German books in print ,2002 Women Who Changed the World Candice Goucher, 2022-01-24 This indispensable reference work provides readers with the tools to reimagine world history through the lens of women s lived experiences Learning how women changed the world will change the ways the world looks at the past Women Who Changed the World Their Lives Challenges and Accomplishments through History features 200 biographies of notable women and offers readers an opportunity to explore the global past from a gendered perspective. The women featured in this four volume set cover the full sweep of history from our ancestral forbearer Lucy to today s tennis phenoms Venus and Serena Williams Every walk of life is represented in these pages from powerful monarchs and politicians to talented artists and writers from inquisitive scientists to outspoken activists Each biography follows a standardized format recounting the woman s life and accomplishments discussing the challenges she faced within her particular time and place in history and exploring the lasting legacy she left A chronological listing of biographies makes it easy for readers to zero in on particular time periods while a further reading list at the end of each essay serves as a gateway to further exploration and study High interest sidebars accompany many of the biographies offering more nuanced glimpses into the lives of these fascinating women Perspectives on John Updike Laurence W. Mazzeno, Sue Norton, 2018 From his first book publication in 1958 the American writer John Updike attracted an international readership His books have been translated into twenty three languages and he has always had a strong following in the United Kingdom and in Europe Although Updike died in 2009 interest in his work remains strong among European scholars No recent volume however collects diverse European views on Updike's oeuvre The current book fills that void presenting essays that perceive Updike's renditions of America through the eyes of scholar readers from both Western and Eastern Europe back cover The Tempo of Modernity Gabriel R. Ricci, 2017-09-08 The present work is a study in the history of an enduring idea that defines the inner life of the mind and also supplied a substratum for the twentieth century literary imagination and substance for philosophical thinking producing a unique alliance between philosophy and literature This special union was forged by a new holistic conception of time which supplemented and even supplanted the conventional sense of chronological time. This temporal turn animated the existential insights of Husserl Heidegger and Bergson but it was grounded in nineteenth century advances in the biological sciences the hegemony of Hegelianism and even stretched back to Augustine's early meditation on time in Book XI of his Confessions In linking together a set of thinkers who addressed this form of temporal consciousness Gabriel R Ricci illuminates a common intellectual preoccupation from the vantage point of a concept The authors do not together assemble the thought it is the thought that produced a collective voice This voice appears in the episodes outlined in each chapter and they are framed by an introduction which explores Joseph Frank's insights into the new spatial forms in literature and an epilogue which resurrects J W Dunne's peculiar dream experiments and theory of precognition Ricci employs Frank's seminal essay to draw comparisons between literature s adaptation of the new time sense and philosophy s expression of the new compatibility between space and time Dunne's theory serves to demonstrate the continuity between literary form and philosophical Women, Subalterns, and Ecologies in South and Southeast Asian Women's Fiction Chitra Sankaran, 2021-11-01 In recent decades East Asia has gained prominence and has become synonymous with Asia while other Asian regions such as South and Southeast Asia have been subsumed under it The resultant overgeneralization has meant that significant aspects of the global ecological crisis as they affect these two regions have been overlooked Chitra Sankaran refocuses the global lens on these two rapidly developing regions of Asia Combining South Asian and Southeast Asian philosophical views and folk perspectives with mainstream ecocritical and ecofeminist theories she generates a localized critical idiom that qualifies and subverts some established theoretical assumptions This pioneering study introducing a corpus of more than thirty ecofictions by women writers from twelve countries in South and Southeast Asia examines how recent global threats to ecosystems in both nature and culture impact subdominant groups including women This new corpus reveals how women and subalterns engage with various aspects of critical ecologies Using ecofeminist theory augmented by postcolonial and risk theories as the main theoretical framework Sankaran argues that these women writers present unique perspectives that review Asian women's relationships to human and nonhuman worlds The Collectors of Lost Souls Warwick Anderson, 2019-08-27 This riveting account of medical detective work traces the story of kuru a fatal brain disease and the pioneering scientists who spent decades searching for its cause and cure Winner William H Welch Medal American Association for the History of Medicine Winner Ludwik Fleck Prize Society for Social Studies of Science Winner General History Award New South Wales Premier's History Awards When whites first encountered the Fore people in the isolated highlands of colonial New Guinea during the 1940s and 1950s they found a people in the grip of a bizarre epidemic Women and children succumbed to muscle weakness uncontrollable tremors and lack of coordination until death inevitably supervened Facing extinction the Fore attributed their unique and terrifying affliction to a particularly malign form of sorcery In The Collectors of Lost Souls Warwick Anderson tells the story of the resilience of the Fore through this devastating plague their transformation into modern people and their compelling attraction for a throng of eccentric and adventurous scientists and anthropologists Battling competing scientists and the colonial authorities the brilliant and troubled American doctor D Carleton Gajdusek determined that the cause of the epidemic kuru was a new and mysterious agent of infection which he called a slow virus now called a prion Anthropologists and epidemiologists soon realized that the Fore practice of eating their loved ones after death had spread the slow virus Though the Fore were never convinced Gajdusek received the Nobel Prize for his discovery Now revised and updated the book includes an extensive new afterword that situates its impact within the fields of science and technology studies and the history of science Additionally the author now reflects on his long engagement with the scientists and the people afflicted describing what has happened to them since the end of kuru This

The history of these short stories also documents the circulation of compositions across dozens of literary collections for nearly a century Anthology editors solidified the significance of a core group of short story authors including James Baldwin Toni Cade Bambara Charles Chesnutt Ralph Ellison Zora Neale Hurston and Richard Wright Using quantitative information and an extensive literary dataset The Geographies of African American Short Fiction explores how editorial practices shaped the canon of African American short Labor Pains Christin Marie Taylor, 2019-04-24 From the 1930s to the 1960s the Popular Front produced a fiction significant era in African American literary radicalism While scholars have long associated the black radicalism of the Popular Front with the literary Left and the working class Christin Marie Taylor considers how black radicalism influenced southern fiction about black workers offering a new view of work and labor At the height of the New Deal era and its legacies Taylor examines how southern literature of the Popular Front not only addressed the familiar stakes of race and labor but also called upon an imagined black folk to explore questions of feeling and desire By poring over tropes of black workers across genres of southern literature in the works of George Wylie Henderson William Attaway Eudora Welty and Sarah Elizabeth Wright Taylor reveals the broad reach of black radicalism into experiments with portraying human feelings These writers grounded interrelationships and stoked emotions to present the social issues of their times in deeply human terms Taylor emphasizes the multidimensional use of the sensual and the sexual which many protest writers of the period such as Richard Wright avoided She suggests Henderson and company used feeling to touch readers while also questioning and reimagining the political contexts and apparent victories of their times Taylor shows how these fictions adopted the aesthetics and politics of feeling as a response to New Deal era policy reforms both in their successes and their failures In effect these writers some who are not considered a part of an African American protest tradition illuminated an alternative form of protest through poignant paradigms bone Yrsa Daley-Ward, 2017-09-26 Honest unflinching and unforgettable one of Britain's best writers Stormzy You will come away bruised You will come away bruised but this will give you poetry Raw and stark the poems in Yrsa Daley Ward's breakthrough collection strip down her reflections on the heart life the inner self coming of age faith and loss to their essence They resonate to the core of experience Yrsa's work is like holding the truth in your hands A glorious living thing Florence Welch yrsa daley ward s bone is a symphony of breaking and mending an expert storyteller of the rarest and purest kind daley ward is uncannily attentive and in tune to the things beneath life beneath the skin beneath the weather of the everyday nayyirah waheed author of salt and nejma
