Structural Adjustment and the Working Poor in Zimbabwe Peter Gibbon, 1995 Presents three studies which examine the relationship between structural adjustment and changes in the social conditions of the working poor in Zimbabwe between 1990 and 1994 Includes a survey of conditions faced by formal sector workers in 18 larger scale industrial companies in 1993 a survey of the trading patterns consumption and intra and interhousehold relationships of 174 urban women traders in 1992 and 1993 and a study of changes in health and health services among 327 urban households and 300 households in a peasant farming area in 1992      Socioeconomic Stress, Health and Child Nutritional Status in Zimbabwe at a Time of Economic Structural Adjustment Leon A. Bijlmakers, Mary T. Bassett, David Sanders, 1998 The exact implications of implementing structural adjustment in the social sector in Africa have been hotly disputed and have polarized researchers Using an empirically grounded longitudinal study of urban and rural households in Zimbabwe this report examines the consequences of market based economic reforms It focuses on observed changes in the household economy in urban and rural Zimbabwe The study offers extensive documentation and analysis of shifts in the health status and behavior of the people as well as changes in health outcomes especially as they relate to nutritional status and child mortality The authors make the case for policy reforms that could safeguard the health and well being of people at a time of continuing economic decline

Integrated Natural Resource Management Bruce Morgan Campbell, Jeffrey Sayer, 2003 This book which contains 15 separately authored chapters discusses both the principles and applications of an integrated approach to natural resource management Such an approach must embrace the complexity of systems and redirect research towards the greater inclusion of issues such as participatory approaches multi scale analysis and an array of tools for system analysis information management and impact assessment Case studies particularly from developing countries in Asia Africa and Latin America are included This book is of interest to a wide range of readers in many disciplines including forestry soil and management sciences agriculture and development studies      Analysis of Mining Investments in Zimbabwe Ronald Chifamba, 2003

A.I.D. Research and Development Abstracts , 1982      Adjustment and Social Sector Restructuring Jessica M. Vivian, 1995 Social policy in developing countries has been substantially affected in recent years by economic crisis and structural adjustment and perhaps more importantly by the ascendance of neo liberal ideology By the late 1980s the adverse effects of adjustment had become clear and the resulting political opposition led many governments and their external supporters to design programmes meant to mitigate the social costs of adjustment The most visible of these are the social fund or safety net measures intended not only to address the social impacts of adjustment but also to improve their social and political acceptability In addition they are seen by some as providing a model for new more efficient and effective means of providing social service This volume examines the goals assumptions impacts and possible long term outcomes of social policy trends in developing countries      Peri-Urban Developments and Processes in Africa with Special Reference to Zimbabwe Innocent Chirisa, Elias Mazhindu, Elmond Bandaiko, 2016-05-23 This book focuses on peri urban development processes in Africa with special emphasis on Zimbabwe The debates included highlight a number of issues in the peri urban context such as access to water appropriate technologies and land management political economy in the peri urban space peri urban agriculture and place marketing in peri urban development among others The debates raised by the authors in this book revolve around locating the peri urban space within the context of sustainability in which key issues are addressed

The book essentially examines peri urban development processes from various angles in an effort to understand how peri urban areas develop function and how their residents survive. Peri urban dwellers currently face numerous challenges including land tenure insecurity, poor infrastructure and services, land use conflicts, stringent planning law and land use planning regulations. This work seeks to address the knowledge gap on peri urban development processes in Africa and is also intended to inform urban policy practice in the African Cities and beyond. Offering policy makers valuable insights on the peri urban space, it provides guidance for decision making in the contexts of service delivery, land management, housing, new town development and place marketing among others. The Economics of Tropical Farming Systems Martin

Upton, 1996-12-12. Clear student text on theory and practice of economic decision making in tropical agriculture.

Engendering Democracy in Africa Niamh Gaynor, 2022-06-01. This book investigates women's political participation in Africa. Going beyond the formal institutions of electoral politics, it explores a range of spaces where everyday politics take place at national and at local levels. In recent years, there have been significant improvements in the number of women elected to parliament in Africa. However, there is little indication that this is translating into better developmental outcomes, and indeed, there is mounting evidence that it could in fact help to bolster some authoritarian regimes. Starting from the premise that politics is a far broader project than securing a seat in national or local legislatures alone, this book explores the opportunities for women's political participation across a number of informal spaces where women and men gather, organise and interact in a more regular and systematic manner. Combining insights from political science, sociology and feminist theory and drawing on detailed cases from the Congo, Kenya, Malawi, Nigeria and Rwanda, it examines how power in its multiple dimensions circulates across a range of everyday political spaces while drawing attention to the links between domestic gender inequalities and the global political economy. Inviting scholars, practitioners and activists to broaden their focus beyond formal electoral institutions, if they want to support women to become more politically active, this book provides fresh insights into major issues at the heart of African studies, development studies, gender and development, democratisation and international relations. Twenty Years of Independence in Zimbabwe S. Darnoff, L. Laakso, 2016-01-13. This collection offers comprehensive insights into pivotal areas of concern regarding developments in Zimbabwe since its independence. By disclosing the intra-elite competition, assessing the performance of Zimbabwe's economy and explaining how the country's natural resources have been managed, we can better understand the ruling ZANU PF's increasing reliance on the so-called war veterans and the land reform issue for its political survival.
