

CASE STUDIES ON RETAIL MANAGEMENT

CASE STUDY 1

A NEW STEP TAKEN IN CHENNAI

Saikrishna was pleased that he had pole-vaulted over his father's anxieties and got his consent to run the kirana shop, Gopistore. Saikrishna is an MBA from the Bangalore University and he wanted to continue his father's business, but his father does not want him to run a kirana shop after an MBA. Saikrishna had strong ambitions to run a kirana shop and to be a top retailer in the city. After finishing his MBA he convinced his father to join him for his kirana business. Ultimately he could also be able to convince him by introducing him to the world of organized retailing. Sai has collected a lot of information on the retailing business and he wanted to improve his father's business from a kirana shop to a step further and to be top retailer in the city. Sai started selling his father that, there is a retail revolution taking place in India. All metropolitan cities across cities today have traditional retailers of all sizes and specialties and are threatened by formidable organized and modern chains and stores.

These range from, at one extreme, the 1,25,000 sq ft Spencer's Plaza mall to outlets such as Food World, Nilgiri's, Subhiksha, and Vitan supermarkets, the Vivek's chain of consumer durables outlets, the Health and Glow beauty outlets and sundry food retailers like Pizza Corner, Pizza Hut, and Cafe Coffee Day. In between these are the department stores. They look their part- huge, multi-storey hulks, glass windows all around, floodlight at night and with their names splashed boldly along. Even within this format, the main chains of department stores are using different strategies merchandising to expand nationally. Large corporations own the four largest chains with units in other cities and national plans. Of these four departmental stores, three have been open for a little more than a year: the 38,000 sq ft Globus owned by the Mumbai-based Hathaway Group, the 30,000 sq ft Life Style which is linked to the Jagtiani-owned Landmark group based in Dubai, and the 17,000 sq ft Westside, which is owned by Trent, the retailing wing of the Tata Group. The fourth store, the 35,000sqft Shoppers' Stop was the last to enter Chennai.

There are other upcoming department store players in the country, like the Delhi-based Ebony chain or the Mumbai-based Pyramid, but Chennai is the only location where four of the largest players battle with each other directly. Shoppers' Stop may be the latest entrant, but it can claim certain precedence. Its pioneering store in Mumbai, followed by successes in Bangalore, Hyderabad, Delhi, and Jaipur, showed that large-scale organized retailing works in India.

In layout, special promotions, staff development advertising and brand building, and customer relationship development, it was Shoppers' Stop set the standard among chains. The chain's Managing Director, B.S.Nagesh, could be permitted some hyperbole when he claims that it's a sign of its power that the other stores, barring Westside, "Started off much like Shoppers' Stop, but have felt the need to diversify once we entered the market."

Whether or not they were reacting, all these stores are following subtly different strategies- though they are all aiming for essentially the same middle and upper middle-class consumer, with much the same apparel-centered product mix. The grounds for such differentiation are hence not great. Decor may vary, but only marginally. The retailer rarely has the money to spend heavily on advertising their brand. So what do you differentiate on? The answer is merchandising, a retailing discipline that is becoming increasingly important in India. Merchandising, is essentially the skill that decides which items will go on the shelves. It requires analysis of fashion trends, forecasting future ones, designing appropriate garments, sourcing, checking the finished merchandise, putting it on shelves, and ensuring it is best situated to grab customer attention.

Retail Internationalization Stefan Elsner, 2013-09-07. The doctoral thesis investigates various strategies in the area of going and being international of retail firms which is of undisputable relevance due to the fairly narrow research status and the increasing internationalization of retail activities. Issues are investigated concerning the choice of retail market entry modes i.e. the form of institutional arrangements that retailers use when entering foreign markets, the retail format transfer i.e. the management of internal processes and the external marketing program elements and the coordination of retail activities i.e. the implementation of the marketing program by the organizational structure. Regarding this three important research questions are addressed: 1. How do retailers choose their market entry mode in the area of conflict between full and shared controlled modes and how is this decision influenced by the internal and external environment? 2. How can international retailers transfer their retail format successfully to foreign countries by standardizing or adapting the internal and external elements of their retail format? 3. How can retailers successfully coordinate the implementation of their retail marketing program to culturally diversified markets? These questions are investigated on the basis of established theories applied from the international management literature such as institutional theory, the resource based view, and the profit maximization theory. On the basis of comprehensive primary and secondary datasets, important implications are drawn for research and practice. Marketing Activities, The Future of Retail and Service Design Bethan Alexander, Katelijn Quartier, Mia Münster, Zakkiya Khan, Francesca Murialdo, 2025-06-05.
