Cinema as an aesthetic construct exists in a specific historical and political context reflecting the society and its aesthetic values. Visual representation of the Ugly, its politics and aestheticization are deeply rooted in the screen space. Featuring unconventional characters, unembellished visuals, raw and gritty storytelling, the unaesthetic challenges conventional notions of beauty on screen. The physical, psychological and social manifestations of the ugly are incorporated into the cinematic space through content, theme, physical representations, symbols, setting, dialogue as well as the camera. Exploring the intricate connection between ugliness and the cinematic medium, the book focuses on identity, gender and other manifestations of Ugly in contemporary Malayalam cinema. It meticulously analyses the portrayal of ugliness in characters, narratives and visual aesthetics, thus highlighting societal norms and realities of life. The book is a must read for film scholars, enthusiasts and anyone interested in the intersection of aesthetics and storytelling.

Horror Fiction in the Global South Ritwick

Bhattacharjee, Saikat Ghosh, 2021-04-30 Horror Fiction in the Global South Cultures, Narratives and Representations believes that the experiences of horror are not just individual but also simultaneously cultural. Within this understanding, literary productions become rather potent sites for the relation of such experiences both on the individual and the cultural front. It is not coincidental then that either William Blatty's The Exorcist or Gabriel Garcia Marquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude become archetypes of the representations of the way horror affects individuals placed inside different cultures. Such an affectation though is but a beginning of the ways in which the supernatural interacts with the human and gives rise to horror. Considering that almost all aspects of what we now designate as the Global North and its concomitant the Global South, political, historical, social, economic, cultural and so on, function as different paradigms, the experiences of horror and their telling in stories become functionally different as well. Added to this are the variations that one nation or culture of the east has from another. The present anthology of essays in such a scheme of things seeks to examine and demonstrate these cultural differences embedded in the impact that figures of horror and specters of the night have on the narrative imagination of storytellers from the Global South. If horror has an everyday presence in the phenomenal reality that Southern cultures subscribe to it demands alternative phenomenology The anthology allows scholars and connoisseurs of Horror to explore theoretical possibilities that may help address precisely such a need The Complete Tales Of The Katha Sarit Sagara Somadeva Bhatta,2022-12-22 The vast ocean of stories that influenced storytelling the world over The Kathasaritasagara is said to have been compiled by a Kashmiri Saivite Brahmin called Somadeva in AD 1070 although the date has not been conclusively established Legend has it that Somadeva composed the Kathasaritasagara for Queen Suryavati wife of King Anantadeva who ruled Kashmir in the eleventh century The stories in this book are retold from ten of the eighteen books of the original Kathasaritasagara The most remarkable feature of the Kathasaritasagara is that unlike other texts of the time it offers no moral conclusions no principles to live by and is throughout a celebration of earthly life The tale of Naravahanadatta the prince of the vidyadharas the sky dwellers with magical powers comprises the main narrative and is used as an outer frame to introduce the stories in the text Promiscuous married women and clever courtesans imbecile Brahmins incompetent kings and wise ministers wicked mendicants and holy ascetics cursed men and men who are granted boons evil non human creatures and friendly magical beings all jostle for attention in Arshia Sattar s masterful translation of this timeless collection of tales The Evergreen Legends of Kerala Sreekumari elegant and eye catching is the dominant feature of premodern Indian art From the powerful god Shiva greatest of all yogis and most beautiful of all beings to stone dancers twisting along temple walls the body in Indian art is always richly adorned Alankara ornament protects the body and makes it complete and attractive to be unornamented is to invite misfortune In The Body Adorned Vidya Dehejia who has dedicated her career to the study of Indian art draws on the literature of court poets the hymns of saints and acharyas and verses from inscriptions to illuminate premodern India's unique treatment of the sculpted and painted form She focuses on the coexistence of sacred and sensuous images within the common boundaries of Buddhist Jain and Hindu sacred spaces redefining terms like sacred and secular in relation to Indian architecture She also considers the paradox of passionate poetry in which saints praised the sheer bodily beauty of the divine form and nonsacred Rajput painted manuscripts which freely inserted gods into the earthly realm of the courts By juxtaposing visual and literary sources Dehejia demonstrates the harmony between the sacred and the profane in classical Indian culture Her synthesis of art literature and cultural materials not only generates an all inclusive picture of the period but also revolutionizes our understanding of the cultural ethos of premodern India
