Management Of Insect Pests Of Horticultural Crops:

Management of Insect Pests of Horticultural Crops Shivaji Patil, 2015-03 Pest damage can range from leaf damage that has no effect on the value of the fruit to severe damage that kills plants significantly reduces crop yield or reduces the crop's market value. Pests may also cause contamination of fruit at harvest reducing its marketability. Fruit pests include insects and mites, pathogens, nematodes, weeds, and vertebrates. Effective pest management is based on thorough consideration of ecological and economic factors. The pest, its biology, and the type of damage it causes are some of the factors that determine which control strategies and methods, if any, should be used. Pest management decisions largely determine the kind and amount of pesticides used. Pest management decisions represent a compromise between the value of the product, the extent of the pest damage, the relative effectiveness, and cost of the control measures, and the impact on the environment. Pesticide application refers to the practical way in which pesticides, including herbicides, fungicides, insecticides, or nematode control agents, are delivered to their biological targets, e.g., pest organism, crop, or other plant. Public concern about the use of pesticides has highlighted the need to make this process as efficient as possible in order to minimize their release into the environment and human exposure.

Management of Insect Pests of Horticultural Crops H. C. L. Gupta, O. P. Ameta, 2005 Pest Management and Residue Analysis in Horticultural Crops Rachna Gulati, Beena Kumari, 2013-01-15 The book is intended to provide a clear overview on the management of pests and diseases of horticulture crops, associated soil and beneficial fauna, residue status of pesticides, and their estimation techniques. It is divided into four parts. Part I explains the practices followed in the pest management of horticulture crops, which include pest status of insects, mites, rodents, and diseases in fruits, vegetables, ornamentals, spices, and mushrooms, and their management. Different aspects of biological, cultural, and mechanical controls are also highlighted. Harmful and beneficial soil fauna associated with horticulture crops are dealt in Part II. Keeping in view the potential of beneficial organisms, the effects of pesticides on predators, parasites, and pollinators have also been discussed in this section. The recent scientific developments related to residue status in vegetables, fruits, and spices are provided in Part III. Part IV includes the residue estimation techniques of various pesticides.

Identification and Management of Horticultural Pests A. M. Ranjith, 2013-01-15 This book has been written primarily due to my own felt need to have a comprehensive text book on the pests of horticultural crops and methods to manage it in the integrated way. Due to the widespread use of digital color photography and the good resolution that you get in even the basic level digital cameras, it is possible to get good photos. It was thus more of a need to have a text book to teach the UG and PG students that this book was written. It was also necessary that any practicing field level worker like officers of the state department of Agriculture and commodity boards and every practicing farmer with an ability to read English text book should be guided into the basic facts about the pests of crops. It is most likely that most of the information is available in this book itself as pest of some other crop. It will then be possible to read on the pest in that chapter and manage the pest.

Management of Horticultural Crops is thoroughly written as a text for undergraduate level courses in insect pest management. In part one of the book there are 11 chapters which present precise and reasonable comprehensive review of concepts and components of Integrated Pest Management thus making the text an excellent coverage of the tactics and strategies used in integrated pest management IPM. The Part Two contains 20 chapters that deal with IPM of major economic horticultural crops in India each presenting applicable summaries of identification nature of damage symptoms and updated IPM measures. Colour pictures, tables and illustrations are helpful supplements to the written text. The book culminates in Part three dedicated to students as it includes the Objective Entomology Questions with key towards preparation for Competitive examinations viz ICAR JRF SRF NET ARS SAU exams in India.

Integrated Pest Management of Tropical Vegetable Crops Rangaswamy Muniappan, E. A. Heinrichs, 2016-11-23. It is an edited book with chapters written by multi-disciplinary specialists in their specific subject areas. It covers development of IPM components and packaging them for individual vegetable crops specifically targeted to tropical countries. Scientific background for IPM components or tactics will be included. There will be case studies of IPM packages developed and implemented in different countries. The concept of IPM has been in existence for the past six decades; however, a practical holistic program has not been developed and implemented for vegetable crops in the developing countries. Currently, the IPM adoption rate in the tropics is minimal and there is a need for implementation of IPM technologies that are environmentally safe, economical and socially acceptable. We believe that adoption and implementation of IPM provided in this book will lead to significant reduction in crop losses and mitigate adverse impacts of pesticide use in the tropics. This book is an outcome of 20 years of research, development and implementation of the IPM CRSP, a project supported by USAID and administered by Virginia Tech in several developing countries along the tropical belt in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean.
