Climate Change and Anthropos Linda Connor, 2016-02-05 Anthropos in the sense of species as well as cultures and ethics locates humans as part of much larger orders of existence fundamental when thinking about climate change This book offers a new way of exploring the significance of locality and lives in the epoch of the Anthropocene a time when humans confront the limits of our control over nature Many scholars now write about the ethics policies and politics of climate change focussing on global processes and effects The book s innovative approach to cross cultural comparison and a regionally based study explores people s experiences of environmental change and the meaning of climate change for diverse human worlds in a changing biosphere The main study site is the Hunter Valley in southeast Australia an ecological region defined by the Hunter River catchment a dwelling place for many generations of people and a key location for transnational corporations focussed on the mining burning and export of black coal Abundant fossil fuel reserves tie Hunter people and places to the Asia Pacific the engine room of global economic growth in the twenty first century and the largest user of the planet s natural resources The book analyses the nexus of place and perceptions political economy and social organisation in situations where environmental changes are radically transforming collective worlds Based on an anthropological approach informed by other ways of thinking about environment people relationships this book analyses the social and cultural dimensions of climate change holistically Each chapter links the large scales of species and planet with small places commodity chains local actions myths and values as well as the mingled strands of dystopian imaginings and strivings for recuperative renewal in an era of transition

Teaching Big History Richard B. Simon, Mojgan Behmand, Thomas Burke, 2015 Big History is a new field on a grand scale it tells the story of the universe over time through a diverse range of disciplines that spans cosmology physics chemistry astronomy geology evolutionary biology anthropology and archaeology thereby reconciling traditional human history with environmental geography and natural history Weaving the myriad threads of evidence based human knowledge into a master narrative that stretches from the beginning of the universe to the present the Big History framework helps students make sense of their studies in all disciplines by illuminating the structures that underlie the universe and the connections among them Teaching Big History is a powerful analytic and pedagogical resource and serves as a comprehensive guide for teaching Big History as well for sharing ideas about the subject and planning a curriculum around it Readers are also given helpful advice about the administrative and organizational challenges of instituting a general education program constructed around Big History The book includes teaching materials examples and detailed sample exercises This book is also an engaging first hand account of how a group of professors built an entire Big History general education curriculum for first year students demonstrating how this thoughtful integration of disciplines exemplifies liberal education at its best and illustrating how teaching and learning this incredible story can be transformative for professors and students alike

Introducing Archaeology, Second Edition Robert J. Muckle, 2014-07-25 Introducing Archaeology offers a lively alternative to many other texts While covering traditional elements of archaeology including methods and prehistory the book also integrates the key principles of curriculum reform for the twenty first century as outlined by the Society for American Archaeology The second edition highlights recent developments in the field and includes a new chapter on archaeology beyond mainstream academia It also integrates more examples from popular culture including mummies tattoos pirates and global warming What results is a surprisingly fresh and contemporary take on archaeology one that situates the discipline within but also beyond the academy Introducing Archaeology is accompanied by a free website with chapter by chapter resources for students including study questions Visit www.introducingarchaeology.com Instructor ancillaries for Introducing Archaeology include an instructor's manual PowerPoint slides and a testbank

Understanding Collapse Guy D. Middleton, 2017-06-26 Understanding Collapse explores the collapse of ancient civilisations such as the Roman Empire the Maya and Easter Island In this lively survey Guy D Middleton critically examines our ideas about collapse how we explain it and how we have constructed potentially misleading myths around collapses showing how and why collapse of societies was a much more complex phenomenon than is often admitted Rather than positing a single explanatory model of collapse economic social or environmental Middleton gives full consideration to the overlooked resilience in communities of ancient peoples and the choices that they made He offers a fresh interpretation of collapse that will be accessible to both students and scholars The book is an engaging introductory level survey of collapse in the archaeology history literature which will be ideal for use in courses on the collapse of civilizations sustainability and climate change It includes up to date case studies of famous and less well known examples of collapses and is illustrated with 25 black and white illustrations 3 line drawings 16 tables and 18 maps

First Migrants Peter Bellwood, 2014-01-13 The first publication to outline the complex global story of human migration and dispersal throughout the whole of human prehistory Utilizing archaeological linguistic and biological evidence Peter Bellwood traces the journeys of the earliest hunter gatherer and agriculturalist migrants as critical elements in the evolution of human lifeways The first volume to chart global human migration and population dispersal throughout the whole of human prehistory in all regions of the world An archaeological odyssey that details the initial spread of early humans out of Africa approximately two million years ago through the Ice Ages and down to the continental and island migrations of agricultural populations within the past 10 000 years Employs archaeological linguistic and biological evidence to demonstrate how migration has always been a vital and complex element in explaining the evolution of the human species Outlines how significant migrations have affected population diversity in every region of the world Clarifies the importance of the development of agriculture as a migratory imperative in later prehistory Fully referenced with detailed maps throughout

The Aulos in Classical and Late Antiquity. Acculturation, Diffusion, and Syncretism in Socio-Musical Processes of the Mediterranean Juan Sebastián Correa Cáceres, 2023-06-30 The aulos an extinct musical instrument consisting of a cylindrical bore pipe with finger holes and a double reed for a mouthpiece was a very popular wind instrument during antiquity c 1000 BC AD 600 Through a comprehensive analysis of written archaeological and iconographic sources this book presents a holistic view of this musical instrument its past and its consequential history This study is further substantiated by ethnographic data from Sardinia and Egypt where the launeddas and the arghul were explored respectively A new understanding of the history of the aulos is presented through the establishment of parallels between past and contemporary music related practices

Reading Contemporary India MK Raghavendra, 2025-02-11 The book is the first ever attempt to examine various sociocultural aspects of contemporary India ranging from caste and hierarchy and the religious or political conflict resulting from it to literary practice and intellectual life in the public space and making interdisciplinary associations It does this by going back to various aspects of India s past stretching back several millennia to those owing to public policy after independence Many of the issues today such as those named above can be traced to racial mixing through centuries which has created a multitude of conflicts that need solutions today The book is divided into separate chapters corresponding to the issues needing addressing and a brief note at the conclusion of each chapter makes connections with issues dealt in other chapters The book has an introduction tracing a significant portion of India s past and an afterword identifying crisis areas in the present

The Oxford Handbook of African Archaeology Peter Mitchell, Paul Lane, 2013-07-04 Africa has the longest and arguably the most diverse archaeological record of any of the continents It is where the human lineage first evolved and from where Homo sapiens spread across the rest of the world Later it witnessed novel experiments in food production and unique trajectories to urbanism and the organisation of large communities that were not always structured along strictly hierarchical lines Millennia of engagement with societies in other parts of the world confirm Africa's active participation in the construction of the modern world while the richness of its history ethnography and linguistics provide unusually powerful opportunities for constructing interdisciplinary narratives of Africa's past This Handbook provides a comprehensive and up to date synthesis of African archaeology covering the entirety of the continent's past from the beginnings of human evolution to the archaeological legacy of European colonialism As well as covering almost all periods and regions of the continent it includes a mixture of key methodological and theoretical issues and debates and situates the subject's contemporary practice within the discipline's history and the infrastructural challenges now facing its practitioners Bringing together essays on all these themes from over seventy contributors many of them living and working in Africa it offers a highly accessible contemporary account of the subject for use by scholars and students of not only archaeology but also history anthropology and other disciplines

Global Social Archaeologies Koji Mizoguchi, Claire E Smith, 2019-06-27 Global Social Archaeologies contributes to the active engagement of contemporary social archaeology through addressing issues such as postcolonialism community heritage and Indigenous rights It addresses the major challenge of breaking down global divides especially in relation to fundamental human rights inequality and inequities of wealth power and access to knowledge This authoritative volume authored by the current and past presidents of the World Archaeological Congress introduces readers to the various theoretical and methodological tools available for the investigation of the past Taking into account the implications for contemporary societies it offers a new framework for social archaeologies in a globalised world By combining new data from their research with an innovative synthesis and analysis of leading research by others the authors have developed fresh conceptualisations and understandings of archaeology as a social practice and of the ways in which it simultaneously straddles the past present and future Exploring a range of case studies and enhanced by a wealth of illustrations Global Social Archaeologies highlights a new approach to archaeology one that places human rights at the core of archaeological theory and practice

Teaching & Researching Big History: Exploring a New Scholarly Field Leonid Grinin, David Baker, Esther Quaedackers, Andrey Korotayev, 2014-06-30 According to the working definition of the International Big History Association Big History seeks to understand the integrated history of the Cosmos Earth Life and Humanity using the best available empirical evidence and scholarly methods In recent years Big History has been developing very fast indeed Big History courses are taught in the schools and universities of several dozen countries Hundreds of researchers are involved in studying and teaching Big History The unique approach of Big History the interdisciplinary genre of history that deals with the grand narrative of 13.8 billion years has opened up a vast amount of research agendas Big History brings together constantly updated information from the scientific disciplines and merges it with the contemplative realms of philosophy and the humanities It also provides a connection between the past present and future Big History is a colossal and extremely heterogeneous field of research encompassing all the forms of existence and all timescales Unsurprisingly Big History may be presented in very different aspects and facets In this volume

the Big History is presented and discussed in three different ways In its first part Big History is explored in terms of methodology theories of knowledge as well as showcasing the personal approach of scholars to Big History The second section comprises such articles that could clarify Big History s main trends and laws The third part of this book explores the nature of teaching Big History as well as profiling a number of educational methods This volume will be useful both for those who study interdisciplinary macroproblems and for specialists working in focused directions as well as for those who are interested in evolutionary issues of Astrophysics Geology Biology History Anthropology Linguistics and other areas of study More than that this edition will challenge and excite your vision of your own life and the exciting new discoveries going on around us

Geomorphology of Desert Environments Anthony J. Parsons,A. D. Abrahams,2009-03-20 About one third of the Earth s land surface experiences a desert climate and this area supports approximately 15% of the planet s population This percentage continues to grow and with this growth comes the need to acquire and apply an understanding of desert geomorphology Such an understanding is vital in managing scarce and fragile resources and in mitigating natural hazards This authoritative reference book is comprehensive in its coverage of the geomorphology of desert environments and is arranged thematically It begins with an overview of global deserts proceeds through treatments of weathering hillslopes rivers piedmonts lake basins and aeolian surfaces and concludes with a discussion of the role of climatic change Written by a team of international authors all of whom are active in the field the chapters cover the spectrum of desert geomorphology
