Encyclopedia of Crisis Management K. Bradley Penuel, Matt Statler, Ryan Hagen, 2013-02-14 Although now a growing and respectable research field crisis management as a formal area of study is relatively young having emerged since the 1980s following a succession of such calamities as the Bhopal gas leak Chernobyl nuclear accident Space Shuttle Challenger loss and Exxon Valdez oil spill Analysis of organizational failures that caused such events helped drive the emerging field of crisis management Simultaneously the world has experienced a number of devastating natural disasters Hurricane Katrina the Japanese earthquake and tsunami etc From such crises both human induced and natural we have learned our modern tightly interconnected and interdependent society is simply more vulnerable to disruption than in the past This interconnectedness is made possible in part by crisis management and increases our reliance upon it As such crisis management is as beneficial and crucial today as information technology has become over the last few decades Crisis is varied and unavoidable While the examples highlighted above were extreme we see crisis every day within organizations governments businesses and the economy A true crisis differs from a routine emergency such as a water pipe bursting in the kitchen Per one definition it is associated with urgent high stakes challenges in which the outcomes can vary widely and are very negative at one end of the spectrum and will depend on the actions taken by those involved Successfully engaging dealing with and working through a crisis requires an understanding of options and tools for individual and joint decision making Our Encyclopedia of Crisis Management comprehensively overviews concepts and techniques for effectively assessing analyzing managing and resolving crises whether they be organizational business community or political From general theories and concepts exploring the meaning and causes of crisis to practical strategies and techniques relevant to crises of specific types crisis management is thoroughly explored Features the electronic version of this allows students to explore customized response plans for crises of various sorts Appendices also include a Resource Guide to classic books journals and internet resources in the field a Glossary and a vetted list of crisis management related degree programs crisis management conferences etc

Making Hard Choices in Journalism Ethics David E. Boeyink, Sandra L. Borden, 2010-04-05 This book teaches students how to make the difficult ethical decisions that journalists routinely face By taking a case based approach the authors argue that the best way to make an ethical decision is to look closely at a particular situation rather than looking first to an abstract set of ethical theories or principles This book goes beyond the traditional approaches of many other journalism textbooks by using cases as the starting point for building ethical practices Casuistry the technical name of such a method develops provisional guidelines from the bottom up by reasoning analogically from an easy ethical case the paradigm to harder ethical cases Thoroughly grounded in actual experience this method admits more nuanced judgments than most theoretical approaches Human Dimensions of Wildlife Management Daniel J. Decker, Shawn J. Riley, William F.

Siemer, 2012-10-15 Updated and revised this classic work is a must read for every student of wildlife management and every professional seeking to become a better manager Wildlife professionals can more effectively manage species and social ecological systems by fully considering the role that humans play in every stage of the process Human Dimensions of Wildlife Management provides the essential information that students and practitioners need to be effective problem solvers Edited by three leading experts in wildlife management this textbook explores the interface of humans with wildlife and their sometimes complementary often conflicting interests The book's well researched chapters address conservation wildlife use hunting and fishing and the psychological and philosophical underpinnings of wildlife management Human Dimensions of Wildlife Management explains how a wildlife professional should handle a variety of situations such as managing deer populations in residential areas or encounters between predators and people or pets This thoroughly revised and updated edition includes detailed information about systems thinking working with social scientists managing citizen input using economics to inform decision making preparing questionnaires ethical considerations Handbook of Group Decision and Negotiation D. Carbon dioxide removal: Perspectives from the social sciences and humanities Anders Hansson, Mathias Fridahl, Miranda Boettcher, Shinichiro Asayama, 2024-07-09 Carbon dioxide removal CDR approaches are becoming increasingly central to visions of decarbonizing national economies The past few years have seen an increasing number of countries committed to net zero targets preceded by a surge of modelled 1.5°C scenarios envisioning large scale future CDR deployment The prospect of CDR deployment raises new complex socio ecological challenges and presents new deep uncertainties These complexities challenges and uncertainties cannot be investigated using solely the techno economic modelling and environmental risk assessment methods that currently dominate the construction of policy relevant knowledge on CDR Social sciences and the humanities perspectives on CDR are often restricted to instrumental tasks such as investigating public acceptance overcoming social resistance or supporting the development of integrated assessment models There is a need for more diverse investigations of CDR which include not only environmental and techno economic dimensions but also explore key societal complexities challenges and uncertainties Against this backdrop we call for submissions on CDR stemming from perspectives within the social sciences and humanities We encourage novel empirical and theoretical contributions on CDR related policy design or analyses of recent policy developments at sub national national and international levels of governance e g in context of climate targets and strategies climate tipping points mitigation deterrence or societal transformations
