A Biography of Loneliness Fay Bound Alberti, 2019-09-12. A compassionate wide-ranging study. Terry Eagleton, The Guardian. Despite 21st-century fears of a modern epidemic of loneliness, its history has been sorely neglected. A Biography of Loneliness is the first history of its kind to be published in English, offering a radically new interpretation of loneliness as an emotional language and experience. Using letters and diaries, philosophical tracts, political discussions, and medical literature from the eighteenth century to the present, historian of the emotions Fay Bound Alberti argues that loneliness is not an ahistorical universal phenomenon. It is, in fact, a modern emotion. Before 1800, its language did not exist. As Alberti shows, the birth of loneliness is linked to the development of modernity, the all-encompassing ideology of the individual that has emerged in the mind and physical sciences, in economic structures, in philosophy, and in politics. While it has a biography of its own, loneliness impacts on people differently according to their gender, ethnicity, religion, outlook, and socio-economic position. It is, Alberti argues, not a single state but an emotion cluster composed of a wide variety of responses that include fear, anger, resentment, and sorrow. In spite of this, loneliness is not always negative. And it is physical as well as psychological: loneliness is a product of the body as much as the mind. Looking at informative case studies such as Sylvia Plath, Queen Victoria, and Virginia Woolf, A Biography of Loneliness charts the emergence of loneliness as a modern emotional state. From social media addiction to widowhood, from homelessness to the oldest old, from mall hauls to massages, loneliness appears in all aspects of 21st-century life. Yet we cannot address its meanings, let alone formulate a cure, without attention to its complex protean history.

you know but who you know a timeless proverb echoing in every generation propelling the importance of strategic connectivity But networks don't build themselves Set clear goals act on them intentionally and over time you'll find your relationships guiding you toward your dreams Relationship goals should be SMART Specific Measurable Achievable Relevant and Time bound This book explores how networks amplify success through exponential connections revealing their origins transformative examples and the underlying psychological principles It highlights that while money skills and education are valuable they are often insufficient without the right relationships You might not have a lot of money but with a strong and purposeful network you can access opportunities that previously seemed out of reach You might lack formal education but the right connections can open doors to success Conversely possessing high qualifications or wealth alone does not guarantee success if your network is weak or disconnected For example in today's world many people complain There are no jobs but that's not entirely true Often opportunities are out there waiting to be tapped if only we knew the right people or had the right connections A close friend of mine once went for an interview was the best candidate yet didn't get the job Why Because of poor networking Someone else who was connected to the Director secured the position It's about relationships and connections This story underscores that qualifications and skills matter but equally vital is your network You are where you are because of your networks If your networks are rich then you also become rich Your net worth is determined by your network Your network determines your net worth If you want to go fast go alone If you want to go far go together African Proverb
