Abstract

Justice is set in motion following the commission and report of an offence to the police targeting to initiation of crime investigation (CPC, 1961). Ethiopian laws do not locate when the investigation shall start. Though laws are silent, police officers may start inquiry at any time to set justice in motion in practice. After justice is set in motion through channels of crime reporting (CPC, 1961, Articles 11, 12 & 19), the question of frequency and duration of investigation is under quandary since it is treated by different legislations differently. The 1961 Ethiopian criminal procedure code was the first document which dealt with the frequency and duration of investigation for the first time in Ethiopian criminal justice history. The FDRE constitution is the other document which locates the concept of duration of investigation at higher level. The Ethiopian criminal policy document envisaged different frequency and duration of crime investigation to be provided by law depending on the complexity and nature of the offence (FDRE Criminal Justice Policy, 2011). After the coming forth of this policy document, different legislations are enacted. The vagrancy control proclamation, the anti-terrorism proclamation, the new draft criminal procedure and evidence law are among the laws. These laws have intricacy concerning constitutionality, consistency and merit. Thus, the writer investigated these issues and analyzed the legislations with regard to the objectives of criminal justice policy.

Prosecution of Politicide in Ethiopia Marshet Tadesse Tessema, 2018-09-26 This book investigates the road map or the transitional justice mechanisms that the Ethiopian government chose to confront the gross human rights violations perpetrated under the 17 years rule of the Derg the dictatorial regime that controlled state power from 1974 to 1991 Furthermore the author extensively examines the prosecution of politicide or genocide against political groups in Ethiopia Dealing with the violent conflict massacres repressions and other mass atrocities of the past is necessary not for its own sake but to clear the way for a new beginning In other words ignoring gross human rights violations and attempting to close the chapter on an oppressive dictatorial past by choosing to let bygones be bygones is no longer a viable option when starting on the road to a democratic future For unaddressed atrocities and a sense of injustice would not only continue to haunt a nation but could also ignite similar conflicts in the future So the question is what choices are available to the newly installed government when confronting the evils of the past There are a wide array of transitional mechanisms to choose from but there is no one size fits all mechanism Of all the transitional justice mechanisms namely truth commissions lustration amnesty prosecution and reparation the Ethiopian government chose prosecution as the main means for dealing with the horrendous crimes committed by the Derg regime One of the formidable challenges for transitioning states in dealing with the crimes of former regimes is an inadequate legal framework by which to criminalize and punish grave human rights violations With the aim of examining whether or not Ethiopia has confronted this challenge the book assesses Ethiopia's legal framework regarding both crimes under international law and individual criminal responsibility This book will be of great relevance to academics and practitioners in the areas of genocide studies international criminal law and transitional justice Students in the fields of international criminal law transitional justice and human rights will also find relevant information on the national prosecution of politicide in particular and the question of confronting the past in general Marshet Tadesse Tessema is Assistant Professor of the Law School College of Law and Governance at Jimma University in Ethiopia and Postdoctoral Fellow of the South African German Centre University of the Western Cape in South Africa

Digest of Ethiopia's National Policies, Strategies and Programs Taye Assefa, 2008 Having just emerged from a prolonged civil war and faced with the urgent tasks of establishing political stability and reinvigorating an economy in tatters the Transitional Government of Ethiopia 1991-1995 had to set a new direction for the economic reconstruction and social rehabilitation of the war-torn and poverty-ridden country During the Transitional Period a spate of new policies and strategies defining the development priorities goals and implementation instruments of the new regime led by the EPRDF was introduced This work is a synthesis of various sectoral policies and an attempt to trace the genesis of the policies highlight the continuities significant departures and other salient features Each of the reviews in this digest briefly analyses the critical elements of the policies identifies major gaps in the conceptualisation of the policy as well as the achievements registered and the challenges encountered in its implementation The authors also try to identify the outstanding issues to be addressed by policymakers and suggest remedies The policy reviews have been grouped into three parts and presented under social economic and governance sectors

Enforcement of Human Rights in Ethiopia Yohannes Eneyew Ayalew ,Wondemagegen Tadesse

Goshu,2023-05-25 Enforcement has not been the most practiced business in the field of human rights in Ethiopia The absence of effective enforcement can be attributed to various factors including the absence of a normative framework insufficient political commitment inadequate institutional capacity and resources and limited awareness Despite recent legal reform initiatives purportedly driven by human rights demands it remains uncertain whether enforcement has undergone any significant changes Effective enforcement of human rights necessitates the existence of robust multi layered institutions at the national sub regional regional and international levels However in Ethiopia concerns have been raised about the capability of numerous normative instruments and mechanisms of human rights This volume comprises a collection of papers presented at a hybrid conference held at the Hilton Hotel Addis in April 2022 The conference organized by the School of Law of Addis Ababa University in collaboration with Friedrich Ebert Stiftung Ethiopia centered around the theme Enforcement of Human Rights in Ethiopia Old and New Challenges Its primary objective was to identify and analyze both old and new challenges in human rights enforcement in Ethiopia and propose strategies to overcome them The editors of this volume intend for it to address scholarly gaps in the implementation and enforcement of human rights in Ethiopia Among the notable findings from the chapters included in this volume is a significant disparity between recently reformed laws passed by the parliament and their execution by the executive body This disconnect demonstrates a failure to prioritize and enforce human rights in the country As such the volume suggests that the Ethiopian government must take the business of human rights enforcement seriously

The International Criminal Court and Africa Charles Chernor Jalloh,Ilias Bantekas,2017-10-06 Africa has been at the forefront of contemporary global efforts towards ensuring greater accountability for international crimes But the continent s early embrace of international criminal justice seems to be taking a new turn with the recent resistance from some African states claiming that the emerging system of international criminal law represents a new form of imperialism masquerading as international rule of law This book analyses the relationship and tensions between the International Criminal Court ICC and Africa It traces the origins of the confrontation between African governments both acting individually and within the framework of the African Union and the permanent Hague based ICC Leading commentators offer valuable insights on the core legal and political issues that have confused the relationship between the two sides and expose the uneasy interaction between international law and international politics They offer suggestions on how best to continue the fight against impunity using national ICC and regional justice mechanisms while taking into
