Macroeconomics Bangla:

Bangladesh's Macroeconomic Policy Monzur Hossain, 2020-02-21 This book provides valuable insights on issues pertaining to current macroeconomic policy debates and challenges in Bangladesh. It evaluates various macroeconomic policies and reflects on a future direction in terms of four central themes: i) Macroeconomic Policy Growth and Poverty ii) Monetary and Fiscal Policy iii) International Trade and Finance and iv) Finance and Growth. Given its scope, the book will serve as a useful resource for academics and macroeconomic practitioners whose work involves developing countries.

Bangladesh's Graduation from the Least Developed Countries Group Debapriya Bhattacharya, 2018-09-21 Since the group of least developed countries (LDCs) was identified in 1971, only five countries have graduated from the group, all of which are characterised by small size or population. The projections are that the next decade will see a rapid increase in the pace of graduation, with Bangladesh in particular poised to be one of the largest countries in terms of its economy and population yet to leave the group. While previously many LDCs viewed the prospect of graduation with some apprehension, fearing significant erosion of international support, increasingly the move is being seen as a more positive landmark. This book aims to articulate appropriate strategies and initiatives to help Bangladesh to maintain its developmental momentum and to prepare for a sustainable graduation in 2024. In doing so, the book explores themes such as key analytical issues of the LDC graduation paradigm, smooth transition and structural transformation, and post-graduation challenges and opportunities. Further, against the backdrop of Gross National Income per capita, the Human Assets Index, and Economic Vulnerability Index, goals required for graduation, the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) set by the 2030 Agenda will also be in the process of implementation. Whilst some feel that the two agendas might be in conflict, the book teases out some of the important synergies which can be drawn when LDCs are undertaking the journey of graduation in the era of the SDGs. The book also takes into cognisance the uncertain external environment and the emerging global scenario within which Bangladesh's graduation is to take place. Conceptual discourse around LDC graduation and the particular narrative around Bangladesh's journey towards LDC graduation will be of interest not only to scholars of Bangladesh but also to researchers and policymakers with an interest in LDC graduation for other countries facing similar challenges. The Economics of Bangladesh's Quest for Inclusive Development Mustafa K. Mujeri, Neaz Mujeri, 2022-09-30 The book provides a comprehensive conceptual understanding covering major challenges and pathways to progressively promote inclusive development in Bangladesh Since independence in 1971 Bangladesh has achieved significant economic growth and social progress but the benefits have not been shared equitably across all groups in society and there is the demand that inclusive development should be at the core of the country's development agenda Analysing inclusive development in Bangladesh the authors present it as synonymous with improving the well being of all individuals in a comprehensive manner along with upholding the principles of equity and justice The book shows that the multidimensionality of inclusive development facilitates the participation of all in society in development through enhancing capabilities and ensuring equal opportunities The analysis highlights social investments in specific concerns of the marginalised and disadvantaged groups and unequal structural forces that compel the state to remain biased towards the rich and consequent elite capture of the state in Bangladesh Arguing that Bangladesh has moved closer towards applying the inclusive development tenets in policy making the book's findings show that the challenge is the absence of any generic formula to ensure that the country is moving towards a more inclusive development path A valuable contribution to the study of Bangladesh's changing dynamics of political economic and social configurations and development economics the book will be of interest to researchers in the fields of economics Asian studies and development studies Quest for Inclusive Growth in Bangladesh Muhammed Muqtada, 2020-11-22 This book offers a selection of intensely researched essays focused on the critical planning objectives and policy priorities that would enhance the promotion of inclusive growth in a developing country It has taken Bangladesh as the case study It argues for rethinking of traditional policies and provides arguments and ways to reorient these toward inclusive growth and better social inclusion These involve a dedicated focus on employment and inclusion in the design of monetary and fiscal policies trade and industrial policies policies toward rural non farm employment social protection and safety net strategy and the nature of institutional and governance reforms which are imperative for ensuring inclusive growth The studies included in the book were prepared before or at the onset of the ongoing COVID 19 pandemic and the unfolding economic crisis yet they provide cursory observations on its likely impact and underscore how the stated principles and policies of an inclusive growth strategy have become even more significant in the present situation Bangladesh has been growing respectably during the past decade and a half and has arguably shown strong progress in several social indicators However inequality and vulnerability are rising alarmingly and the economy is beset with high levels of corruption as well as with various other governance deficits that can adversely affect future growth and social inclusion The book provides a critical assessment of how far growth in Bangladesh has been inclusive both over time and in comparison to selected South and Southeast Asian countries It constructs a specific inclusive growth index with reference to what the study considers as the significant goals and pillars of inclusive growth Bangladesh is not the only developing country that is faced with the arduous task of tackling unbalanced economic growth and of implementing the 2030 Agenda Rising vulnerability inequality disappointing job growth and poor governance are also major challenges to inclusive growth for many countries in the Global South Therefore the appeal of this book extends well beyond the borders of Bangladesh and the South Asian region Corresponding to SDG 8 the book is aimed at academia researchers policymakers civil society leaders as well as other national and international development practitioners with an avid interest in issues concerning growth with equity and in sync with the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development In addition the book is a valuable resource for interested students of disciplines related to economics and development policy Securing food for all in Bangladesh Ahmed, Akhter, ed., Islam, Nurul, ed., Mujeri, Mustafa K., ed., 2021-11-05 Securing Food for All in Bangladesh presents an array of research that collectively address four broad issues 1 agricultural technology adoption 2 input use and agricultural productivity 3 food security and output market and 4 poverty food security and women s empowerment The fifteen chapters of the book address diverse aspects within these four themes Access to sufficient food by all people at all times to meet their dietary needs is a matter of critical importance Despite declining arable agricultural land Bangladesh has made commendable progress in boosting domestic food production The growth in overall food production has been keeping ahead of population growth resulting in higher per capita availability of food over time In the early 1970s Bangladesh was a food deficit country with a population of about 75 million Today the population is 165 million and the country is now self sufficient in rice production which has tripled over the past three decades Along with enhanced food production increased income has improved people s access to food Furthermore nutritional outcomes have improved significantly Nevertheless the challenges to food and nutrition security remain formidable Future agricultural growth and food and nutrition security are threatened by population growth worsening soil fertility diminishing access to land and other scarce natural resources increasing vulnerability of crop varieties to pests and diseases and persistent poverty leading to poor access to food In addition the impacts of climate change an increase in the incidence of natural disasters sea intrusion and salinity will exacerbate food and nutrition insecurity in the coming decades if corrective measures are not taken Aligned with this context the authors of the book explore policy options and strategies for developing agriculture and improving food security in Bangladesh Securing Food for All in Bangladesh with its breadth and scope will be an invaluable resource for policymakers researchers and students dedicated to improving people s livelihoods in Bangladesh Bangladesh at Fifty Mustafa K. Drivers, trends, and consequences of changing household employment patterns in rural

Bangladesh Sen, Binayak, Dorosh, Paul, Ahmed, Mansur, Van Asselt, Joanna, This paper focuses on rural nonfarm development via the route of salaried employment The analysis is at the rural household level for two types of households mixed households whereby some workers remain in the farm sector and others pursue nonfarm activities and the rural households who are exclusively dependent on nonfarm employment rural nonfarm The study has produced three major findings First compared with the mixed or farm only households nonfarm households seem to have more income Second nonfarm households discourage unpaid work especially among female workers in sharp contrast to the increasing share of unpaid work in both farm and mixed households Third nonfarm households increasingly rely for their livelihoods on salaried employment which is likely to be of a more durable nature than the juggling of multiple occupations observed in the case of mixed households Analysis of possible factors influencing the formation of nonfarm households shows the importance of human capital non land assets and proximity to larger towns while natural shocks seem to encourage the formation of mixed households and remittance from abroad tends to stimulate the farm orientation
