecer el desarrollo y la calidad de vida de los niños diagnosticados con Trastorno del Espectro Autista En los últimos treinta años la investigación sobre eficacia y el desarrollo de programas psicoeducativos creció exponencialmente Este modo particular de intervención proliferó y se extendió ampliamente Cada vez contamos con mayor acceso a información relativa a los programas y los beneficios de su aplicación Sin embargo algunas cuestiones aún no han sido revisadas ni tratadas con el suficiente grado de atención que merecen Por ejemplo cómo se define una intervención psicoeducativa cuáles son sus rasgos definitorios cómo se pueden clasificar los diferentes programas existentes cuáles dimensiones contemplan los programas que demostraron ser eficaces los programas

existentes son eficaces cuando se implementan con niños menores de 24 meses son preguntas que frecuentemente en el ámbito de la intervención y formación de profesionales son pasadas por alto sin el debido trato que merecen Mauricio Martínez presenta aquí estos temas desarrollando de manera clara y precisa una conceptualización de los Trastornos del Espectro Autista como una alteración del neurodesarrollo un sistema que permite clasificar los diferentes programas una revisión comparativa de los mismos y una discusión sobre las preguntas que en la actualidad guían la investigación

Determinantes Del Rendimiento Académico José Carlos Núñez Pérez, Julio Antonio González-Pienda, 1994 En los últimos años son numerosos los estudios sobre el papel que el autoconcepto desempeña en la conducta y en el aprendizaje escolar Este interés en parte viene propiciado por la idea de que cada sujeto actúa y rinde no como lo que es sino como lo que cree que es Esta idea es reafirmada por las investigaciones recientes sobre la motivación académica y sobre las características de los sujetos que autorregulan de modo eficaz su aprendizaje Atender a las percepciones que los estudiantes tienen de sí mismos y de su competencia académica parece crucial en el desarrollo de un modelo comprensivo del aprendizaje escolar y además se deben tener en cuenta a la hora de proyectar la práctica educativa si se quiere que los alumnos se impliquen activamente en su proceso de aprendizaje En el libro que aquí se presenta se aborda de una manera amplia y exhaustiva esta problemática
