Family Patterns Gender Relations:

Family Patterns, Gender Relations Bonnie Fox, 2001 This completely updated second edition offers articles that together develop a systematic understanding of family. It focuses not only on the dynamics of childcare, sexuality and daily cohabitation but also on the way that these patterns are shaped by the larger social culture. While some of the readings examine cross cultural and historical variations in family patterns highlighting the social organization of things that otherwise seem natural, the bulk of articles focus on the social relations of sexuality and intimacy, reproduction, parenting and living together. Because these relations are typically gender relations, a concern with gender inequality is constant throughout the book. Compelling and insightful, this timely work synthesizes a broad range of approaches for all those interested in sociology of the family or women's studies.

Indeed, modernisation in East Asia has brought about increases in women's education levels and participation in the labour force, a delay in marriage age, lower birth rates and smaller family size. And yet despite the process of modernization, traditional systems such as Confucianism and patriarchal rules continue to shape gender politics and family relationships in East Asia. This book examines gender politics and family culture in East Asia in light of both the overwhelming changes that modernization and globalization have brought to the region and the structural restrictions that women in East Asian societies continue to face in their daily lives. Across three sections, the contributors to this volume focus on marriage and motherhood, religion and family and migration. In doing so, they reveal how actions and decisions implemented by the state trigger changes in gender and family at the local level the impact of increasing internal and transnational migration on East Asian culture and how religion interweaves with the state in shaping gender dynamics and daily life within the family With case studies from across the region including South Korea Japan mainland China Taiwan and Hong Kong this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Asian studies gender studies anthropology sociology and social policy

Representing the Contemporary North American Family

Sophie Chapuis, Marie Moreau, 2021-08-06 The rise in individualism and the growing liberalism of family law may be seen as potential threats to the family as a unit Currently defenders of traditional family models are being forced to accept a more fluid definition of family as an intrinsic heterogeneous unit Central to this book is the idea that the family as a social unit around which society is structured still plays a pivotal role in North America States courts and political parties have had to address the major mutations of the family landscape in the last decades The family is instrumental in reorganizing communities in migration contexts and is a key component of political strategies The way family is staged in the press on social media and in TV shows reflects the fast changing patterns and new realities of North American families and offers alternatives to hegemonic representations of normative families It also ranks high among current literary obsessions since it is the privileged receptacle for contemporary anxieties and operates both as an ideal retreat or an alienating space The proliferation of family narratives in their ever shifting forms reveals that family has boundless potential for fiction and continues to run deep in the North American imaginary This book gathers together approaches that range from field study sociology politics media studies and literature The contributions here show the centrality of the family both as an individual unit and as social political legal and fictional constructs

Women Elena Garcés,2008-08-15 From her personal diary as an eleven year old in a Catholic girl s school in which she chastises herself for the sin of wearing a bathing suit through erudite analysis of the patriarchal structures on which most world communities stand Elena Garcés examines culture history economics law and religion as they apply to her native Colombia In so doing she promotes ideas which demolish the forced enclosure of women in that society Eighteen Colombian women selected at random from many regions and ethnicities and from up and down the socioeconomic ladder tell life stories almost universally tragic regardless of the wealth education age or status derived from positions held by their husbands Their experiences in particular the ways in which family and institutions are used against them illustrate the feminist theories around which Garcés shapes her arguments This book will be ideal for undergraduate students of Women s Studies Latin American Studies Religion and Sociology It will also appeal to scholars interested in the welfare and development of women Studies of Childhoods in the Global South Afua Twum-Danso Imoh,Lucia Rabello de Castro,Orna

Naftali,2024-10-18 What would a body of literature focusing on Southern childhoods look like when epistemologically driven by the demands social cultural economic political of the localities in which they are shaped and produced To answer this question this book explores locally driven perspectives of childhoods in diverse contexts in the Global South to produce knowledge of Southern childhoods determined not by Northern priorities and frameworks but by local needs and contexts Given the intensification of global processes and the extent to which the local and the global intersect in the everyday lives of children and their families this edited volume demonstrates that a focus on the epistemological demands of localities necessarily grapples with global as well as local processes and concepts Chapters in this collection include empirical research on child participation and activism schooling educational experiences child work and street children They use methodologies ranging from arts based methods to participant observation and engage with theories relating to child participation agency and vulnerability to produce a key resource on Southern childhoods The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Third World Thematics Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Japan Hiroko

A Critical Reader in Central Asian Studies Rico Isaacs, 2022-06-01

Central Asian Survey has remained as the premier world leading peer reviewed journal for Central Asian studies for four decades. To mark the 40th anniversary of the journal, this volume is intended to be a reader of selected essays from the journal over the last four decades. This book is not just a mere collection but also a critical reflection on the field over that time. Each of the nine sections in the book features a critical appraisal of the selected excerpts by young scholars who analyse the reproduced excerpts and the contribution they make to advancing our understanding of the field. The nine sections encapsulate prominent themes in Central Asian studies: history, identity, and nationalism; Islam, governing, and the state; informal institutions; contentious politics; gender; everyday life; and regional and global perspectives. The book is not just intended to reflect on the role of Central Asian Survey in the development of Central Asian studies but also the aim is for the volume to be used as a teaching resource where the different sections in the collection could correlate to specific teaching weeks in courses on the region. The different contributions cover many case studies from across a range of countries that have featured in the journal over the years and thus is not just restricted to the Central Asian republics but also includes Mongolia, Azerbaijan, and Xinjiang. This book will serve as a great resource for researchers and students of Central Asian history, politics, culture, society, and international relations.
