Entrepreneurial Learning David Rae,Catherine L. Wang,2015-01-09 This book explores the development of the rapidly evolving field of entrepreneurial learning by bringing together contributions from an international team of researchers who offer new understanding of its emerging development and its potential scope for the future Using the three domains of theory education and learning in practice this book offers differing and complementary perspectives on entrepreneurial learning Conceptual work which reviews and summarises prior work in the field and advances theoretical understanding of entrepreneurial learning research enabling a review of the development of research in this area over time Applied work around entrepreneurship education which develops understanding of teaching and learning practices in educational and institutional contexts Exploration of learning in real business contexts including new venture creation family business and small business development and intrapreneurial learning in larger organisations Using global perspectives originating from the different cultural contexts of the USA UK Nordic and Chinese perspectives the chapters converge to address issues questions and opportunities for the future development of entrepreneurial learning This book will be of interest to educators and researchers in the areas of entrepreneurship enterprise education and entrepreneurial development as well as policy makers and business advice and support agencies Exploring Entrepreneurial Intentions, Innovation, and Performance in Small and Medium-Sized Enterprises Anna Ujwary-Gil, Entrepreneurial experience and venture success A comprehensive meta analysis of performance determinants Abstract PURPOSE In both theory and practice the entrepreneur s prior experience is considered to be one of the most important human capital factors affecting venture performance Nonetheless the research on the effect of experience on venture performance has produced inconclusive findings The literature explaining this inconclusiveness is sparse but several determinants have been identified such as the variability in the conceptualization and measurement of experience and performance age of the investigated ventures types of industry or size and composition of venture management The inconsistency of these features across primary studies makes it difficult to compare the results and to integrate findings METHODOLOGY This meta analysis reviews and summarizes 80 primary studies in order to investigate the relationship between entrepreneur s experience and venture performance We investigated the effect of five determinants of this relationship namely the type of experience type of performance venture age size of managerial team and composition of managerial team A random effect model was applied and the correlation coefficient was used as an indicator of effect size FINDINGS The study found that experience positively affected venture performance although the magnitude of the effect was rather small Venture performance showed to have the strongest significant relationship with start up experience followed by industrial working and managerial experience International functional and entrepreneurial experience had a non significant effect on venture performance Moreover the effect of experience on venture performance was not significant for older ventures Experience significantly affected two types of venture performance namely the size of venture and profitability while the effect on growth was non significant Finally of all the types of venture management the experience of owner inclusive entrepreneurial teams had the greatest effect on venture performance

IMPLICATIONS

Investor practitioners may find it helpful to assess entrepreneurs experience within a broader context taking account of the types of experience the entrepreneur possesses Entrepreneurs international functional and entrepreneurial experience should be considered very carefully as they had a non significant effect on venture performance In contrast having experience of founding a venture or of a particular industry seems to provide more value than experience of doing business internationally or being in business for many years Another important aspect that investors and venture capitalists should take into account is the size and composition of the entrepreneurial team and the extent to which the venture proposal reflects the different types of experience the team members possess

ORIGINALITY AND VALUE

The study contributes to the human capital literature by firstly attempting to examine systematically the overall magnitude of the relationship between entrepreneur s experience and venture performance It also contributes by investigating the determinants of the relationship between experience and venture performance It summarizes and combines previous inconclusive findings about the impact of different types of experience on different venture performance outcomes

Unveiling the mediating roles of innovation capability and international networking accessibility in the brass industry

Abstract

PURPOSE

This paper answered the research gap on entrepreneurial orientation with a sample of small and medium sized enterprises SMEs export performance and the mediating role of innovation capability and international networking accessibility that has not been tested in previous research This study also tested the effect of entrepreneurial orientation on SMEs export performance in the global market The mediating role of international networking accessibility and innovation capability on SMEs export performance also became another focus of this study

METHODOLOGY

This paper implemented a quantitative approach with 282 owners or managers of the SMEs brass industry cluster in Boyolali Indonesia who were examined using purposive sampling

FINDINGS

The findings of this study revealed that entrepreneurial orientation did not significantly affect SMEs export performance but did significantly affect innovation capability and international networking accessibility Another empirical test found that innovation capability had significantly affected SMEs export performance and the international networking accessibility International networking accessibility also significantly affected the performance of export SMEs This study also found an important mediating role of international network accessibility and innovation capability in the relationship between entrepreneurial orientation and SMEs export performance

IMPLICATIONS This study contributes to research investigating the effect of entrepreneurial orientation on performance by conducting in depth studies on innovation capabilities and international networking accessibility Many studies have tested the mediating role of innovation capability and international networking accessibility The practical implication of this study is that it can help managers or owners of SMEs better understand and find optimal solutions through enhancing innovation capability and international networking accessibility which can be instilled in the characteristics of SME owners or managers to improve performance

ORIGINALITY AND VALUE The results of this study indicate the mediating role of innovation capability and accessibility of international networking on SMEs export performance Therefore the main contribution of the study is to determine the mediating role of innovation capability and international network accessibility in the relationship between entrepreneurial orientation and performance by integrating the theoretical perspective of the resource based view RBV

Keywords entrepreneurial orientation SME export performance innovation capability international networking accessibility brass industry Indonesia resource based view RBV Relationship between knowledge transfer and sustainable innovation in interorganizational environments of small and medium sized enterprises

PURPOSE The trends promoted for the strengthening of capacities that allow the interaction and valuation of knowledge as an intangible asset deserve a management based on its transfer as a basis that drives innovation Based on this the purpose of the study is to examine the relationships between knowledge transfer KT and sustainable innovation SI in interorganizational contexts of small and medium sized companies

METHODOLOGY A process was carried out through the application of a questionnaire addressed to managers and owners of 109 small and medium sized companies of activity in management and the development of information and communication technologies in two regions of Colombia To show the significant differences between the two selected populations a non parametric Mann Whitney test for independent samples was applied Likewise an application of the K means algorithm was used to group the variables into subsets The study of the data was complemented with the multivariate technique and the principal components analysis PCA to validate the contrasting of the declared hypotheses

FINDINGS The results determine that by means of the Mann Whitney non parametric test for independent samples there are significant differences between the two selected populations Likewise the positive correlation between the variables of knowledge transfer and innovation is confirmed as well as designing the interactions and the flow of processes between the components that support the aforementioned variables from the theoretical and empirical approach whose interaction capacity between them has to promote the innovative potential under sustainability principles in small and medium sized enterprises

IMPLICATIONS Based on the results of the research carried out scenarios are promoted through which it is sought to strengthen the interorganizational management of small and medium sized enterprises minimizing the barriers that weaken their stability As well as promoting new ways of valuing knowledge as an intangible asset that when transferred generates effects in innovation management as part of the strengthening and interorganizational sustainability of small and medium sized enterprises ORIGINALITY AND VALUE It is based on the generation of value through the proposal of a design of a system of relations between the components that promote the transfer of knowledge and sustainable innovation Its structure is based on empirical results that allowed defining five strategic stages that show the relationships between the components that promote interorganizational and competitive management of tangible and intangible assets available in small and medium sized enterprises Keywords knowledge transfer sustainable innovation interorganizational environments knowledge management Small and Medium sized Enterprises SMEs intangible assets Colombia Comparative analysis of national innovation systems Implications for SMEs adoption of fourth industrial revolution technologies in developing and developed countries Abstract PURPOSE This study aims to identify the differences and similarities in the innovation systems of developing vs developed countries that influence SMEs adoption of Fourth Industrial Revolution 4IR technologies There is a notable absence of comparative research between National Innovation Systems NIS of developing and developed countries Additionally the current scholarly conversation lacks a holistic view of NIS Our study aims to fill these gaps by employing Lundvall s framework to explore both developed and developing countries systems comprehensively METHODOLOGY The data was collected through a Systematic Literature Review identifying a total of 695 publications from SCOPUS Web of Science WoS and ProQuest The PRISMA process was adhered to resulting in 32 papers undergoing quality evaluation using Gough s weight of evidence guidelines Twenty nine primary papers were selected comprising twelve from developed countries another twelve from developing countries and the remainder from both categories Using Qualitative Meta synthesis QMS with ATLAS ti a systematic alignment of codes with research inquiries pertaining to NIS ensued revealing a multifaceted spectrum of findings across these scholarly investigations FINDINGS We found that there are similarities and differences between the innovation systems of developed and developing nations The similarities include the intra firm interactions taking place between managers and workers inter firm relations between the SMEs and Academia and other SMEs as well as the role of the government in providing funding and regulation albeit at significantly varying degrees The most significant differences observed were in the funding mechanisms the role of the government and the R D systems It was found that governments in developed countries provided SMEs with substantial incentives tax credits and subsidies to adopt 4IR technologies which appears to positively impact the adoption rate We conclude by developing a conceptual framework for the NIS necessary for the adoption of SMEs 4IR technologies in developing countries IMPLICATIONS This study contributes to the literature on innovation systems by examining the NIS of both developed and developing countries This analysis allows us to gain deeper insights into how specific aspects of each country developed or developing affect positively or negatively SMEs adoption of 4IR technologies Practically it informs governments in developing countries on which aspects to focus on in their NIS to increase the rate of the adoption of 4IR technologies by SMEs

ORIGINALITY AND VALUE A distinctive aspect of this study lies in the creation of a comprehensive conceptual model delineating the essential components of the innovation system pivotal for the successful integration of 4IR technologies within SMEs This model is designed to serve as a practical tool for governments in developing countries providing a structured framework to facilitate and enhance the strategic development of their innovation landscapes

Abstract PURPOSE This study aims to integrate insights from the Socio Cognitive Career Theory SCCT and entrepreneurship literature to develop a research framework of how perceived entrepreneurial opportunities PEO and perceived educational support PES shape the progression of entrepreneurial self efficacy ESE and entrepreneurial career interests ECI Additionally this study investigates whether ECI mediates the effects of PEO and PES on entrepreneurial intention EI and how PEO and PES moderate the effects of ESE and ECI on EI

METHODOLOGY A sample of 888 university students was recruited from Vietnam Cronbach s alpha and confirmatory factor analyses were adopted to test the reliability and validity of the scales Structural equation modeling SEM is then used to test formulated hypotheses

FINDINGS The current study demonstrates that ESE and ECI directly trigger EI Although PES and PEO did not directly impact EI their influence on EI was mediated through ESE and ECI In addition PEO was found to act as a positive catalyst for the transformation of ESE and ECI into EI The greater the entrepreneurial opportunities students perceive the more likely they are to convert ESE and ECI into intentions to become entrepreneurs

IMPLICATIONS This study makes a significant contribution by emphasizing the relevance of the SCCT framework in understanding entrepreneurship and brings to the forefront the role of PES and PEO in shaping the progression of ESE ECI and ultimately EI In addition the findings of this study provide practical implications for nascent entrepreneurs entrepreneurship educators and policymakers

ORIGINALITY AND VALUE This study is one of the first to investigate the role of PEO and PES in the development of Vietnamese students SES ECI and ultimately their intention to engage in entrepreneurship

Keywords entrepreneurial intention social cognitive career theory perceived educational support perceived entrepreneurial opportunities entrepreneurial self efficacy entrepreneurial career interests structural equation modeling SEM Entrepreneurial intentions of students from Latvia Poland and Ukraine The role of perceived entrepreneurial education results

Abstract Purpose Our main aim is to establish which factors influence entrepreneurial intentions with a particular focus on the role of entrepreneurial education and university support in Central and Eastern European countries CEE An additional aim is to determine the differences in these perceptions between students from seemingly similar but rather different CEE countries

Methodology We based our study mainly on two theory constructs namely the entrepreneurial support model ESM and entrepreneurial self efficacy ESE Both concepts often appear in research on entrepreneurial intentions but they are not used together Moreover we proposed a new education related factor perceived entrepreneurial education results PEER To verify hypotheses quantitative research was conducted using surveys among 2 085 first year undergraduate students from three technical universities in three countries Latvia Poland and Ukraine Findings The results of the study indicate that entrepreneurial self efficacy perceived entrepreneurial education results and perceived educational and relational support all influence the intention of students to launch a venture The research did not provide support for the hypothesis of an impact of perceived structural support PSS on intentions The impact of perceived educational and relational support appeared to be less important than the impact of ESE and PEER on intentions Additionally we identified that there are significant differences between students from the analysed countries Implications for theory and practice Our research has identified a new factor not previously used in studies of entrepreneurial intentions that is perceived entrepreneurial education results This new factor can be used in research as a complement to self efficacy and it refers to hard skills related in this particular case to entrepreneurship The results show the importance of the national context implying the need to take this into account when modelling support policies at a national level The findings can be used to remodel how this knowledge is delivered to young people Originality and value Firstly we proposed the inclusion of a new education related component called perceived entrepreneurial education results which can examine the perceived results of education at any level in our case at the secondary school level Secondly we showed the stronger influence of factors related to perceptions of one s own skills than perceptions of support from the environment In addition we demonstrated that making judgements or recommendations about entrepreneurial support for rather similar countries should be considered separately Furthermore we conceptualised the three aspects ESE PEER and ESM in a new way Finally we also proved that the role of individual factors varies from country to country even if the countries belong to the same cultural background and share a similar past experience
